103 WARRANTS ISSUED FOR MINE STRIKE LEADERS

Pits Closed, Most of Pickets Go Home.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The Peabody Coal company began its retaliation tonight upon leaders of the 10,000 striking miners who invaded this region yesterday and, by peaceful picketing, succeeded in stopping work at the four mines operated by the company.

Warrants charging 103 of the leaders with inciting riot were issued by Justices of the Peace Charles H. McMillin and L. J. Traylor. Sheriff Charles Wieneke has the papers for service but most of the strikers have left for their homes to prepare for a new invasion of the "black country," an expedition into Franklin county where the Orient mines, the largest in the world, are operating under the new $5 wage scale. The strikers want the old $6.10 scale put back into effect.

May Seek Indictments.

Sheriff Wieneke will make no attempt to serve the warrants immediately. More will be issued tomorrow and there were reports that the company would seek indictments against many of the strikers.

The latter faded away from Taylorville after two false starts tonight. Shortly before midnight only about 400 were found in a tour of the mine area. These are regarded as the nucleus of a strong rear guard which probably will remain until the Peabody mine whistles blow for work at dawn in order to see that the "missionary" work has been of a strong enough nature.

As expressed unofficially by some of the strike leaders, the feeling is that while all four unions here have signified their intentions of remaining "out," the actions of some of the Taylorville miners is such as to indicate they are not yet completely "sold" on the idea of refusing to work.

Name Bonus Army Leader.

Among those named in the warrants asked by the company was Dan McGill of Springfield, one of the high leaders in the fight against acceptance of the $5 scale. Another was "Capt." Dewitt C. Webb, commander of a segment of the bonus expeditionary forces now encamped at Springfield. Yesterday Webb made speeches at Kincaid, then the principal encompment of the strikers. N. C. McFadden of the Peabody company signed the warrant requests.

With the issuing of the warrants the sheriff called Gov. Emmerson's office for troops to aid in serving the writs, but rescinded the request shortly afterward when the picketeers began to leave.

Not a mine worked in this vicinity today. The Peabody company was ready to hoist coal from its four mines if labor was on hand, and a few members of one local union evidenced a desire to work, but their gesture was abortive, for pickets were successful in "persuading" them from entering the shaft.

3,500 Turn Back Workers.

Mine No. 58 at Taylorville was the scene of the largest picketing demonstration. At sunrise about 3,500 of the strikers left their rude camp at Kincaid, eight miles away, and drove to Taylorville and down the lane leading to the mine buildings. There they parked their machines and waited for the diggers to arrive. The few who came were dismayed by the size of the reception committee awaiting them and returned home. No violence occurred; none was necessary.

The strikers' next move probably will be into the heart of the Illinois mining country. Committees have been dispatched to Benton, Franklin county; Harrisburg, Saline county, and Marion, Williamson county, late today to survey the extent of mining going on in those centers.

Believe Men Will Work.

G. L. Vickory, personnel officer for the Peabody company, is confident that "if that mob leaves town now our miners will be back to work Monday."

"This county is tired of mob rule," the official added. "And if it doesn't cease our sheriff is going to act."

The strikers hooted this assertion and pointed to Taylorville delegations in the vast throng which filled Manners park for the massmeeting this afternoon. Two locals here met today and agreed to follow the action of the other two Peabody locals which decided yesterday that they would allow their men to become "individuals" released from union ties during the controversy. Because their charters issued to the locals by the

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Ten high spots, ten dazzling contrasts in an evening of splendors.

This is the spirit of music as it will be at Soldiers' field tonight.

It is the Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in cooperation with a score of other newspapers in the middle west.

There will probably be a good many more than ten. There always have been more in the past. The Chicagoland Music Festival is an evening packed with thrills. But out of the wealth of material offered on the festival program, the following list contains some of the most unusual features. They are not necessarily cited in the order of their appearance.

Petrillo to Direct Band.

1. James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, appearing as bandmaster for the first time in years, and directing a band of 300 players.

2. The thrill of joining into a community sing with more than 100,000 companions in your old favorite songs.

3. A mighty song battle between two great male choruses of Kiwanians and Lions. The test number will be the first two verses of Katherine Lee Bates' "America the Beautiful."

4. Negro spirituals sung by more than 1,000 voices and directed by five eminent Negro conductors.

5. A lovely Grecian dance pageant performed by 600 girls from the north, west, and south sides of Chicago.

6. A dramatic performance of Tschaikowsky's famous "1812" overture by the festival band of 100 under the direction of Victor Grabel, the music augmented by cannon, spectacular fireworks, and the great carillon of bells of the Century of Progress exposition.

7. Massed bands 2,000 strong playing Sousa marches under Mr. Grabel's direction.

Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust."

8. An army of men singers in the rollicking Soldiers' chorus from Gounod's opera, "Faust," accompanied by the festival band, directed by Noble Cain.

9. The Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah," sung by 5,000 voices, accompanied by the band, and directed by Mr. Cain.

10. First in time, though mentioned at the end here, the grand entry of participants to lead off the program, twenty-eight bands, thirty-three drum corps in a triumphal procession sweeping down the length of Soldiers' field from the entrance on the south end to the stand on the north.

Music and Pageantry.

Thus will pass an evening of massed music, of huge pageantry, of color, of light, of the drama of an enormous concourse. It may be that there will be other features on the program to rival in popularity the ten just listed. John Burdette, for example, is the Negro baritone who for two years has thrilled the audience into a volcano of enthusiasm with his performance of "Ol' Man River." He will be on the program again.

There will also be the three prize winning choruses, men's, women's, and mixed, likewise the two prize winning bands, adult and juvenile, and the prize winning soloist. Furthermore, Mr. Grabel and the festival band will present a new composition for the first time on any stage.

Story of a Newspaper.

It is a work which in advance would seem to have a close alliance with the newspaper world. Its name is "Headlines" and it is the composition of Carleton Colby, with band arrangement by Fred K. Huffer. It tells in

SHOT TO DEATH AS HE BEGS FOR LIFE IN FOX LAKE

Peter Myers, 40 years old, was shot to death by an unidentified gunman in Fox Lake, in the western part of Lake county, early this morning. He lived at the Fox Lake home of Mrs. Esther Basse, a state game warden and well known politician, police said.

He was slain in Lakeview avenue near Grand avenue. Just before the shooting Hans Hansen, who lives in the vicinity, heard Meyers plead: "Don't do it, don't do it." Then three shots were fired. Meyers was struck that many times. His body was found by Dr. E. M. Reiltz.

Deputy Sheriff John De Smidt later learned the identity of the slayer, he said, and summoned Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy from Waukegan to assist in finding him. Meanwhile De Smidt seized John Houck of Long Lake and Frank Mataka of Fox Lake as material witnesses. De Smidt said that the slaying might have grown out of a party at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth McNulty, also known as McMasters. Meyers sat in a car outside, refusing to go in. One of the men inside stepped out occasionally and was heard to quarrel with Meyers, supposedly over the latter's refusal to join the party.

Meyers had no regular employment. He worked occasionally as a barkeeper and was once employed at the place of Mrs. Anna Ponic, whose daughter, Vivian Ponic McGinnis, was wounded with George Druggan, hoodlum, at the "Little Fox Lake massacre" of 1930 when three gangsters were slain.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Still clinging to life with a tenacity that surprised her physicians and friends, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick lay breathing gently but steadily early this morning in her apartment in the Drake. At 1:40 a. m. members of the family retired to their apartments near the sick room. It was said then there had been no change in Mrs. McCormick's condition since the final bulletin for the night was issued at 9 p. m. That bulletin stated in substance that whatever change, if any, indicated a better condition.

A hush settled over the Drake hotel during the day. Guests came and went quietly, talked in subdued tones, and only an occasional caller on business bent was permitted in the corridors of the west wing on the fourth floor, where the family quarters are.

John D. Jr. on Way Here.

As physicians watched and waited for the end, which they have conceded is near, John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Mrs. Rockefeller sped toward Chicago aboard the Century, coming from their summer home at Northeast Harbor, Me. They are due to arrive at 9 o'clock this morning. Whether Mrs. McCormick will be able to recognize or greet her brother and sister-in-law remained problematical last night, but physicians were hopeful because of the tranquil day their patient spent.

In contrast to the highly nervous tension of Thursday, when Mrs. Mathilde McCormick Oser arrived to find her mother apparently dying, the entire day yesterday was marked by a lull that followed her restoration to consciousness and the succeeding rally. Mrs. McCormick's joy at finding Mathilde beside her was credited by the medical staff with having given her new strength. Only a couple of hours earlier they had admitted they had done all they could and that death was near.

Reports had been circulated previously that John D. Rockefeller Jr. would make the trip to Chicago with Mrs. Oser. On her arrival in New York from Switzerland, however, the bulletins from Chicago had reassured them to such an extent that Mrs. Oser departed alone, after spending the night at her uncle's estate.

Take Train in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. arrived in Boston yesterday and took a taxicab across the city to the South station. On being asked where they were going, Mr. Rockefeller announced that he was going to Chicago because of reports of the critical stage of his sister's illness. He said he had been suffering with an attack of shingles. Prior rumors of his illness were verified by this statement.

"Because of the nature of my trip I do not wish to talk about anything for publication except the reason for my journey," Mr. Rockefeller said. "I have been recuperating in Northeast Harbor from an attack of shingles. We hope to arrive in Chicago in time."

He had hoped, he added, to be able to slip through Boston without being recognized.

Child Found Dead in Auto; Carbon Monoxide Blamed

Supposedly overcome by exhaust fumes, John S. Frances Jr., three and one-half months old, was found dead late last night in the family car in front of the Frances home at 5122 West 24th street, Cicero. The coroner's office will hold an inquest today to determine whether carbon monoxide gas caused death or whether the infant smothered in his blankets. He had been left alone in the car for a few minutes. The motor was running meantime.

WALKER'S EAR CUT BY BARBER STARTLED BY PHOTOG'S FLASH

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Mayor Walker's ear was slightly cut today as a newspaper photographer's flash startled a barber at work on him.

The barber, unusually diligent because of the prominence of his customer, was intent on his task of shaving "his honor," and did not notice the entrance of the photographer, who was desirous of getting a shot of the mayor in an unusual pose.

Suddenly the flashlight snapped, the barber's hand moved abruptly. The mayor winced as the razor tipped his ear, but it was only a slight cut and was hardly noticeable at the hearing in the executive chamber.

CHICAGOLAND MUSIC FESTIVAL

TONIGHT AT 7:30!

Gates to Soldiers' Field will be opened this afternoon at 1:30, to admit all who wish to see the finals in the drum corps competitions, starting at 2:00 p. m. Come early if you wish.

The big parade of Music Festival participants starts on to the field promptly at 7:30 p. m. Gates for the Festival performance will open at 5:30 p. m.

Move to Amend Probation Law; Kelly Frees 4

Cook county members of the legislature gave approval yesterday to State's Attorney Swanson's plan to prevent judges from freeing gun robbers by granting them probation. They acted as the result of a call following the probation granted to three shotgun robbers last week by Judge James J. Kelly. Judge Kelly yesterday gave probation to four more young offenders, a thief, two burglars, and a holdup man. This makes a total of 206 defendants put back on the streets by Judge Kelly.

The meeting of the legislators with Mr. Swanson was a deliberative gathering in which the abuses of judicial discretion and the "absurdity" of the discretionary right of a judge to liberate a veteran of four gun robberies were discussed. The court hearing was more turbulent, Judge Kelly threatening to jail a TRIBUNE reporter. The judge was incensed because it was erroneously reported that a policeman had protested in open court against Judge Kelly's benevolence. As a fact, the policeman made the protest in an interview with the reporter.

Basis of Swanson's Plea.

The state senators and representatives were advised of the situation that caused Mr. Swanson to summon them into session and to petition Judge Kelly to revoke his probations. The prosecutor had said he would go to the Supreme court if necessary to have Judge Kelly's order canceled and in addition yesterday he promised protection to a witness who fled the city in fear of his life after two of the three freed criminals had been rearrested at his instigation. As reviewed, the case history is as follows:

St. Clair McInerney, 24 years old; George Dilley, 35 years old, and Ralph Trimble, 30 years old, pleaded guilty on Aug. 12 before Judge Kelly, who is acting chief justice of the Criminal court. McInerney and Trimble were charged with four robberies and Dilley was involved with them in three. Each admitted his guilt in every case.

They Used Shotguns.

Shotguns had been used by these bandits in the commission of their crimes, which included the invasion of two loan agencies and the taking of more than $2,000 in cash. Three robberies had occurred on different dates; two were committed on the same date.

Judge Kelly lectured the prisoners on the evils of their ways and said if they hadn't been caught they would have been professional robbers, thieves or burglars. He told them he didn't want to send anybody to the penitentiary—that he would rather give them an opportunity to repent. He said he knew they went deliberately into the holdup game, but in the future they had better keep out of his court. They were duly placed on probation.

Then came the policeman reporter incident. This was followed by Prosecutor Swanson's protest against the freedom given the gunmen, two of whom were immediately rearrested. Swanson asked Judge Kelly to nullify the action and said he believed the judge did not have the lawful authority to be lenient with "repeat" robbers, but to obtain a clarification of the law he wanted the legislature to take congnizance of the situation.

Appeals to Legislators.

It was with that background that the members of the Illinois assembly met in the commissioners' room at the county building yesterday morning. Swanson told them he needed help to correct abuses of probation in robbery with gun cases.

"The probation law now says that those convicted of certain crimes may be put on probation if they have not previously been convicted of a crime greater than a misdemeanor," Mr. Swanson said. "While the law says that certain crimes are nonprobational

Wanders for Hours on 'Toughest' Trip.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Capt. James A. Mollison, a sturdy, curly haired Scotsman, completed the first westward solo crossing of the North Atlantic today and, "jolly well all in," came to St. John to get a night's sleep. Tomorrow he will fly to Montreal to attend the fourth Canadian air pagent. He plans to continue to New York Sunday.

Capt. Mollison brought his "flying gasoline can" down at Penfield Ridge, 40 miles from here, at 11:45 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time. He had taken 30 hours and 10 minutes to fly from Portmarnock, Irish Free State, from where he took off at 5:35 a. m., Chicago time, yesterday, and there were only ten gallons of gasoline left in his tiny Puss Moth sports model plane.

His Toughest Flight.

"It was the toughest flight I ever made," he said, "and I am jolly well all in."

By trans-Atlantic telephone he talked to Amy Johnson, his bride of three weeks and herself a notable distance flyer. She told him she was sailing from England tomorrow to meet him in New York. He will wait for her there and then will take off—without his wife—to fly back home and complete the first round trip air crossing of the ocean.

"I was lucky," Capt. Mollison said. "For hours at a stretch last night I couldn't see the water below me and I didn't know whether or not the wind was changing and causing me to drift off my course.

Under Terrible Strain.

"I allowed seven degrees for drifting and my calculations must have been just about right, because when I came over land this morning it wasn't ten minutes before I sighted Harbor Grace."

It was fatigue and lack of gasoline that decided Capt. Mollison to come to earth in James Armstrong's pasture in the village of Pennfield Ridge.

"You are under a terrible strain in a flight of this kind," he said. "You're under not only a physical strain but a mental strain as well.

"I would have tried to go on to New York, although I was terribly tired, if I had had enough gas to get me there. Ten more gallons would have been sufficient, and I think I would have been able to make my destination today."

Flew Through Rain and Fog.

Asked if the rain and fog would not have interfered with any such attempt, the airman said:

"I flew through fog and rain last night. I don't think a little more of it would have hurt me."

Capt. Mollison's 120 horsepower plane carried 170 gallons of gasoline when he left Ireland. This fuel load was so heavy the ship got the nickname "flying gasoline can."

"There were people who predicted I wouldn't be able to get off the ground with all that gas," Mollison said. "The petrol I was carrying did prevent me from rising above the cloud banks and fog last night. The greatest altitude I obtained during the flight was 600 feet."

What a Flyer Thinks About.

The thing he thought about most over the ocean, the flyer said, was "getting to land."

"I'm going to fly the same machine back," he continued. "The return trip, I think, will be easy. Flying eastward over the Atlantic you have favorable winds and there is absolutely nothing to worry me except the possibility of engine trouble—and that is a very faint possibility, indeed. There is no reason why any good engine, properly conditioned, shouldn't run for 25 or 30 hours."

He said he didn't get hungry during his westward crossing because "flying over the ocean at night you lose your appetite."

Compares Former Flights.

The physical strain of the Atlantic flight was not so great as on his record breaking hops from England to Australia in 8 days 19 hours, from London to Cape Town in 4 days 17 hours, from London to Egypt in 79 hours, and from India to England in 3 days 11 hour, Mollison said. But he found the mental strain much harder.

The continuous roaring of his motor had affected Capt. Mollison's hearing. Telephone calls came in from many parts of the world as soon as the news got abroad that he had landed, but he could not accept them. He delegated Raymond Hawkins, a farmer at whose home he went for a cup of tea after landing, to do his hearing for him.

The first indication that Mollison had succeeded in doing Col. Lindbergh's feat backwards came at 5:05 a. m., Chicago time, when he was sighted over Halifax. Previous to that the last report had come from the ocean, 650 miles off Ireland, where he was seen by a trans-Atlantic liner.

Wanders About in Fog.

Between 5:05 o'clock and 11:45 a. m., when he landed, he battled against dangerous fog. The airman spent almost six hours in covering a straight line distance of about 150 miles. Apparently he sought to follow the circuitous coast of the Bay of Fundy, which swings back north from Halifax and then to the southwest.

The meadow in which he brought down his little airplane is half a mile from Pennfield Ridge's railway station. Farmers who had heard the sound of the motor overhead ran from their houses and soon there was a sizable crowd about the ship.

The slim young Scotsman went to the home of Farmer Hawkins, where food was urged on him, but he would take nothing solid, contenting himself with hot tea.

He explained that all the way from Portmarnock he had eaten nothing except barley sugar, which he washed down at intervals with a few swallows of brandy.

Plans to Fly Back.

"I'll leave the bus here tonight if I may," Mollison said. "I am going through with the original plan for a return flight home, but probably I'll have to rest a few days in New York."

Capt. Mollison's flight is the first solo hop westward over the Atlantic, a far more difficult task than the flight from west to east. Only three times before, indeed, had even larger ships been able to make the voyage without stops, although the North Atlantic has been flown from the European side eight times in all.

The first nonstop flight was that of the Bremen in 1928, which flew from Portmarnock to Green island, Labrador, where it was forced down. Maj. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and three companions flew the Southern Cross over in 1930, but reached only Harbor Grace in the first hop. Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte flew from Paris to New York in the same year.

Von Gronau Flies Monday.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German flyer bound on a world flight with three companions, today set Monday for his next hop, to Cordova, Alaska, with the succeeding flight to be made to Attu, in the Aleutian islands. After crossing the Pacific, he added, the return flight to Germany will be made through Japan and to the south around India rather than over Russian territory.

2 WOMEN PILOTS SET ENDURANCE MARK; FLY ON

Steer Plane Into Sixth Day of Flight.

Valley Stream, L. I., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Two new champions of the air, Mrs. Frances Harrell Marsalis of St. Louis and Mrs. Louise McPhatridge Thaden of Baltimore, steered their Curtiss Thrush into their sixth night in the air tonight after surpassing the women's endurance refueling record of 123 hours established over Los Angeles by Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper on Jan. 9, 1931.

A roar of cheers from several thousand spectators and a din of hooting automobile horns broke out at 6 p. m. when the flyers had been in the air an hour longer than the previous mark, as required by the Aeronautical Association of America for the establishment of a new record.

Jumps in Parachute.

John Runger, who had handled the refueling lines for the flyers during their six day flight celebrated the new record by jumping from the refueling plane in a parachute.

C. A. [Casey] Jones, manager of Curtiss airport, and advisor of the women for their flight, flew up to congratulate them. When Mr. Jones asked them if they were ready to descend, they answered with a decided "No," and ordered a steak for dinner. The airport manager said that they intended to continue their flight for at least a day longer. He added, however, that they did not hope to compete for the men's endurance record of almost 27 days in the air, made two years ago by Forest O'Brine and the late Dale Jackson.

Messages received from the flyers in the morning disclosed that they almost had been forced down within half a day of the record they sought to break. Foggy weather at dawn this morning, they said, had forced them to descend to within 150 feet of the ground, after a night of bucking winds. They stayed close to the airport prepared for a landing, but clear weather with the rising sun enabled them to resume normal flight through the day.

Flight Covers 9,900 Miles.

At the time the record was broken the flyers had used 117 quarts of oil, 1,435 gallons of gasoline and had flown more than 9,900 miles, according to figures compiled by J. D. Jernigin, aviation superintendent of an oil company, which furnished the fuel.

The flyers began their flight from the airport here at 2 p. m. last Sunday after abandoning a previous attempt to break the record. They had taken off Friday afternoon, but a wing tip was damaged on Saturday by a bucket used to lower their meals. They decided to bring the plane down for repairs after they had been in the air over 17 hours, in the belief that the damaged wing tip might give them trouble in bad weather.

Mrs. Marsalis and Mrs. Thaden wore overalls over their clothes to protect them from spilling fuel during their refueling contacts. They alternated at the controls, and slept for a few hours at a time in an improvised bed in the cabin of their plane. Lipsticks and face powder also were carried. Observers at the field dubbed the plane the "flying boudoir."

DEMOCRATS HAVE NO PROGRAM, BUT G. O. P. HAS, MILLS INSISTS

Providence, R. I., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Ogden L. Mills, secretary of treasury, speaking here today reduced the issues in the presidential campaign to a choice by the American people between Republican candidates and a Republican party with a concrete orderly program and a definite sense of direction, and Democratic candidates and a Democratic party lost in a maze of contradictions and confusion.

The secretary seized upon recent utterances of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and his running mate, John N. Garner, to bolster the argument which he has emphasized in previous speeches that the Democrats have nothing to offer but "contradiction piled upon contradiction and confusion added to confusion."

Emphasizing the clarity and definiteness of the record, policies and political philosophy of President Hoover, Mr. Mills pictures the plight of the voters endeavoring to find out what might be expected in the conduct of the government if Gov. Roosevelt and the Democratic party were intrusted with power. The situation, he said "was confused as to baffle the hardiest mind."

The Democratic program must be extracted, he said, from the contradictions in the record of the Democratic controlled house of representatives contrasted with the pledges in the party platform.

LEGION TO STAGE AIR MEET TO AID VETS ON SEPT. 11

Famous Pilots Asked to Take Part.

Plans for an American Legion air meet were announced last night by Paul Armstrong, commander of the Cook county council of the American Legion, at a special meeting of the council last night at the Great Northern hotel. The show is to be staged at Sky Harbor airport at Northbrook on Sunday, Sept. 11. The net proceeds will be used to help disabled and unemployed veterans.

Capt. B. B. Lipsner, under whose supervision the postoffice department inaugurated the air mail system, was appointed executive chairman of the show by Mr. Armstrong. Maj. R. W. Schroeder, president of Sky Harbor, Inc., former chief test pilot of the army air corps and world's altitude record holder, was placed in charge of events.

Program of Air Meet.

The meet will start at 9 a. m. with the international outdoor model contest, which will last until noon. During the afternoon there will be sportsmen's races, professional races and stunts, parachute jumps, and a looping autogiro, and the Goodyear blimp will perform. In the evening there will be an air raid ending with the bombing of a fort and a fireworks display, Maj. Schroeder said.

Trophies for the speed events have been offered by THE TRIBUNE and other newspapers and individuals. Admission will be 50 cents a person, with parking free. Thirty thousand Boy Scouts will be admitted without charge.

Famous Pilots Invited.

Many famous pilots have been invited to enter the races, Maj. Schroeder said, and as the meet follows the close of the national air races at Cleveland by less than a week, a large number of the star performers at those races are expected to participate in the Legion show.

WOMAN FALLS IN FRONT OF "L" TRAIN; RESCUED

Motorman John Coleman of Hillside, applied the air brakes as she fell. The front coach hit the woman, but stopped before running over her. She was taken to the county hospital where examination revealed that she had suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Police said they could not learn definitely whether she fell or jumped from the elevated platform. At the hospital she murmured that her name was Agnes Christensen, and asked that a Frances Mayer of Wheaton, be notified. Occasionally she cried out, "I want to die."

She was visited later by Miss Mayer. Miss Mayer declined to disclose her friend's identity for fear of disturbing the latter's mother. Hospital attaches learned, however, that the supposed Miss Christensen, who is about 25 years old, worked as a secretary for a Wisconsin law firm.

American and 4 Others Die in Chilean Mine Explosion

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Five men, among them George M. Cheney of Pittsfield, Mass., mine foreman, were killed yesterday by monoxide gas following upon a powder blast in the Andes Copper company mine at Portrerillos, in the province of Atacama. The other four men were Choleans.

ORDERS ANOTHER KELLY PROBATION GUNMAN TO CELL

Youth Arrested Day After Court Frees Him.

Another of Judge James J. Kelly's 206 probationers, set free in his Criminal court must go to jail. He is Joseph Bator, 20 years old, 883 North Paulina street, who was sentenced to serve a year in the House of Correction and fined $300 and costs by Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the gun court yesterday for carrying a concealed weapon.

Bator was given probation on a charge of robbery by Judge Kelly last Aug. 5. At noon the next day he was arrested by a police squad at Chicago avenue and Noble street and found to be carrying a revolver. Under the statute the gun conviction makes Bator a probation violator and subject to the sentence on which he was given probation, one to twenty years in the Pontiac reformatory.

Snatches a Purse.

On June 4 Bator was arrested for snatching a purse from Miss Pearl Szatkowski, 2351 Custer street, at Armitage and Milwaukee avenues. He was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 by Municipal Judge J. Williams Brooks. He pleaded guilty before Judge Kelly.

Bator had previously served sentences in the House of Correction for stealing a raccoon coat and riding in a stolen automobile. He said he had been arrested for disorderly conduct. Judge Kelly sentenced Bator and then freed him on probation.

The next day he was picked up by a police squad, which had received a radio call of a disturbance at Chicago avenue and Noble street. The squad saw an automobile making a getaway from that intersection, but lost the car after pursuit. The squad returned to the intersection and arrested Bator. He said he had borrowed the gun from one of the men in the automobile. He pleaded guilty to the gun charge before Judge O'Connell.

Others Back in Jail.

Among probationers of Judge Kelly now back in jail are Walter Buvidas, William Lanners, Frank Sedivy and Rocco Capra. Two others, St. Clair McInerney and George Dilley, were rearrested on new charges of robbery after having been placed on probation by Judge Kelly on Aug. 15.

Records of the Chicago crime commission have disclosed Judge Kelly granted probation in 187 cases of the 269 he had heard in eighteen months ending July 31 last. The total was swelled to 206 by 15 probations on Aug. 15 and four more yesterday. Among cases not previously made public by the commission are the following:

ARTHUR REDMER. Granted probation on Oct. 29, 1931, after the felony had been waived on a burglary charge and he pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

BENJAMIN GEORGETTI and ERNEST ALFANO. Granted probation Feb. 18, 1931, after having been found guilty of petit larceny on pleas of not guilty. Charges against them were reduced from grand to petit larceny.

NED WALTERS, JOE GUTTILLA and LOUIS STEININGER. All three granted probation Oct. 2, 1931, on charges of larceny.

LOUIS BURKE. Granted probation Sept. 23, 1931, after he had pleaded guilty to a confidence game charge and agreed to make restitution of $400.

JULIUS DUCK and EDWARDS SOMMERS. Granted probation Oct. 2, 1931, on charges of larceny. Duck had previously been given probation for auto larceny.

Judge Kelly will hear further applications for probation Sept. 6.

RETURN BODY OF CHICAGO WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

The body of Mrs. Sarah D. Macaulay, 74 years old, who was killed late Thursday in an automobile accident near Oneanta, New York, is expected to arrive in Chicago this morning.

Mrs. Macaulay was the wife of Henry A. Macaulay, editor and printer, of 2743 North California avenue, and a lifelong friend of the late John Burroughs, the poet-naturalist. She was returning to Syracuse after spending a day at the old Burroughs home when she was killed. Funeral services will be held Monday at the chapel at 929 Belmont avenue.

Richard Quackenbush, 5 years old, died yesterday of injuries suffered Thursday night when he was struck by an automobile in front of 4149 West Harrison street. He was the son of F. A. Quackenbush of Kansas City, Mo., and was visiting relatives here.

Drew Cain, 3 years old, was killed and seven others seriously injured yesterday when an automobile driven by Fred Schintz of Berwyn overturned in the Dunes highway near Michigan City.

Richard Quackenbush's death and one other in Cook county yesterday increased the automobile toll since Jan 1, to 732. The other victim:

Seek New Law to Put Curb on Probations

"The statute provides that in larceny cases where more than $200 is stolen, probation may not be given. What an absurdity, then, to permit probation, in the discretion of a judge, to a robber who takes money, more or less than $200, at the point of a gun.

"Perjury is nonprobational. A youth of 20 who swears he is 21 so he may vote at an election is guilty of perjury and if convicted cannot benefit by the charity of a judge. He must go to prison while gunmen may go free."

Bad Record on Probation.

The prosecutor then declared there has been wholesale granting of probation, not only to first offenders but to persons identified in previous crimes, including robbery with a gun. This situation should be corrected as speedily as possible, he recommended.

"Would it not be feasible to have a committee of judges or a board to whom all probation matters could be referred?" asked Senator James J. Barbour.

"That would result in a situation in which the opinions and viewpoints of two or three persons might be the unfortunate ruling factors," the prosecutor replied.

"Not severity of punishment, but swiftness and certainty of punishment," Mr. Swanson responded.

Asks for an Amendment.

Representative Elmer Schnackenberg suggested that the prosecutor draft an amendment to the probation law. He expressed the opinion that probation should be possible in such cases as those where a first offender of previous good character and reputation is moved by economic circumstances, such as gaining food for his family, to commit robbery.

"The absurdity of the law, as Mr. Swanson points out, should be corrected," Representative Schnackenberg said to his colleagues. "On the other hand, if a trial judge abuses his discretion in probation cases he should be rebuked by a reversal by the Supreme court or he should be impeached and removed from office by the legislature."

"It is better to clamp the lid than to leave it open," Mr. Swanson replied. Senator Arthur A. Huebsch said our entire system of dealing with crime is wrong. He asserted his belief that the manufacture and sale of guns should be prohibited.

Then, on motion of Representative Edwin B. Bederman, it was decided to recommend that Mr. Swanson prepare a draft of an amendment and submit it to the legislators, who agreed to meet and discuss it again in two weeks.

Judge Kelly had not been invited to the meeting. He was holding court out in the Criminal Courts building. A half dozen cases in which prisoners had pleaded guilty and were asking probation were continued to Sept. 6.

Harry Kamp, 17 years old, was brought from the cellroom. He admitted having held up a Checker cab driver with what he said was an imitation pistol, obtaining $7 and driving away in the cab. The cab driver said the pistol looked real enough to him. Kamp was told to go and sin no more and he departed, to report to a probation agent instead of a prison warden.

John Connelly, 17, and Shelby Morrison, 18, were also tried yesterday. They admitted being caught in the store of Charles L. Meyers, 1225 North Clark street, on the night of July 29 after they had knocked the knob off Meyers' safe. They said they went in the place to rifle the cash register. Meyers and his attorney, former Judge Herbert Immenhausen, protested against any court generosity to the burglars but they were given probation.

William Delessandro, 17, admitted stealing a bicycle and selling it for $5. He said he had previously been sentenced to the St. Charles farm for delinquent boys "because a man said I robbed him." He was sent home with his mother.

Case of the Reporter.

Then Judge Kelly was ready to deal with another "offender," James Gavin, the reporter of the policeman-reporter incident. The prelude to this judicial inquiry was as follows:

Sergt. Timothy Dwyer of the detective bureau, who arrested McInerny, Trimble, and Dilley, the three criminals whose probation started the criticism of Judge Kelly, met Gavin, who is THE TRIBUNE'S representative at police headquarters, on the evening of Aug. 12. He was disheartened at seeing McInerny, Trimble and Dilley thwart the rigors of the law, and said as much to Gavin.

"They are hoodlums of the worst type and should have gone to prison," the sergeant said. He told Gavin the story of the crimes, the arrests, the court appearances and the final verdict: probation.

It was reported erroneously in THE TRIBUNE that Dwyer had stepped up to Judge Kelly on Aug. 12 and protested against the consideration given the robbers. The reporter had misunderstood the police sergeant only in the point that the sergeant's protest had been made to the court instead of to the reporter.

Judge Kelly issued a denial of this assertion and the denial was printed in this newspaper next day. A further correction was made in the same issue of the newspaper to the effect that Dwyer's protest was not made to the judge but to his fellow policemen and the press.

Summons Dwyer and Gavin.

Judge Kelly summoned Dwyer before him. Dwyer denied having told the reporter he protested to the judge. He was recalled to court two days later and again yesterday. Meanwhile, Judge Kelly sent for Gavin, who appeared in court yesterday morning.

"Did you report this article?" Judge Kelly asked Gavin, exhibiting a clip of the story of the merciful treatment given the robbers. Gavin replied that he had.

"Did Sergt. Dwyer make this statement to you?" Judge Kelly asked, reading from the clip.

"Yes," said Gavin.

"Call Dwyer," ordered the judge and the policeman stepped forward.

"Did you make this statement?" asked the judge, again reading it.

Halts Gavin's Explanation.

The court turned to Gavin and asked who was lying. Gavin started to explain that the only error and difference in the answers of himself and Dwyer was in the fact Dwyer had made the statement to him and not to the court, but Judge Kelly stopped the answer that would have reconciled the conflicting answers.

"You were wrong in your facts and yet you vilified me, assailed my character and attacked my reputation without asking me if the charge was true," Judge Kelly said with heat. "I'm going to put you in jail."

"I reported only the truth and I didn't do anything you said I did," Gavin said. "I'll take full responsibility for everything I do. I have nothing to be afraid of."

"I'll investigate this further," Judge Kelly then announced. "I want the writer to whom you telephoned the story to appear before me on Sept. 19. You return here on that date, and you also, Sergt. Dwyer."

Later Judge Kelly said he would make a statement today concerning his views on probation. State's Attorney Swanson had no comment on the publicity phase of the probation case, but said he was concerned with the safety of Randall Prieve, the complainant on whose charges Dilley and McInerney were rearrested and who fled from the city Sunday morning, in fear of his life, according to his father.

BOAT CAPSIZES; R. H. BELL JR. AND HIS WIFE DROWN

Two Survivors Cling to Craft; Rescued.

Reginald H. Bell Jr., general agent of the Leander McCormick estate, and his wife, Lolita, were drowned late yesterday when their small boat was capsized by strong winds on Houghton lake, in Roscommon county, Mich. Two other Chicagoans, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Forney, who had accompanied the Bells, were rescued. Dispatches gave the Forneys' address as 3712 Sheffield avenue.

Because of the rough water other boats had kept ashore and the four were alone on the lake. About a mile out a strong gust upset the boat, spilling its occupants into the water. Bell went down immediately, weighted by heavy clothes. Forney seized his wife and helped her to grasp the upturned craft, and then assisted Mrs. Bell to the boat. Mrs. Bell lost her hold.

Fights to Save Woman.

For the next few minutes occurred a dramatic struggle by Forney to save Mrs. Bell. A second time he seized her and pushed her up on the boat. Again she sank into the water. Desperate, Forney with a final look at his wife to see that she was safe, dived after Mrs. Bell. A third time he carried her to safety. A moment later she rolled off the boat, and this time sank before Forney could help her. Forney and his wife clung to the boat until it drifted near shore and rescuers reached them.

Judges Boxing Contests.

Mr. Bell was 40 years old and his wife, 29. They resided at 7343 Yates avenue, and had one child, Joyce, who is visiting her grandmother at Owensboro, Ky.

Mr. Bell was on the staff of the Illinois athletic commission as judge. He officiated at a number of Golden Gloves boxing tournaments, and at several major professional fights. His business career was largely that of managing large properties.

Two Women Drowned.

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Two women were drowned in Rock river a mile north of here tonight when a rowboat overturned. The victims are Pearl Cleophas, who died in a police ambulance on the way to the hospital, and Mrs. Louise Miller. Mrs. Miller's body has not been found.

A motorist who saw the tragedy said he saw the five occupants of the rowboat standing up in the boat, pushing at each other and laughing. Suddenly the boat tipped and the five plunged into the water. Marie Elder, James Winchell and Whitey Sanderson were rescued by two men who swam to the rescue, but the two other women sank before they could be aided.

WILMETTE BOARD REFUSES TO 'FIRE' MOVIE CENSORS

A long distance dispute between six Wilmette women and several big movie moguls on the west coast is in progress. The agitated magnates want to know by what authority Wilmette women are censoring films designed for north shore consumption.

The rumpus started Tuesday night when a letter of complaint from the film chieftains reached the village board. Last night it was revealed that the movie council of the Wilmette Woman's club, which consists of six members headed by Mrs. Robert G. Halliwell, is the group complained against.

Two theaters, the Wilmette and the Teatro del Lago, the latter in No Man's Land, have been submitting monthly lists of scheduled film offerings to the council, which makes certain recommendations.

If the theaters follow the recommendations, it was learned, everything is fine. Otherwise, the council adopts a hostile attitude toward the theaters. On one occasion, it was said, a picket was stationed outside the Wilmette theater when an adversely recommended picture was shown. Business fell off.

The village board decided to notify the film magnates that the trustees see no reason for changing the present arrangement.

BURGLARS INVADE POSTOFFICE AND CARRY OFF SAFE

Burglars broke into the Congress Park postoffice at 9439 Ogden avenue, Brookfield, shortly before midnight last night and hauled away the safe. They entered through a side window.

G. Cooper, assistant postmaster, said that the safe contained $600 in stamps, $50 in cash, one registered letter, and dozens of gas, light and electric bill receipts. The strong box is about three feet high slightly less in width.

The theft was committed by three men who earlier stole the parked automobile of L. J. Meddel, 5019 23d street, Cicero. Arthur Carlson, 9441 Ogden avenue, obtained the number as the men drove away from the postoffice.

POLICE SCATTER CROWD HEARING RED HARANGUE

A dozen police squads were called early this morning to the 3100 block in Clybourn avenue where Bryan Moss, reputed communist agitator, was addressing a crowd of more than 1,000 persons on various evils, particularly those centering about his eviction from the flat at 3121 Clybourn avenue.

Moss fled, but his wife, Caroline, and four children, Darwin, 9 years old; Wilbur, 7; Maverette, 5, and June, 4, were found sitting among their household furniture on the sidewalk. Acting Capt. Axel Jensen of the Sheffield avenue station ordered Moss seized.

Capt. Jensen prevailed upon Mrs. Moss to accept shelter for the night in a flat owned by Walter Bade, 1943 North Winchester avenue. His investigation disclosed, he said, that there existed no necessity for the Mosses to be out in the open, and asserted that Moss was using his eviction as an excuse for exhorting crowds.

The Mosses, whose rent was four months in arrears, were evicted on Tuesday night. Each night since they had slept outdoors despite substantial assistance and equally substantial offers. Capt. Jensen said that Joseph Weber, father of County Commissioner Charles H. Weber, had offered Moss free rent and food for six months, but that Moss had refused the proffer. Two nights ago, the captain said, two members of the Boston Braves baseball team, Pitcher Frankhouse and Secretary Adams, had given him large sums of money.

Records show that Moss was arrested last March 12 for the riotous Red demonstration at the north end of the Michigan avenue bridge in which three policemen were shot. He was acquitted of a charge of rioting.

CONG. SHANNON WILL DISCUSS 'U. S. IN BUSINESS' HERE

Congressman Joseph B. Shannon of Missouri, chairman of a special congressional committee which is investigating government competition with private business, will discuss "Government in Business" at a dinner to be given next Wednesday night by the Midland club and the American Taxpayers' league at the club's headquarters.

Mr. Shannon's committee has been conducting hearings over the country for the last six weeks. The committee members have learned, according to reports, that the federal government competes directly with private business in more than 250 branches of industry.

The government now has $7,665,000,000 invested or authorized for investment in American business, the committee has found. Mr. Shannon will reveal many of the committee's findings in his talk, it was said.

BURGLAR CAUGHT IN ACT SHOT AS HE FLEES POLICE

A young burglar was shot twice and probably fatally wounded by police late last night as he fled from the J. C. Naughton Plumbing and Heating company store at 2248 West Madison street. Policemen James Keating and Thomas Peters of the Warren avenue station and a detective bureau squad commanded by Sergt. David Coglan surrounded the place following an anonymous call. Suddenly the burglar leaped bodily through the door glass and turned north in Oakley boulevard.

Keating pursued him and Sergt. Coglan, hearing the shots, cut short through the alley, and also fired at the man. The fugitive dropped at Oakley and Warren boulevards. He had been shot once in the spine and once in the shoulder. At the Bridewell hospital it was said he might die. He was identified as Edward Zubabicius, 20 years old, of 528 South Lawndale avenue.

WALKER'S PLEA TO DISMISS ALL CHARGES DENIED

Mayor's Court Attack Set for Monday.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today declined to dismiss charges against Mayor James J. Walker and directed that the trial for the removal of the New York City executive proceed.

JOHN J. CURTIN.

The terse ruling which made it plain that Gov. Roosevelt was not satisfied with the mayor's elaborate explanations of his fat bank accounts and various business ventures came just before the close of the session after a day of argument by John J. Curtin, Mayor Walker's chief counsel.

"By these motions," said Gov. Roosevelt, "I am requested to take no further testimony on these charges. I must decline to do so, and therefore at the same time direct that the hearing proceed."

Adjourn Until Monday.

Adjournment was taken until Monday when Mayor Walker is expected to begin introducing his witnesses, and this afternoon's rebuff puts him in a position where he is expected to introduce corroborative evidence.

Gov. Roosevelt left Albany tonight for Columbus, O., where he will deliver his first campaign address at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Curtin's oratory droned through a second day and by midafternoon heads were nodding throughout the red plush carpeted executive chamber. The climax to the day of "speech-making" came with the governor's ruling.

Seabury Opposes Dismissal.

Samuel Seabury's answer to Mr. Curtin was brief. He merely commented on Mr. Curtin's eloquence and asked the governor not to dismiss "a single one" of the fifteen charges filed by the investigation committee.

While the hearing in the executive chamber was going on today, Mayor Walker's attorneys were making an attack upon Gov. Roosevelt's authority to remove the mayor from office. The direct attack was postponed this morning and the legal battle here in Supreme court centered in the challenge of the governor's powers under the home rule act. This was argued by A. Sidney Levine, Bronx attorney.

Justice A. S. Staley reserved decision on Mr. Levine's motion for an order to restrain the governor from acting on the Walker charges, argued in behalf of George Donnelly of the Bronx chamber of commerce.

Mr. Curtin's direct attack upon the governor's removal powers will be argued Monday at 10 a. m.

Walker Refuses to Comment.

Gov. Roosevelt jotted down notes during the long address by counsel, and at the conclusion appeared to take a few minutes to add up his notes and make any subtractions necessary.

When he arrived at his decision and began to speak it, Mr. Curtin and Mayor Walker teetered back in their chairs and wore poker faces. At the conclusion of the session Mayor Walker refused to comment, replying to questions with the remark:

There was an entire absence of color in today's session and the Albany "trial fans" decided to stay away from the vicinity of the executive chamber. The hearing room was only comfortably filled and public interest appeared to be fading as the trial wears on.

In his argument this afternoon Mr. Curtin emphasized the Walker contention that "he never had been asked by the Hofstadter legislative committee to cooperate in the search for Russell T. Sherwood," the missing Walker check and cash bearer. The attorney insisted the elusive Mr. Sherwood never had been the fiscal agent of the mayor and declared Sherwood had handled money for many other persons.

Takes Up Sherwood Case.

Mr. Curtin said the New York police department had made every effort to locate Sherwood to serve the much discussed Hofstadter subpoena, until the return of the subpoena was requested by a representative of the committee.

Throughout a part of the hearing Mayor Walker talked with Paul Block, the publisher, who was "kind" to the mayor at his small son's request to the extent of making almost $250,000 in a stock pool for Walker without the executive having to put up a penny.

After discussing the various Sherwood funds and attempting to explain them along the same lines that the mayor has already waved them aside, Mr. Curtin said.

"Now there has been a kind of an effort here to make Sherwood out as a small time salaried fellow. True he did get a salary of about $3,000 for a year's work, but when you look at his deposits for 1924 and 1925, you get a notion that he wasn't such a small time fellow."

Curtin told the governor that in 1926, the year Mayor Walker took office, the Sherwood accounts were increased by $54,452, the sources of which Curtin said he could not trace, nor "even Judge Seabury could not trace with all his accountants."

Walker's Answers Complete.

"I say to your excellency," said Mr. Curtin, "that Mayor Walker has answered for his affairs fully and completely, and I say to you in connection with that, that Sherwood's absence is ten million times more valuable to the charge makers than Sherwood's presence could possibly be. That the tenure of the office of the mayor of the greatest city in the world should depend upon his detective ability is to me more or less unthinkable—particularly when the state of New York with all the power of the law was unable to do what they say we should have done, return Sherwood."

"Don't read it all, counsel. It is all in the records once."

Mr. Seabury also interrupted occasionally. The Seabury interruptions were prefaced:

"You say here that—but we say——"

Then Mr. Curtin would reply:

"All right, all right. I'm getting on with the argument, but I can't help but point out certain things from which inferences may be drawn."

The Walker lawyer in his argument insisted that the mayor had produced all of his papers, that he had not held out a thing and that he most certainly had not destroyed any papers that might be considered evidence.

Brother Charge Discussed.

Charge No. 14, which concerned the activities of Dr. William H. Walker, the mayor's brother, were discussed at length by the attorney.

"There is no allegation anywhere and certainly no evidence," said the lawyer, "that whatever the situation was with reference to Dr. Walker and the doctors employed by that bureau, that Mayor Walker knew of anything wrong."

Mr. Curtin was referring to charges that Dr. Walker had split fees.

"Lawyers do it, other business men do it," argued the attorney, in explaining that Dr. Walker and other doctors "had a little combination."

In concluding Mr. Curtain declared:

"You have now the living testimony of the mayor upon every charge that has been presented. He has met each one of them by a very clear, full, and I may say, vigorous examination conducted by your excellency. He has answered them all. For that reason I am making the motion."

Seabury Replies.

Mr. Seabury was given an opportunity to reply. Shaking his gray head, he said in part:

"In almost every case here it is a question of an assertion of good intentions on the part of the mayor. It is a question that involves the credibility of the mayor. This day-and-one-half oration that we have listened to is not proof. That is not evidence. That is only an effort to explain away the facts that are established in the record."

PICCARD TO TRY NEW FLIGHT ON HUDSON BAY

Prof. Auguste Piccard, who has twice risen more than ten miles in his balloon, shown with his wife at Dubendorf air field, near Zurich, Switzerland, as he prepared for flight which ended in Italy this week. Prof. Piccard will make another stratosphere flight next summer from the northwest shore of Hudson bay.

[Acme Photo.]

Coming to Canada

DESANZANO, Italy, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard, the only man who has looked twice upon the world from ten miles above it, plans to ascend to the stratosphere again next summer from the northwest shore of Hudson bay, as close to the north pole as he can get.

In some ways it would be a more difficult flight than the first two, for the winds which blow across northern Canada might drop a balloon in wastes as dreary and inaccessible as anywhere on earth.

Nevertheless, as soon as the Belgian scientist has finished calculating results recorded by the instruments he carried on yesterday's ascension he will begin preparations for the third experiment.

"Our purpose will be to complete the study of cosmic rays at a point where the lines of magnetic force penetrate the stratosphere," he said. "When we know how the rays act under those conditions we will have the answer to many scientific problems."

DENIED BALLOT PLACE AFTER HE CHANGES NAME

Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday granted a permanent injunction to restrain the election commissioners from placing the name of Joseph F. Haas, who was Joseph F. Mall until he changed his name in the courts in August, 1930, upon the Republican ballot as a candidate for Municipal court judge. The judge then refused to order that the name of Assistant State's Attorney Edgar B. Elder, who sought the injunction, be put on the ballot in Haas' place.

Haas was nominated for Municipal court judge at the April primary, being the last of twelve nominees. Prosecutor Elder was next to Haas in the vote. He charged that Haas had changed his name only for political purposes. Joseph F. Haas is the name of the former county recorder, now dead.

Because Haas neglected to register the change of his name with the clerk of the state Supreme court, the judge ruled that the had committed fraud and was not entitled to a place on the ticket. Judge Lindsay held that Haas' place on the ticket should be filled by the city central committee.

Cab Driver Off Tonight to Study Voice in Italy

Joe Cristea, 28 years old, who has been driving a Yellow cab in Chicago for five years, will climb out of the seat for the last time today. He plans to take a train for New York tonight to sail for Milan, Italy, on Aug. 29. In Mflan he will continue singing instruction that began a year ago when he won a scholarship with his baritone voice. His ambition is to become an opera singer and return to a triumph in Chicago. He lives at 2008 Indiana avenue. His brother James, who is connected with the U. S. legation at Bucharest, is helping him complete his musical education.

Wife Sues Official of Oil Burner Corporation

Mrs. Eleanor M. Burrell of Hinsdale yesterday filed suit for separate maintenance against Joseph T. Burrell, vice president and treasurer of the Kewanee Oil Burner corporation, charging that she had left the home of her husband because of his cruelty "due to the influence of his father, G. T. Burrell, and his mother, Mrs. Hattie Burrell." The elder Mr. Burrell is president of the engineering and construction company bearing his name in Hinsdale. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burrell were married in August, 1925. They have no children.

VET HURT IN LEAP DIES.

Walter G. Abeles, 39 years old, 7639 Greenview avenue, a world war veteran, died Thursday night of injuries received earlier in the day when he jumped from a third story window in the Edward Hines Jr. Hospital in Maywood.

HUNDREDS OF TONS COMING TO REUNION OF TON FAMILY, INC.

The Ton Family, Inc., which has a membership of more than 2,000, a thousand of whom live in Cook county, will hold its annual reunion at Wicker park next Thursday. The founders of this group, one of the largest organized families in the United States, came from Holland in 1549, settling near Roseland, Ill. Hundreds of Tons are expected at the reunion.

While the reunion is in progress here a similar one will be held in Los Angeles. R. J. Ton, formerly of Chicago, will be in charge of the California event which is expected to draw 100 persons.

F. W. Jansen is president of the family organization, Mike Ton is vice president, Nellie Ton Jansen, historian; Jacob H. Ton, assistant historian; Harry Eeningburg, treasurer, and Conrad Larson, secretary. There will be field events and prizes.

COURT ORDERS 2 PARK EMPLOYES' JOBS RESTORED

Judge Charles A. Williams of the Superior court yesterday ordered the west park board to restore two ousted employes to their former positions. An appeal may be taken by the board.

Joseph W. Kotlengar was ordered returned to his old place as general foreman of parks and boulevards and given his full pay of $400 a month from the date of his discharge, Sept. 8, 1931. It was charged that Kotlengar's title was eliminated in order to make room, under a new title, for William M. Garrison, ward committeeman of the 27th ward and former city purchasing agent.

Bernard F. Burgeson was awarded his former position as concrete construction foreman, although counsel for the board pleaded the job was eliminated when cement road construction work was stopped. There were no further disclosures of "scandal," which had been predicted by counsel for the petitioners.

F. D. ROOSEVELT WILL SPEAK HERE OCT. 12 OR LATER

Overnight Stop Sept. 30 for Rest Only.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's first public appearance in Chicago during the presidential campaign will not be before Oct. 12.

He has been invited to speak on that date at the dedication of the Northwestern university Thorne memorial and, if he comes here for that occasion, he might make a second speech of a political nature. But it is doubtful whether he can accept the university invitation and, if he is unable to do so, he will not appear on the platform here until his second swing into the west, some time later.

Donovan Visits Nominee.

This announcement was made yesterday by Thomas F. Donovan, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, when he returned from Albany, where he conferred with Gov. Roosevelt and James A. Farley, chairman of the national committee.

The statement corrected an impression that the nominee might speak during an overnight stop in Chicago on his first western tour on Sept. 30.

"Gov. Roosevelt," said Donovan, "will make two speeches in Illinois, according to present plans. After his first big swing through the west he will return for the New York state convention, remain there for another ten days, and then start on what is to be his most important big tour. This will start either from Chicago or from Detroit."

Chairman Donovan said he found the greatest optimism in the Roosevelt camp.

"We found every one absolutely confident of the result of the election," he said. "There had been some earlier hesitation because of the tone of discussion about President Hoover's acceptance speech. At first glimpse there were some who believed the President had given some encouragement to the opponents of prohibition. But analysis showed the speech meaningless except that it declared against repeal of the 18th amendment.

Curtis' Dry Speech Hurts.

"But if there was any one aroused to the belief that the attitude of the Republican party had changed, he must have been shown the contrary by Vice President Curtis' acceptance speech in which he declared flatly against repeal. The net result has been that the two acceptance speeches have weakened the President.

"Gov. Roosvelt, I know, is going to discuss the President's position on prohibition. He will point out that the only way prohibition can be done away with is through the repeal of the 18th amendment, and also that repeal will not leave dry states unprotected, since the Supreme court has ruled the Webb-Kenyon bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into dry states is still in force.

Charges Contradiction.

"He will emphasize that what President Hoover proposes is the same dual control which he, President Hoover, declares has failed. Under the President's plan there would be no way of preventing the return of the old saloon through legalization by some state."

The Illinois conferees, who, in addition to Donovan, included Bruce A. Campbell, downstate manager, P. A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county central committee, and Judge Harry M. Fisher, made arrangements for the handling of the national campaign in this state in harmony with the state campaign. Campbell and his associates will be in charge downstate and the Cook county committee will boss the job in Chicago and suburbs.

OHIO DEMOCRATS IN CONVENTION TO ASK REPEAL

Columbus, O., Aug. 20 [Saturday].—The Ohio Democratic state convention will be asked today to adopt a platform indorsing the national platform in its entirety.

Other than the general indorsement of the national platform, which includes a plank favoring absolute repeal of prohibition, the state platform, unanimously adopted by the resolutions committee early today, makes no specific mention of prohibition.

The committee overwhelmingly rejected a proposal that would have specifically placed Ohio Democracy on record as "not only favoring repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act but also the Miller and Crabbe acts," which constitute the state's prohibition enforcement machinery.

CLAIMS RECORD

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The French aviatrix, Maryse Hilz, claims to have beaten the world's altitude record for women today at Villa Coublay by flying to a height of 39,370 feet. That figure was registered on a special barograph Mlle. Hilz carried, but official confirmation must await examination of two sealed barographs of the Aero Club of France. The flight lasted an hour and twenty-five minutes. Miss Ruth Nichols of the United States established the previous official record of 34,493 feet in 1931.

LINCOLN PARK KEEPS UP DRIVE ON DUB GOLFERS

Ignore Threats of Court Action.

Lincoln park officials remained adamant yesterday in their program of eliminating dubs from the new golf course at Waveland avenue. Ten women have been ruled off the course this week for plowing up the fairways and greens with their clubs.

"One woman made twenty-one holes in the turf by actual count," exclaimed H. Otto Weege, superintendent of the Lincoln park system.

A group of golfers has threatened to take court action to compel the park board to open up the course for dubs as well as the experts. "The poor golfer pays taxes as well as any one else and should be allowed on the links," asserted Carl Berst, 613 Wrightwood avenue, a member of the opposition.

The Lincoln park golf clubs for men and women, with a membership of 150 each, are supporting the park commissioners in their campaign to develop a dub-less course, according to Mr. Weege.

"There's no reason for holding up 100 good golfers to let a handful of poor players dig along the course," he argued. "We have the men to repair the damage, but we want the play to go on uninterrupted."

RAISING OF STATE AID FUNDS IS PUT UP TO GOVERNOR

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission late yesterday decided it could take no action on the recommendation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation that the state exhaust its own resources before again appealing for federal aid. The commissioners decided their only function is the administering of relief funds and that it is up to Gov. Emmerson to obtain the funds.

Among the commissioners present were Wilfred S. Reynolds, secretary, and Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, both of whom appeared before the Reconstruction Finance corporation's directors in Washington on Wednesday and Thursday to appeal for more federal funds for Illinois relief. The board made an allotment of $6,000,000 to the state, which is sufficient to carry on relief work to Sept. 30.

The commission made allocations totaling $25,000 to seven counties, three of which, Kendall, Macon, and Ogle, received state relief for the first time. A supplementary allocation of $1,124,671 was made to Cook county for August, in addition to $2,283,395 allocated previously.

FEW ACCOMPANY HOOVER ON HIS WEEK-END TRIP

Opinions Differ on Dry Speech of Curtis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Republican officials were divided regarding the Curtis address in which the Vice President came out flatly against repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Did Curtis Help or Hurt?

Some of the higher Republican officials made no secret of their lack of elation over the Vice President's failure to follow President Hoover's example in urging modification of the 18th amendment. Others took the view that Vice President Curtis had strengthened the Republican party in his state by his outspoken opposition to repeal.

Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], leader of the repeal group on the Democratic side of the senate chamber, issued a statement today attacking the Republican prohibition stand.

Tydings Charges Straddle.

"The Republican party," he said, "has seldom given a clearer example of its ancient strategy of 'working both sides of the street' than in the contrast between President Hoover's and Vice President Curtis' utterances on the prohibition question. They are riding the same horse, but in two directions. The President in his speech of acceptance tried to be wet with enough obscurity in language to give some comfort to the drys. But some of the drys protested, so Vice President Curtis provides the anchor to hold the extreme drys while Mr. Hoover hopes to snare the moist wets. If the Republican party hopes in this way to make everybody happy I predict that it will be sadly mistaken in November."

TOKIO TO DECLARE 'MONROE POLICY' FOR THE FAR EAST

Will Take Over the Job of Guaranteeing Peace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 20 [Saturday.]—Count Yasyua Uchida, foreign minister, will propose a Japanese Monroe Doctrine for the far east at a special meeting of the cabinet today. After receiving the cabinet's approval, the doctrine, which in effect means Japan will guarantee permanent peace in the orient, will be announced to an extraordinary session of the diet on Aug. 23.

Uchida's speech to the diet regarding China, Manchoukuo [Manchuria] and Japan's relations with the world will probably take an hour to read. Leaders here say it will prove to be one of the most important speeches ever made in the diet.

Will Explain Army Shift.

The count will explain the sending of Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto to Manchoukuo recently as ambassador extraordinary. Gen. Muto replaced Gen. Shigeru Honjo as commander of the Japanese troops in Manchoukuo and is also in charge of all consular offices.

It is believed by many here that the speech will shock the world by declaring that there is no way left to guarantee far eastern peace except by Japan, China and Manchoukuo reaching an understanding. In other words, Asia must solve Asia's problems.

Some quarters interpret the speech as a demand that the league of nations take its hands off Manchurian matters.

Draft Treaty with Manchoukuo.

It was also reported today that the government has decided to recognize Manchouquo in mid-September by concluding a basic treaty and registering it with the league of nations. It is understood that Count Uchida explained the draft of the treaty, which is reported to consist of three articles, to the cabinet yesterday. The treaty will provide:

1. Manchoukuo recognizes all treaty and other vested rights to which the Japanese government is entitled within Manchoukuo's territory.

2. Japan and Manchoukuo will jointly maintain peace and order in Manchoukuo against internal and external danger.

3. Japan and Manchoukuo will jointly defend Manchoukuo against any third power's aggression in order to maintain peace, which is of common interest to the two countries.

CAB COMPANIES FIGHT LICENSE PLEA OF RIVAL

Independent Group Plans Lower Rate.

LIEUT. KILLACKEY.

Entrenched behind the taxicab monopoly ordinance, representatives of the Yellow Cab and Checker Taxi companies fought yesterday before the public vehicle license commission to prevent issuance of licenses to drivers of a company which proposes to institute "15 and 5 cent" rates in Chicago.

The licenses were sought by the Public Taxi Service company for seven drivers. The company proposes to charge 15 cents for the first third of a mile and 5 cents for each additional third of a mile. The Yellow and Checker companies now charge 25 cents for the first quarter mile and 10 cents for each half mile thereafter.

The hearing yesterday was in fact a rehearing. The commission, of which Deputy Police Commissioner John H. Alcock is chairman and Lieut. James Killackey of the vehicle bureau secretary, took the application under advisement. On May 4, when the first application of the company was denied, Deputy Commissioner Alcock advised that it seek a remedy in the city council.

Refers to Monopoly Repeal.

"We did that," Attorney Lee Daniels told the commission yesterday, "but the relief only lasted a week."

He referred to the action of the council in repealing the monopoly ordinance. A week later a large number of aldermen reversed themselves and put the measure back in the city code. Assistant Corporation Counsel Benjamin Kanne informed the commission of the requirements which the monopoly measure places upon the applicant for licenses.

"The commission has power to grant additional taxicab licenses," he said, "if it believes public convenience and necessity require it. The burden of proof of such requirement is on the applicant under the terms of the ordinance."

In support of his case, Attorney Daniels said six of the drivers of the Public Taxi Service company are now operating out of two garages, where they receive telephone calls from customers. They may do this without coming under the jurisdiction of the vehicle license commission if they operate without taximeters.

Operating as they have been, the attorney said, the drivers have been making a profit. He added that on rainy days there are not enough taxicabs on the street to serve the public.

Oppose License Plea.

Ben Samuels, vice president of the Yellow Cab company, and Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Taxi company, opposed issuance of the licenses. They asserted that there are enough cabs on the streets already. Samuels also asserted that while each of the drivers for the public company will have a $2,500 bond to insure passengers against accidents, the company would have no further assets if a verdict were received in excess of that amount. The Yellow Cab company, on the other hand, has $1,250,000 in its treasury, he asserted.

"A man shouldn't have to have a million dollars before he is given a chance to earn a living," retorted E. N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who appear to support the Public company's application. "The Yellow and Checker companies had to start out once. Give these people a chance."

Several other representatives of organized labor, including Leslie Goudie of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' joint council, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, also backed the application. Henry Wiehofen, chairman of the streets and public safety committee of the City club, was also present.

MACHADO ORDERS ARMY TO TAKE OVER HOSPITALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 19.—President Machado today ordered the mobilization of the army medical corps to assume immediate control of clinics, hospitals and sanitoriums of the Spanish regional associations.

The order was given after staff physicians, members of the National Medical Federation of Cuba, went on a strike and refused to extend the 72 hour period of grace given a senatorial investigation commission to settle the dispute. The physicians charge that the regionals, by levying a flat small monthly membership fee, are killing private practice. They demand that persons with incomes of more than $100 a month be not accepted as members. President Machado in a manifesto tonight said:

"The government cannot allow 8,000 sick people's lives to be endangered by the strike. Thus, the army corps assumes control while further negotiations proceed. If a solution is prolonged the army may take permanent control of the institutions and I will order the federation dissolved by decree."

WOMAN GETS YR. IN BRIDEWELL ON GIRL'S CHARGES

Hattie Jones, alias Johnson, Negro, 33 years old, of 4858 Vincennes avenue, yesterday was sentenced by Judge James F. Fardy in the Jury court to serve a year in the bridewell for contributing to the delinquency of a 16 year old girl.

The girl, who attended high school in Milwaukee before she ran away from home and came to Chicago last February, testified that Carl Lester, a Negro, took her to the Jones flat and forced her to become an inmate of a vice resort.

ISSUE WARRANTS FOR 103 STRIKING MINER LEADERS

Pits Closed; Pickets Start Home.

United Mine Workers of America forbid them from refusing to work, this method of allowing each member to make his own choice was adopted.

Local No. 7 at Kincaid and No. 58 at Taylorville were the unions taking this action today. They thus join with No. 9 at Langley and No. 8 at Tovey. The total membership of the four is in excess of 1,500.

Three Houses Burned.

The strikers held many meetings today, both here and at Kincaid, but they were orderly. During the early hours today three small unoccupied company houses at Kincaid burned to the ground, with a loss of more than $5,000, according to Mr. Argust. Responsibility for these fires had not been fixed late this afternoon.

Hoots and jeers met the handful of miners who went towards the pit head of mine No. 58 this morning. All cars were stopped half a block from the buildings. Those in miners' clothing got no closer. Three miners in a small car attempted to press through the crowd, but dozens of the strikers laid hands on the machine and literally shoved it backwards while the motor was laboring to carry it on. The attempt to work was soon abandoned.

By midmorning, the strikers seemed assured that their picketing had been successful and went back to Kincaid. After a lunch of bread and sausage sandwiches—almost their only fare—they returned to Taylorville.

Bury Slain Union Leader.

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Several thousand miners from all sections of Illinois this afternoon attended the open air funeral of Joe Colbert, former secretary of local union, No. 303, Orient, and leader in the fight against the recently negotiated five dollar a day wage agreement in Illinois.

Colbert was shot to death Wednesday morning by James Sutton, night watchman at the New Orient mine, when Sutton claimed Colbert threatened his life.

The body was accompanied from the home in Orient to the West Frankfort ball park by members of Local 303, and the ladies auxiliary of miners union. No minister participated in the service. Speakers from the miners ranks delivered funeral addresses.

Sutton was released under $10,000 bond at Benton today after testifying before a coroner's jury. The jury recommended he be held for grand jury action.

Local 303 today abandoned a referendum on "acceptance" of the new wage scale, when Ray Edmundson, president of subdistrict 9, warned that the vote was illegal and would not be recognized.

Threaten Mine Examiners.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—About three hundred miners reported for work at Zeigler No. 2 shaft today, but that mine and the No. 1 shaft were idle because of not having been inspected last night. Joseph Bryant and Clinton West, examiners, of Benton, said they were stopped three times en route to Zeigler and upon reaching No. 2 shaft were warned to get out of town and stay out.

Herrin Is Quiet.

Herrin, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Williamson county, scene of much labor trouble in the past, is quiet and its miners are working. Not a single picket interfered at any of the mines in the county.

School Penmanship Book for '74 in Bogan's Office

An old copybook containing examples of penmanship written by public school pupils in 1874 was found yesterday in the office of Superintendent William J. Bogan. The book was discovered by workmen who were moving supplies into the office in the Builders building. Among the names inscribed in it are those of Cyrus McCormick, Charles E. Manierre, and Emma Isham.

NORRIS' DEATH SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned yesterday at an inquest into the death of Donald Norris, 30 years old, 1030 Lawrence avenue, who shot himself early yesterday.

To Wed Again

Two 19 year old wives, after appearing as witnesses for each other in obtaining divorces yesterday, announced as they left the courtroom of Circuit Judge Francis Wilson that they plan to remarry in October, and that each will marry her chum's brother. They were Mrs. Joseph Kohout and Mrs. George Karvanek, both living at 3002 South May street.

COAL EXECUTIVE SEES PERIL IN MINERS' BALKING

Wage Fight Menaces Business, He Says.

Delay in the resumption of full operation of Illinois coal mines because of the refusal of part of the miners to accept the new $5 wage scale is threatening the destruction of an industry that directly or indirectly affects the prosperity of 500,000 persons. This was the statement made yesterday by George B. Harrington, president of the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company, after receiving reports from the Springfield area.

"For the first time in thirteen years Illinois operators are in a position, by reason of the compromise wage agreement, to go out and fight for business that has been slipping away because of high production costs," said Harrington. "The principal factor in the cost of mining coal is labor, which is from 60 to 75 per cent.

Wages in Other Fields.

"With basic rates of $2 a day in west Kentucky, $3.20 in eastern Kentucky, and from $2.40 to $3.60 in West Virginia, it would seem that even the rate of $5 offered by the Illinois operators is too high to enable them to compete. Taking all other factors into consideration, however, the operators feel that at the present time they have a fighting chance in the highly competitive market under the $5 agreement. Plainly they could not pay the old scale ($6.10 a day) and hope to compete.

Peril to Coal Business.

"Coal contracts are highly seasonal. Most of the year's output of coal is sold during the summer months. Because it would put the operators in a position where they would be unable to guarantee delivery, any prolonged delay in the resumption of full operation might well mean the loss of an entire year's business."

James Adeknoff, 40 years old, 1059 North Wood street, shot and killed Mrs. Natalie Worzeken, 41 years old, in her flat at 1839 Thomas street yesterday afternoon. Adeknoff then turned the gun upon himself and committed suicide.

The two bodies were found by Mrs. Worzeken's divorced husband, Andrew, who had called to visit their two children, both of whom were absent at the time of the shooting. Worzeken, a janitor, summoned police.

The former husband said that Adeknoff formerly was a roomer in the Worzeken flat and that he moved because Worzeken complained that there was gossip about Mrs. Worzeken and Adeknoff. Police theorized that Adeknoff shot Mrs. Worzeken because she repulsed his attentions.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The value of Cook county real estate will be decreased two billion 617 million dollars for 1931 tax purposes, according to an estimate made yesterday by Assessor J. L. Jacobs.

The full value of lands, lots and buildings, which totaled $9,348,000,000 for the 1930 taxes, will be cut to about $6,731,000,000 for the 1931 assessments. The assessed values are 37 per cent of these figures.

Compare Valuations.

Real estate in—	1930.	1931.
Chicago	2,849,613,135	2,651,721,457
Cook county .	$3,459,088,569	$2,490,513,770

The 1931 valuations represent a decrease of 28 per cent, which Mr. Jacobs said is the "approximate average," although the reductions may "run anywhere from 20 to 40 per cent."

Mr. Jacobs made his announcement after hearing reports of fees being collected by persons and agencies offering to secure reductions in property valuations. His estimate of the reductions, therefore, was given in the nature of a warning to all taxpayers against this form of racketeering.

"Reports coming to this office," a statement by Mr. Jacobs read, "make it imperative that the taxpayers be given warning against the operations of certain persons, so-called taxpayers' associations, appraisal companies or lawyers, who for a fee offer their services to obtain reductions in the assessment on real estate and personal property."

Substantial Reduction.

Mr. Jacobs said that these individuals and organizations "are taking advantage" of the property owners, because they know there will be a substantial reduction in the tax valuations.

The approximate 28 per cent cut will be county-wide and city-wide, according to the statement, "and will be applicable to practically all real estate. Such reductions will be granted automatically without any action on the part of the taxpayers or their representatives."

Assessor Jacobs was vigorous in his warning against paying money in the hope of obtaining a reduction in real estate valuations. He referred to it as "tax racketeering" and "attempting tax fixing" and said this had been the chief difficulty with taxes in Cook county for years.

Mr. Jacobs said that much misinformation is being disseminated regarding the basis for valuing property. He went on:

"The public should know that persons and organizations representing themselves as able to obtain reductions for a fee are actually obtaining money under false pretenses, which under the Illinois laws, is a criminal act and punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Appeals to Citizens.

"I appeal to citizens as a civic duty and responsibility to inform this office of any such representations made to them so that steps may be taken to prosecute such persons and stop any current tax racketeering.

"The rules and procedures of the assessor's office operate equally for everybody, and without price. The advantage of all official action and rules will continue to inure to the equal benefit of all members of the public, without intervention of any one, inside or outside of the assessor's office. The public is warned against any person who claims the ability to influence, or fix, any assessment upon any consideration whatever."

A reduction in taxes in proportion to the decrease in valuations is possible, Mr. Jacobs pointed out, if tax rates are not raised. To reduce the rates, or prevent an increase in them, the various tax expending bodies now face the task of trimming their expenses, he said. He declined to indicate how much he believed taxes would be reduced.

Up to the Governments.

"If there is a corresponding reduction (28 per cent) in governmental expenditures, as represented by the tax levies, the actual real estate taxes will be reduced by that amount," he added.

Some of the governments already have asked a higher tax levy for 1931 than for 1930. An illustration is the board of education. For 1930 its taxes extended totaled $76,157,000, but for 1931 its tax levy totals more than $85,000,000. The school authorities want nearly 12 per cent more taxes for 1931 than were levied for 1930, although the value of real estate has decreased approximately 28 per cent.

PASCHEN SEEKS COURT CURB ON POLITICAL FOES

Chris Paschen, building commissioner under the last city hall administration, who is now under a federal sentence for income tax frauds, sought an injunction yesterday in the Superior court against the New 49th Ward Regular Republican club. The club is headed by United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer, Paschen's ward political foe.

Paschen sued as chairman of the board of the 49th Ward Regular Republican club. He seeks to restrain Marshal Laubenheimer, Roy Juul, William Bausch, and Thomas Gilmore, all officers of the New 49th Ward Republican club, from using that name and from representing themselves as parties who operate under the name of Paschen's club.

The case was assigned to Judge William J. Lindsay, who will hear it today.

TWO HELD ON RUM CHARGE.

Saul Marcus, owner of a saloon at 124 South Canal street, and John Gallagher, speakeasy operator at 5441 South Damen avenue, were held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $1,500 each by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of violation of the prohibition law.

County Acts to Get $2,326,123 Taxes.

Suits on behalf of Cook county seeking appointment of receivers for 26 downtown and north side properties with total valuations of $80,000,000, so the receivers may collect delinquent taxes on the properties totaling $2,326,123, were filed yesterday in the Superior court. The suits were filed by Edward M. Winston, who has been appointed special county attorney to collect delinquent taxes.

Some of the more prominent buildings on the list for which receivers are asked are:

STRAUS SAFE DEPOSIT COMPANY, owners of the Straus building, 306 South Michigan avenue, taxes for 1928 to 1930 totaling $604,205.

ILLINOIS WOMAN'S ATHLETIC CLUB, 820 Tower court, taxes for 1928 to 1930 totaling $162,463.

LOTT HOTELS, INC., as owners of the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park West, taxes for 1928 to 1930 totaling $227,772.

PEARSON HOTEL, 100 East Pearson street, taxes for 1928 to 1930 totaling $67,595.

DELAWARE TOWERS, 25 East Delaware place, taxes for 1928 to 1930 totaling $73,824.

McCORMICK BUILDING, 332 South Michigan avenue, taxes for 1922 to 1930 totaling $71,067.

Attorney Lester L. Falk, who represents the McCormick building's owners in tax matters, said, when he was informed of the suit against that building, that the building had paid five-sixths of its taxes and protested the remainder. Its objection to paying the protested tax for 1928 and 1929 was recently sustained by County Judge Jarecki, and the protest on the 1930 taxes is still pending in the County court, he said. Attorney Winston said later that his suit against the McCormick building might have been based on false information.

Sidney H. Kahn, president of the Straus Safe Deposit company, said that part of the taxes were paid on the Straus building for each of the three years in which delinquencies still occur, and added that the building reduced its delinquent tax bill by a $100,000 payment a few days ago, for which it is not given credit in the suit. A number of the other properties against which suits were filed also have paid part of their taxes for the years involved in the suits.

ARRESTED FOR THREAT LETTERS TO NOTED FOLK

Eugene Brown, alias Arnold, 30 years old, 1016 West Madison street, was arrested yesterday by federal agents and charged with writing threatening and obscene letters to prominent persons during the last four years. He is said to have told agents that he thought the practice "amusing."

Among those annoyed by the letters were the late Thomas A. Edison, Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, and Mrs. Charles E. Merriam, wife of the University of Chicago professor, federal agents said. Brown, who came to Chicago recently from Columbus, O., is said to have written only to prominent persons. Federal agents said he filled the letters with threats of death or obscenity. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and held in bond of $1,500. The case was continued until Aug. 24.

2 Bandits Seized in Chase; Confess Twelve Robberies

Peter Anarat, 29 years old, 2804 Prairie avenue, and Daniel Carter, 30 years old, 21 East 31st street, a Negro, who were arrested after a street holdup Thursday night, confessed 12 similar robberies to Chicago avenue police yesterday. They were captured in a three mile automobile chase after taking $50 from Stephen B. Michols, 30 years old, 3237 Evergreen avenue, as he sat in a parked automobile in front of his home with Miss Evelyn Kramer, 19, of 1809 North Keeler avenue.

James Wilcox, American Artist, Ends Life in Clinic

NICE, France, Aug. 19.—(AP)—James Wilcox, an American painter, committed suicide today in a private clinic, police reported this afternoon. They said he wounded three orderlies with a piece of broken bottle, then slashed his wrists and cut his throat. Recently he had been painting in the lower Pyrenees. His wife is the former Ellen Elston of Philadelphia.

GOV. EMMERSON IS RECOVERING SLOWLY FROM HIS ILLNESS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, who has been suffering from a severe attack of acute indigestion at the executive mansion since last Monday, was reported improved in condition tonight.

The governor became ill shortly after his return from Camp Grant, where he reviewed Illinois troops last Saturday and Sunday, and upon advice of his physician went to bed, where he spends the greater part of his time.

It was said that the governor is improving slowly, but it will be several days before he will receive callers.

TAX CUT BATTLE GOES TO BOARDS ON ADJUSTMENT

Hoosiers Want Limit Law Enforced.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The real fight for substantial tax relief in Indiana may come over appointment of the county boards of adjustment, reports from widely separated sections of the state indicated today.

In St. Joseph county, within which South Bend is situated, citizens interested in forcing observance of the $1.50 tax limitation law are fighting to control the adjustment board, which is authorized to grant exceptions to the limit.

These boards, to be set up in each of the 92 counties, are composed of the county auditor, three members of the county council chosen by the council and three members selected by the Circuit court judge. A board favorable to tax reduction can enforce the wishes of taxpayers for lower rates next year, even though it may grant a total rate higher than $1.50, which is about half the average present rates.

Reports of the activities of budget makers over the state are that the $1.50 limit will be too low to maintain adequate functions of government in most places, although officials seem to recognize that they are on trial before the taxpayers for any raise granted above the legal limit. In previous years they have found it easier to boost rates because there was no definite maximum.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—After promising drastic reductions in government expenditures, Chancellor Franz von Papen's cabinet today agreed to lop off $8,330,000 from the federal budget.

The cabinet conferred with Dr. Hans Luther, president of the reichsbank, in an effort to induce him to advance funds to finance the program for mitigating unemployment this winter. Dr. Luther agreed to advance $50,000,000, but government officials said that they hope Dr. Luther will consent to further advances.

Reichstag's Senior Member Stricken.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Clara Zetkin, 75 year old communist member of the reichstag, who as senior member of that body will act as its speaker pro tem when it convenes Aug. 30, was reported today to be seriously ill in Moscow. She was said to be suffering from a recurrent attack of malaria.

SEEK DRY DEBATE; RECALL LINCOLN, DOUGLAS CLASH

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—With prohibition as the issue instead of slavery Freeport may be the scene of a debate this year rivaling in interest that in which Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas appeared here Aug. 27, 1858. The principals in the prospective clash are William D. Upshaw, Georgia, the Prohibition party's nominee for President of the United States, and Col. Ira L. Reeves, Chicago, regional director for the Crusaders' association, an organization working for repeal of the 18th amendment. Invitations have been sent to Col. Reeves and to Mr. Upshaw by representatives of wet and dry organizations here, asking them to include Freeport in the 12 debates planned during the campaign on the subject of prohibition. It is proposed to stage the debate in Taylor park, a few blocks distant from the spot where Lincoln and Douglas clashed 74 years ago and where a statue of Lincoln, the Debater, was dedicated a few years ago.

GUN TOTER JAILED ONE YEAR.

Joseph Bater, 20 years old, 883 North Paulina street, was sentenced to one year in the house of correction and fined $300 yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

NEIGHBORS AID VILLAGE SPEED TRAPPER'S VICTIM

Say Wooddale Chief Was Drunk.

Testimony that Chief of Police James Carroll of Wooddale (population 230) was intoxicated and abusive when he arrested a motorist for driving without a tail light last Tuesday night caused Attorney Joseph H. Braun, attorney for the Chicago Motor club, to announce last night that "Carroll and his speed trap must be suppressed even if it is necessary to present his actions to the grand jury on a charge of malfeasance in office."

Carroll has become noted as one of the most expert of the speed trap artists operating around Chicago. Since the motor club started its campaign against the traps the dismissal of six alleged speeders arrested by Carroll has been obtained and the village authorities of Wooddale have been accused by Attorney Braun of conspiracy to extort money from the motoring public.

Whole Village to Trial.

Almost all the population of Wooddale gathered last night in the village hall at Bensenville to hear the evidence in the case of Policeman Carroll's latest arrest. The defendant arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. H. Korthauer was Harry Mann, 24 years old, of Bensenville.

Carroll was the first witness. He testified that he saw Mann driving through Wooddale last Tuesday night without a tail light. Mann was not speeding, he said, and he drove alongside of Mann's car and ordered him to pull over. Mann did not obey, the policeman testified, so he drove his car into the other automobile, damaging the front fender.

"Were you sober at the time?" queried Attorney Braun.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Where were you prior to the arrest?" Carroll was asked.

"I don't remember," he answered.

Police Auto Zigzags.

Mrs. Christine Schiedl, proprietress of a gasoline filling station in Wooddale, then testified that on Tuesday night, before Mann's arrest, she saw Policeman Carroll driving his automobile in azig-zag fashion and that he almost ran into the filling station. She talked to Carroll, she said, and asserted he was very drunk.

Mrs. Theresa Danek, 3620 Lombard avenue, Berwyn, corroborated Mrs. Schiedl's testimony about the policeman's intoxication. She said she saw Mann's car drive by and that the tail light was burning. Marvin Wolf, 18 years old, of Bensenville, was another witness who said he saw Mann's car just previous to the arrest and the tail light was in order.

Mann then testified he did not see the policeman until the latter ran his automobile into Mann's car. Policeman Carroll cursed him, he said, and he smelled liquor on his breath.

Cheer "Not Guilty" Verdict.

"He wouldn't let me telephone," Mann testified. "He jerked the keys out of my car and left it standing open and unlocked on the highway despite my protests."

Magistrate Korthauer's finding of not guilty in favor of Mann was greeted with loud cheers and a few boos from the audience. More than half the residents of the village have signed a petition for Carroll's removal but the village officials last Wednesday reappointed him for another thirty days.

Attorney Braun announced that he had a warrant charging Carroll with driving while intoxicated, but Mann was reluctant to sign it.

"Carroll must be suppressed," said Attorney Braun. "We'll present the facts to the grand jury of Du Page county if necessary to force his removal."

John Harriman Takes 3d Wife; New York Woman

New London, Conn., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—John Harriman, whose matrimonial affairs have not exactly been hidden under a bushel, took his third bride today in a quiet ceremony in the town hall in New London. Mrs. Case Morgan, daughter of Frank Case of New York, is the latest to share the Harriman name and social prestige.

The bridegroom, a son of Mrs. Oliver Harriman of New York's Park avenue, made a cash settlement of one million dollars at the time he was divorced from his second wife, Mrs. Anna Foley Harriman.

At today's ceremony, in which Judge Cornelius C. Costello officiated, the bridegroom gave his age as 27 and the bride hers as 28. Harriman's first wife, the former Alice Laidley, died in Paris in 1920.

SCHOBER DROPS DEAD; AUSTRIA FACES NEW CRISIS

Served as Chancellor Three Times.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 19.—Johann Schober, thrice chancellor of Austria and former foreign minister, dropped dead at a sanitarium in Baden, 15 miles from here, at 10 o'clock tonight. He followed to the grave his arch enemy, Msgr. Ignaz Seipel, also a former chancellor, by 15 days. Schober was 58 years old.

The statesman had been ill for some time, but it was believed he was recovering. Today he discussed plans for a vacation in the mountains. He ate a hearty dinner tonight. Retiring early, he had begun to undress, when he fell to the floor with a heart attack.

Republic Faces Collapse.

Schober's death is likely to cause the collapse of Austria. The Lausanne loan protocol by the terms of which Austria would have borrowed $43,000,000 under the auspices of the league of nations is expected to be defeated in parliament tomorrow. Had he lived, the former chancellor would have been unable to attend tomorrow's session to vote against the loan. The balloting would probably have ended in a tie.

But now Schober's successor will be sworn in tomorrow and his vote seems certain to wreck the government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and reject the loan. Yesterday parliament approved the loan by one vote. Today the federal council rejected it by a vote of 27 to 23 and returned it to parliament for second vote.

Schober fought the loan because the conditions under which it would be granted included a pledge by Austria to renounce for 20 years any effort toward a customs union with Germany. The former chancellor charged that the government was selling out the country's liberty and independence.

Seipel's Death Saved Cabinet.

Two weeks ago Seipel's death saved Chancellor Dollfuss from defeat over the acceptance of the loan. Seipel was too ill to attend parliament when Pan-Germans and socialists proposed a nonconfidence vote. After the Catholic prelate died, John Wancuro was appointed and cast the vote which saved the government, 81 to 81.

Thus in death, as in life, political observers point out, the two warriors of Austrian post-war politics—Seipel and Schober—have caused the government to stand or fall.

Known in Vienna as the greatest police chief the capital ever had, Schober saved Austria from a Red revolution after Emperor Karl's abdication in 1918. He offered his police force to the republic to keep order. Several times practically singlehanded, he prevented the Fascist heimwehr from marching on Vienna and establishing a dictatorship. His loyalty to the republic led to his selection as chancellor and for other cabinet offices.

The failure to establish a customs union with Germany, which he, as foreign minister, had negotiated with Dr. Julius Curtius, Germany's foreign minister, brought Schober's political downfall. Though he held his office for a few months, the intrigues of Seipel resulted in his resignation Jan. 27. Schober dreamed of a union of Austria with Germany. Seipel hated the idea, for his dream envisaged a new Catholic empire of south Germany, Austria, Hungary and Slovenia under the Hapsburgs.

LOSE 1,036,800 ACRES BY TAXES AND MORTGAGES

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Land equaling the area of 45 townships, or 1,036,800 acres, has been stricken from South Dakota's 1932 tax rolls through tax deed and mortgage foreclosure proceedings the last year, B. W. Baer, state tax director, announced today.

This reduction would represent a valuation of about $20,736,000 on the basis of the state's average land valuation of $20.57 an acre. Mr. Baer, however, said most of the land was valued at less than the average.

With the valuation figured at average the loss to the state in revenue at the present levy of 3.37 mills would be $69,830. The loss in all tax revenue, state and local, based on the state's average levy of 21 mills for all purposes, would be $435,456.

HOLD WAREHOUSE OWNER IN DEATHS OF TWO FIREMEN

Joseph F. Herrmann, 6743 Cornell avenue, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury which investigated the deaths of two firemen who were killed while fighting a fire in a warehouse at Branch and Cherry streets, on Goose Island, last Sunday night. Herrmann was the owner of the warehouse.

Lieut. Victor Strubbe, 1435 Glenlake avenue, and Pipeman James Murphy, 2512 North Oak Park avenue, were killed when a four story wall collapsed. Two other firemen received severe injuries.

Herrmann, according to records, was ordered three times to remove dangerous walls and floors and tear down the two top floors of the warehouse after a fire May 26.

Records of the fire department show that firemen responded to 43 calls to the warehouse between the fire on May 23 and the Sunday blaze.

Herrmann testified in his own defense that the building department's orders were not clear and that he did not act because he did not know which parts of the building he was required to tear down.

The coroner's jury decided that Herrmann was guilty of criminal negligence.

JUDGES DONATE GOLD RINGS TO AID BRAZIL'S REBELS

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 19.—(AP)—City judges today donated their gold rings, bearing the judicial insignia, to the war chest of the Sao Paulo rebellion against the federal government. Dozens of societies are assisting in the raising of funds. A total of 15,000 gifts of gold and jewels was reported yesterday. The civil military society announced that the contributions it has received amounted to more than $3,000,000.

The general staff said the federal offensive on the northeastern front had utterly failed and had cost the government heavy casualties, especially in the vicinity of Queluz. The federals were retreating, the communique said.

Federal Troops Claim Victory.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Sao Paulo rebel forces attacked the federal army's right flank at Bury, 50 miles east of Itarare, it was announced here today, but after a heavy battle the federal troops retook the positions they lost. Seven hundred prisoners captured by the federal commander's army arrived here today aboard a ship. The ministry of war announced that the federals in the Mantequeira region had repulsed the strongest rebel offensive since the rebellion began six weeks ago.

Police Rout 300 Seeking to Halt Work on Bridge

Three hundred union sympathizers gathered yesterday at the New Mannheim road bridge over the drainage canal, near Justice Park, to protest the use of nonunion labor on the concrete work. The crowd dispersed shortly after a police guard arrived to protect the 30 workmen. The work is being done on a state contract.

Other Contests Today.

Several other Chicagoland Music Festival contests will be held during the day. At 11 a. m. there will be three band contests, the adult [class A] in the Gold ballroom of the Drake hotel; the juvenile [class C] in the Allerton house and the juvenile [Class D] in the Knickerbocker hotel.

At 11:30 a. m. the adult band contest [class B] will be held in the Gold ballroom at the Drake and at 1 p. m. the women's choral contest will be held at the same place.

Two chorus contests will also be held in the Gold ballroom, the men's at 1:30 and the mixed chorus at 2:30.

Two contests will be held at Soldiers' field during the afternoon, the juvenile drum and bugle corps at 2 o'clock and the adult drum and bugle corps at 4 o'clock.

SET UP BENDIX FOUNDATION TO AID EDUCATION

Vincent Bendix, head of the automobile and airplane accessories corporation bearing his name; Walter J. Buettner, 1648 East 50th street, treasurer of the Bendix corporation, and Lloyd Maxwell, 179 Lake Shore drive, yesterday filed a certificate of organization of the Bendix Foundation with County Recorder Clayton F. Smith. The foundation, not for profit, is formed to aid and establish educational institutions, students, scientists, artists, and craftsmen. The endowment of the foundation was not mentioned.

Mr. Bendix could not be reached last evening nor could the other incorporators. A member of the law firm of Cassels, Potter & Bentley, which filed the certificate, said the foundation was a skeleton organization which would not begin operation for some time. The lawyer refused to make any statement concerning the endowment of the foundation. A secretary in Mr. Bendix's office said that he would issue a statement concerning the foundation within a few days.

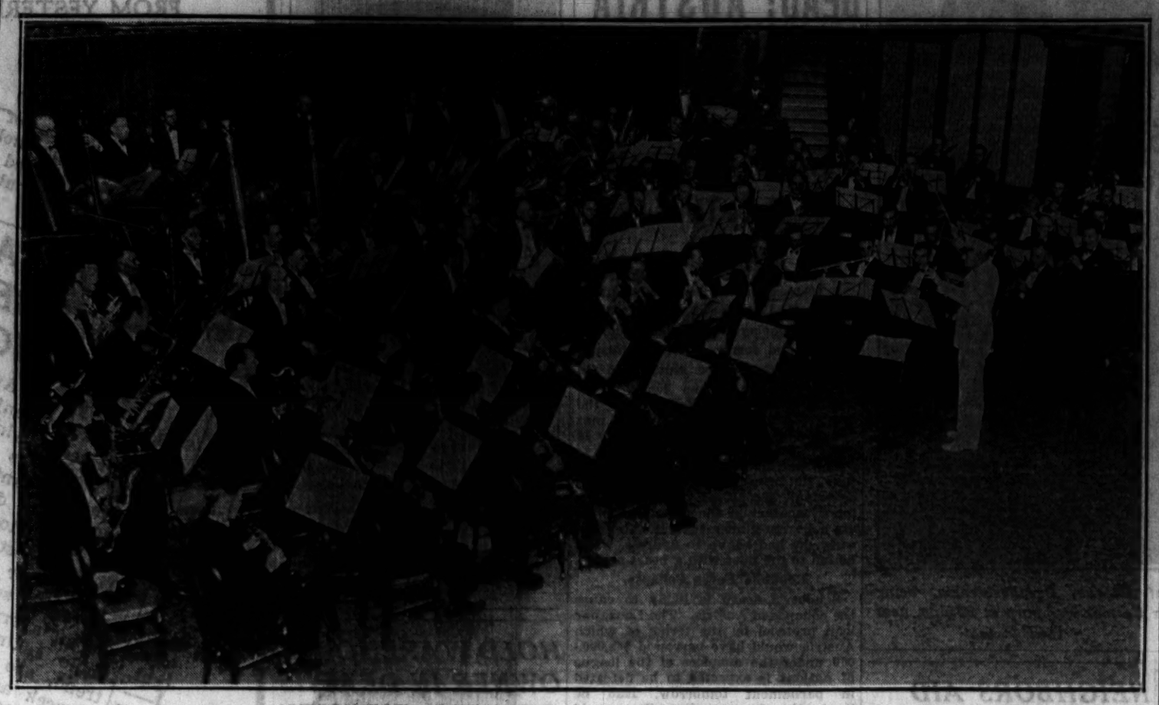
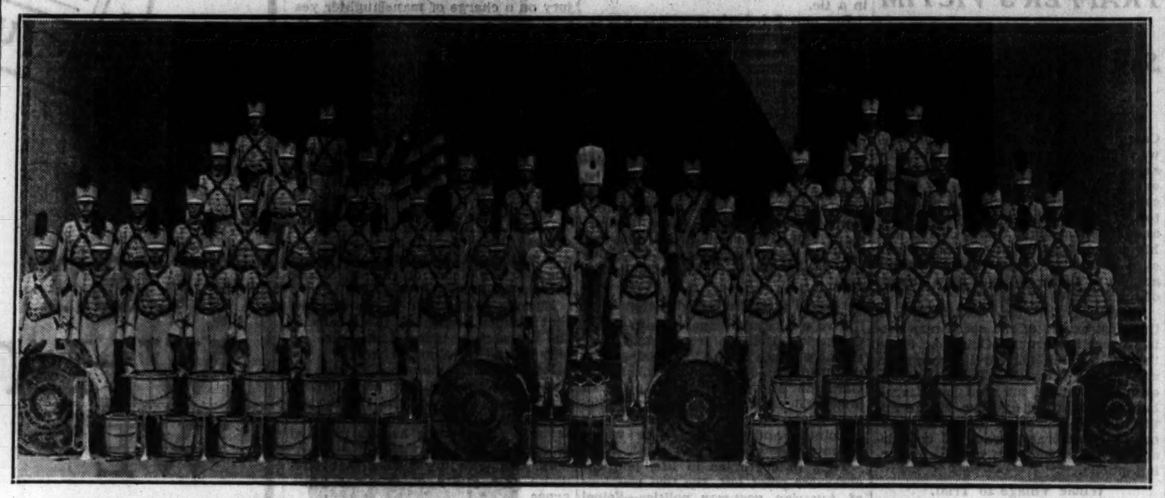
TOULON, France, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The pilot and two passengers of a French naval bombing plane were killed today when the ship crashed and burned during a training flight.

Band of 100 Pieces Rehearses for Chicagoland Music Festival Tonight



The Chicago Tribune Chicagoland Music Festival band of 100 men rehearsing yesterday morning in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel under the direction of Victor Grabel, general musical director of the festival. Tonight in Soldiers' field the band again will present the "1812" overture, by Tschaikowski, which has been a highlight of the first two festival programs. [TRIBUNE Photo.]



The Racine (Wis.) American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, twice first place winners in the Chicagoland Music festival adult drum and bugle corps contest, is coming back today to compete in the contest, which will be held at 4 o'clock in Soldiers' field. The corps has won first in the national Legion contest four times and just a few days ago was adjudged the best Legion corps in Wisconsin. There are 76 men in the organization. Capt. Fred Maxted is drillmaster. R. C. Wilcox is commander of the corps.

THRILLS! SONGS! BANDS! TONIGHT'S MUSIC FESTIVAL

Ten Dazzling Hits on Program.

music the story of a newspaper, its newsgathering, its printing, its distribution through the crowded streets to the hurrying throngs of citizens.

In consenting to step back from the business side of music and reëngage himself with its artistic aspects, Mr. Petrillo thus puts the stamp of official approval from the Federation of Musicians on the Chicagoland Music Festival as a project. Approval is national in scope, since he will be accompanied by three officers of the National Federation of Musicians as his guests, Joseph Weber, president; William Kerngood, secretary, and Harry Bren, treasurer.

Two Sousa Marches.

Mr. Petrillo will conduct two marches by the late John Philip Sousa, "The Thunderer" and "Semper Fidelis." He, therefore, pays a graceful tribute to the memory of the famous bandmaster, who, it will be remembered, was the guest of honor of the Chicagoland Music Festival last summer in one of his last public appearances. The massed bands under Mr. Grabel's direction will continue the tribute by playing "Liberty Bell" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever." It is the sort of memorial that Mr. Sousa would have preferred.

It is the boast of the Chicagoland Music Festival sponsors that every seat is a front seat. Tonight's music will be picked up by an electric amplification system which is expected to mark a long advance in this branch of acoustics. For several months past sound engineers have been perfecting an amplifying system which uses 700 watts of power output and the new system has been installed in Soldiers' field. Every note and every drum beat, every word of every song will be picked up by a battery of microphones and will be transmitted over huge amplifiers so that every person present will be able to enjoy the entire performance.

Growing Influence.

Such is the spirit of music. It has pervaded Chicago, Chicagoland, the whole middle west. The influence of the Chicagoland Music Festivals grows constantly. Its territory has increased this year, for the state of Ohio enters the group of middle western states for the first time.

For the Chicagoland Music Festival is not merely a Chicago show. It belongs to the middle west, and the middle west has shown a courageous and friendly spirit of coöperation in helping to make it a success. One hears, for example, of how a caravan of fifty cars arrives here today from Monticello, Ind., in recognition of the fact that the Monticello High School band is in the festival; of how from another direction 100 persons are here from Waukon, Ia., as boosters for the Waukon Drum anod Bugle corps. It is estimated that there are at least twice as many out of town visitors to the festival today as ever before.

Help from Other Newspapers.

Much assistance has been given by associated newspapers. The Chicagoland Music Festival has received and is receiving generous encouragement from such newspapers as the Chicago Daily Calumet, the Chicago Defender, the Scandinavian of Chicago, the Auburn, Ill., Daily Citizen; the East St. Louis, Ill., Daily Journal; the Rockford, Ill., Register-Republic; the De Kalb, Ill., Daily Chronicle; the Lincoln, Ill., Courier; the Momence, Ill., Press-Reporter; the Momence Progress, the Berne, Ind., Witness; the Monticello, Ind., Herald; the Monticello Journal, the La Porte, Ind., Herald-Argus; the Waukon, Ia., Republican-Standard; the Sheboygan, Wis., Press; the Racine, Wis., Journal-Times; the Fort Wayne, Ind., News-Sentinel, and the Brazil, Ind., Daily Times. These, as well as THE TRIBUNE, have had their share in the project.

For four months these newspapers have been at work on plans for the festival. With the exception of the contests of bands, choruses, drum corps and soloists, all meeting in finals today, everything is ready for the fanfare of trumpets which will begin a gorgeous spectacle this evening.

Thunder of Bands.

As you listen to the thunder of bands, to the magnificent hymning of the Hallelujah chorus, to the throb of drums, to all the other features of the gigantic program, you will perhaps realize that the concert comes as the solution of great problems, of lighting, of disposition of forces, of massing choruses, of amplifying, of echo, of seating, of traffic.

All the problems have been solved. The Chicagoland Music Festival invites you.

The parade will begin at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

A group of civil war veterans, many of whom attended the second Chicagoland Music festival in Soldiers' field as guests of The Tribune, will be back in their special seats on the festival platform tonight—again the guests of The Tribune. The Chicago Auburn company will transport the veterans in new cars from the Hotel Sherman to Soldiers' field and after the festival to their homes. Frank Bering of the Hotel Sherman has loaned 40 cushioned chairs for the use of the veterans and the chairs will be taken to Soldiers' field by the Krema Teaming company. Thomas L. Beem, adjutant of the Illinois department, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will be in charge of the veterans. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

RULES FOR TRAFFIC AT MUSIC FESTIVAL TONIGHT ARE ISSUED

Automobilists from the south must park between 23d street and 16th street. Automobilists from the north may park (1) between 7th street and the Shedd aquarium east of the outer drive, (2) on the drive north of the Field museum between the outer drive and the west drive, (3) at the east side of Soldiers' field after unloading on the west, south, or east sides.

Busses will unload in the Court of Honor at the north of Soldiers' field. Busses will park here until the festival is over.

Taxis may unload on the west, south, and east sides of Soldiers' field. They may park on the west drive and at the south end of Soldiers' field after 10:15 p. m.

Parking will not be permitted on 11th and 12th streets between Michigan avenue and State street.

Traffic from the south not going to the festival must turn east at 16th street and continue north in Grant park to Jackson or Monroe streets before crossing west to Michigan avenue.

At 10:30 p. m. only busses and taxis will be permitted to enter Grant park.

Ecuador's Congress to Ask President Elect to Retire

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Congress decided at a secret session tonight to appoint a commission which will ask President-elect Neptali Bonifaz to renounce the presidency. He is scheduled to take office Sept. 1 and announced he would not withdraw. There were a number of anti-Bonifaz demonstrations during the day. Fifty members of the Ecuadorean congress recently offered their support to Champanada Leopoldo Izquieta Perez, the leader of the opposition.

FIND BODY OF BOY WHO FELL 1,500 FEET FROM CLIFF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Aug. 19.—Smoke signals from the "lost valley" of Nualolo on the Island of Kauai this morning announced that the body of Coleman Cartwright, 16 year old son of Bruce Cartwright, Honolulu business man, had been found at the base of a 1,500 foot cliff. The boy fell yesterday while hunting goats.

Eight men swam ashore to the island from sampans. They are attempting to make a recovery which promises to be as dangerous as the recent exploit of Rikan Konishi in recovering the bodies of the "love suicide" couple from the crater of Kilauea volcano. The group is under the leadership of two police officers. They are in one of the wildest regions of the island group. It is an almost inaccessible mountainous country. The high cliffs bar entrance on the northern shore. Entrance to the valley was possible only from the sea.

The boy's father had flown from Honolulu to join the search. It is expected that it will take a day or more to remove the body to a point where it could be placed in a plane for Honolulu. Lost valley long has been uninhabited, but years ago natives lived there, reaching their homes by means of ladders attached to the cliffs.

Mother Kills Doctor When Child Dies After Operation

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Dr. Abraham Dodds, a leading surgeon with numerous patients among the foreign colony here, was stabbed in the neck and killed today by a woman who blamed him for the death of her child, upon whom he had operated.

N. Y. Murder in 1830s Basis for New Novel

Manuel Komroff Presents New Type of Work.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"A New York Tempest," by Manuel Komroff. [Coward-McCann.] Published Aug. 17.

MANUEL KOMROFF, whose "Coronet" was one of the vastly popular books of 1930, has done something entirely new, for him, in his latest novel. "A New York Tempest" he calls it, and it recalls the social tempest which a famous murder trial of 1836 stirred in what was then the teapot of New York. There is none of the mysticism or subtle allegory which has characterized Manuel Komroff's fiction of the past.

MANUEL KOMROFF.

"A New York Tempest" is a straightaway story—almost a melodrama—oddly American in comparison with his former work, which had such a Russian quality about it as to make it seem—although written in English—a translation. Mr. Komroff has written a thrilling historical novel in "A New York Tempest," choosing for its core that always exciting event, a trial for murder.

The novel is in no sense a mystery story, for the reader is never for one moment in doubt as to the crime or its perpetrator, and the legal action of the courts does not end the tale. It is rather a vivid panorama of New York in the 1830s, from social froth to social dregs, with a famous murder as its axis of action.

The murder recorded by Mr. Komroff is an actual one in the annals of the New York courts and it disrupted society as nothing else in its decade did. It is for that reason that the author chose it for the foreground of his picture of manners and men of the early 19th century in the town of only a little over 200,000 inhabitants that was to become the metropolis of the new world.

The tale begins with the great fire of 1835 and is colorful from its first page. It was in that spectacular holocaust that the hero made his start in wrongdoing. His career carried him into the spotlight of notoriety and caused, in its wake, the wreck of lives and fortunes and careers entirely unknown to him.

Mr. Komroff chose the Jewett-Robinson murder case of the 1830s, the most notorious of its day, as the basis of "New York Tempest." The murdered girl he called instead of Ellen Jewett, Jane Holden, and the gay young buck who bore the name of Robinson the author called Oliver Benson. But the circumstances of the murder are the same in the book as in the court annals. Jane Holden, a beautiful courtesan, is murdered by a young blood, Oliver Benson, apparently without reason other than that she loved him too well and that they quarreled.

The relationship of Jane Holden and Oliver Benson bears no special date upon it. Such relationships are certainly as common today as they were in the 1830s, but, one judges from Mr. Komroff's picture of the period, no more common. It took a murder to bring to the attention of the public the fact of that relationship and to disrupt temporarily the social fabric of New York.

The public of 1836 aligned itself along its social cleavages. Since the murdered girl had been an inmate of a "boarding house" of bad character, and since the witnesses against the murderer were necessarily inmates of that house, the "decent" people of the town discounted the testimony presented by them and accepted perjury and clever trickstering on the part of the murderer and his attorneys.

On the other hand, the organized gangs of the Five Points, the underdogs of the social order, banded violently together in such denunciation of the murderer that it took the whole city council and the police force in toto to keep order in the courtroom and in the transit to and from the Bridewell of the prisoner.

The story of the aftermath of the battle for the life of Oliver Benson takes its grim course through the lives of an odd assortment of victims and ends with gruesome tragedy.

You can not help thinking as the pageantry of the book unfolds impressively what a superb motion picture "A New York Tempest" will make. The spate of courtroom movies of late, which has become a little trite by its volume, might all have been preparation for such a costume drama of the courtroom—all of the emotional moments of love and passion and murder and death, played against the whole vast panorama of life in the 1830s in New York!

Thrilling Book Has Its Setting in Bronze Age

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

"Bran the Bronze-Smith," by Joyce Reason. [Dutton.]
"You Fight for Treasure," by Edouard Stackpole. [Morrow.]
"The King of the Gorillas," by Attilio Gatti. [Doubleday-Doran.]

To the young reader who likes, now and then, to change from modern adventure to that of other peoples and other days, I recommend most heartily Joyce Reason's "Bran the Bronze-Smith."

Turning back the pages of history some three thousand years, the author takes us back into the Bronze age in Britain, and gives us not only a thrilling adventure tale, but also an unforgettable picture of the people and the rites and customs which characterized the age.

In the character of Bran, the outcast slave boy who became a master bronze-smith and held a kingdom in his hands, we have a worthy hero, typifying for us the period in which he lived. It is a story of primitive peoples among whom feeling ran high, where treachery was rewarded with death, and wrongs righted by sword and spear, but where also loyalties were strong and courage and skill were honored according to their worth.

Bran is typical of his people, unflinching in the face of danger and loyal to the death to those he loves, but equally implacable and merciless to those who would betray him. It is not for the reader who would shun unpleasant facts, nor for him who would confuse the moral code of the Bronze age with that of our own, but for the alert young person who is capable of differentiating between today and yesterday, it is a fascinating adventure story, full of interesting and authentic information, and exceedingly well told. I know of no other recent tale of this type which I have enjoyed so thoroughly.

The two other books on our list today are for adventure lovers also. "You Fight for Treasure," by Edouard A. Stackpole, has its setting in the period following the American revolution and is woven about the accomplishment of a young lad of Nantucket in rescuing from the Barbary pirates a father whom he had for years believed dead.

When word came to Timothy Pinkham that his father was alive, a captive of the all powerful Barbary pirates, he at once made up his mind that his father must be saved. Money was needed to equip an expedition, and young Timothy's only hope lay in a cryptic message regarding some long buried pirate gold. The story of the search for it and its results makes a dandy yarn for the boy who likes to read of pirates and their doings.

"The King of the Gorillas," by Attilio Gatti, tells of real adventure, for Commander Gatti has led several expeditions to Africa, and gives here an account of his travels as explorer and hunter. Not only does he relate the story of the search for the great gorilla he set out to find, but tells also of the other savage animals, and in many instances no less savage peoples among whom he found himself.

The book is interesting for its pictures of Africa and African life as well as for its portrayal of the dangers and joys which make the life of a big game hunter a particularly interesting one.

British Readers Busy Guessing on Pen Names

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON, — [Special Correspondence.]—There has been a small epidemic of novels published under pen-names which authors and publishers refuse to translate into real names. The three most important of these are "Forget-Me-Not," by Joseph Shearing; "They Winter Abroad," by James Aston, and "Before the Fact," by Francis Iles. Francis Iles, of course, is the author of that celebrated and excellent story of a murderer entitled "Malice Aforethought," and it is admitted that Mr. "Iles" is already a well known novelist.

A. A. MILNE.

All sorts of guesses have been made as to the identity of Francis Iles, some of them ridiculous. The most ridiculous has been that he is Francis Brett Young, but since the chief feature of Mr. "Iles'" style is a superabundance of stylistic faults Brett Young can be ruled out at once.

However, Brett Young is far from being the only author saddled with "Malice Aforethought" and "Before the Fact." The present favorite for the position is Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, who has the requisite talent, and the requisite interest in crime.

James Aston is a highbrow author, whom I suspect of being a friend of David Garnett, although I do not believe that Mr. Garnett is the actual writer of "They Winter Abroad!" The book is very satirical, very much "amused" at the absurdities of conventional people, rather self-satisfied. It may be that we shall learn more of the author from his new novel, which is announced for the autumn season, and which may contain further revelations of his personality.

As to Joseph Shearing, whose success has been definite, the publishers are adamant in refusal to disclose the author's identity. I understand that the name is a real one, although it is not the name of the author; and that it is in fact the name of the author's grandfather. This should be enough to set all Sherlock Holmeses on the right track.

The lamented death of Kenneth Grahame at the age of 73 will come as a blow to many thousands of those who love "The Wind in the Willows!" When that book was published the critics found fault with it because they had looked forward to another book in the vein of the author's series of chapters about children, "The Golden Age!" "The Golden Age" was then the most famous and widely read of his books.

But, chiefly owing to the earnest advocacy of one man, "The Wind in the Willows" has risen to hold first place in the esteem of modern readers. For years this one man has been extolling "The Wind in the Willows!" He introduced it to his friends, who in turn introduced it to their friends. It must long have outdistanced "The Golden Age" in the affections of the living. And the prophet of "The Wind in the Willows" is none other than A. A. Milne, who at last, to gratify his own enthusiasm, made a dramatic version of it which has still further advanced the book's celebrity and circulation.

BRITAIN TO SIGN TRADE PACT WITH CANADA TODAY

Parley Rushes Along to Whirlwind End.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 19.—The British imperial economic conference, after dragging along for more than a month, rushed precipitously to a whirlwind end today. In order to be ready for the final plenary session fixed for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, the big committee—another name for the full conference—will sit all night if necessary. It was in continuous session all day.

Early this morning Britain initialed agreements with South Africa, Rhodesia, Newfoundland, and New Zealand. The Australian agreement was still held up late tonight by some details. The Canadian agreement also is under discussion. Matters had progressed so far with both, however, that it was announced agreements would be ready for formal signature tomorrow.

Both Are Furious.

Out of the smoke screen of propaganda and mystery with which the conference has been surrounded only one fact emerges clearly. That is that Canada and Britain have sold each other gilded bricks. Each professes to be pleased with his bargain, but inwardly both are furious. Canada's gold brick is the promise to Britain to reëstablish the tariff board, which was abolished by R. B. Bennett when he became premier. Mr. Bennett has also promised that British manufacturers shall have access to this board and that the Canadian parliament will supplement the findings of this board by legislation if necessary.

Britain's gold brick is her promise to deal by legislative and administrative means with "unfair and uneconomic" competition if and when it may arise. These words are an euphemism for Russian dumping of wheat and lumber which Mr. Bennett wanted specifically prohibited.

Can Squeeze Each Other.

A good tariff board is worth a lot of preferences to Canadian manufacturers and Canada will appoint the board. Britain will be the judge of what is uneconomic competition and of when it arises. Either country may thus squeeze the other if it thinks the other is not playing ball.

It has been decided that no details of the preferences granted by the various countries of the commonwealth to each other shall be published. They form the subjects of parliamentary budgets, but there has been a certain leakage, which must, however, be taken cautiously, as the sources are tainted by special interests.

So far as can be learned, however, Britain agrees to give Canada—and with her the other dominions—a preference of six cents a bushel on wheat, 85 cents a barrel preference on apples, and 15 per cent ad valorem preference on butter and cheese. Britain also agrees to lift the embargo on Canadian potatoes if they are found to be free from the potato bug, and to lift the restrictions on cattle, giving Canadian cattle the same privileges as those accorded cattle from Ireland. A quota of 100,000 tons of dominion bacon has also been fixed. Britain imports 650,000 tons of bacon, of which about 400,00 tons come from Denmark.

Tariff on Copper.

There is also said to be a tax of four cents a pound on copper which, it has been estimated, will wipe out an American trade of about $4,000,000 a year with Britain.

Just what Britain gains in return for her concessions to Canada is not quite clear. One report is that 135 articles have been added to the Canadian free list, and that among them are glassware and cutlery, which might account for the whole list. Textile duties are to be reduced, it is said, by one-third on specific articles, with various reductions on the ad valorem duties on finer grades of goods not made in Canada. Britain tonight was still refusing to put a tariff on meat. Australia, which is pressing for it, may get a small tax—a cent and a half has been suggested—on mutton and lamb, but the British are adamant on beef.

Part Hating Each Other.

So far as consolidating empire feeling is concerned, the conference has been a failure. British and Canadians part hating each other, and while there have been no disputes between Britain and the other dominions or among the dominions themselves, there has been no increase of friendship. Australia and New Zealand are disappointed over what they have received from Britain, and South Africa is no more reconciled to British domination than she ever was.

MADRID, Aug. 19.—Marquis Mastonde, a member of one of Madrid's first families, was shot and killed today by the doorman of his apartment. The doorman had demanded payment for services to his father and family. The marquis replied that he had no money and a scuffle ensued, in which the marquis struck the doorman. The latter drew a revolver and shot the nobleman through the stomach.

Meanwhile, terror shook the aristocracy of Spain today after the government's declaration of war on it, expressed in forced seizure of properties and deportations.

Other members of the nobility, including the duke of Santa Cristina, Count Altamira and Marquis Sennaet, were arrested today in Madrid. Count Guadina, revolt leader at Granada, was rearrested following a demonstration by masses of workers demanding his seizure, which was supported by the Socialist union. Ninety-two noblemen were ordered deported to Africa last night.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Inquiry at the war department today disclosed that the entrance channels and harbors of all the major great lakes ports, such as Chicago and Detroit, will have to be deepened from four to six feet if the St. Lawrence river is developed for navigation and power along the lines proposed by the United States and Canada.

The treaty providing for joint construction of the seaway at a cost of 543 million dollars stipulates that the channels of the St. Lawrence and the rivers connecting the various lakes must be twenty-seven feet in depth, thus affording accommodations for ocean vessels drawing 24 to 25 feet of water. At the present time the great lakes harbors are dredged to accommodate vessels drawing a maximum of 20 or in some instances 21 feet of water.

Larger Vessels Planned.

While the great lakes ports can take care of vessels of the type now in use on the lakes they will not be able to accommodate the larger vessels until the entrance channels are deepened and the inner harbors dredged or blasted out to afford greater depths.

The cost of the harbor deepening together with such other improvements as would be necessary to open the lake ports to ocean trade with the larger deep draft vessels would depend, engineers said today, upon the number of harbors improved and the extent of the work undertaken. War department engineers say the major ports can be made to conform to the depths of the twenty-seven foot channels proposed for the St. Lawrence for between 75 and 100 million dollars. Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, does not believe the cost would exceed 100 millions, including federal, state, and local expenditures.

Sees Need of Breakwaters.

Other estimates ran as high as 175 million dollars for the improvement of the seven major ports on the lakes. The top estimate was made by Harold G. Moulton, economist and president of the Brookings institution of this city in a study of the navigation possibilities of the St. Lawrence. He based his estimate on the assumption that it would be necessary not only to deepen the harbors, but to build breakwaters, reallocate terminals and supply numerous other port facilities.

Up to date a total of 100 million dollars has been expended in improving ports on the great lakes.

In all there are 400 lake harbors, eighty of which have been improved. Only seven American ports are likely to be developed for ocean trade, army engineers said.

Chicago, 20 to 21 Feet.

These ports, together with the draft of vessels they are improved to accommodate, follow:

Chicago, vessels drawing from 20 to 21 feet of water; Milwaukee, 21 feet; Toledo, 21 feet; Cleveland, 19 to 23 feet; Buffalo, 21 feet in entrance channels and inner harbor; Detroit, 21 feet, and Duluth-Superior, 20 feet in inner channels. Calumet and Indiana Harbor each has 20 feet depth in inner harbors.

"I believe," Mr. Moulton said today, "that the cost of meeting the minimum requirements in the way of harbor improvements, port facilities and the terminal reorganizations would reach $25,000,000 for each of the seven American cities mentioned above."

Bette Davis a Bride.

Yuma, Ariz., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The marriage of Bette Davis, Hollywood film actress, and Harmon O. Nelson Jr. of Whitinsville, Mass., here yesterday became known today. Nelson is an orchestra leader and met Miss Davis while they were students in an eastern academy. Miss Davis signed her name as Ruth Elizabeth Davis and gave her age as 25. Nelson, who said he is 25 years of age, told the marriage license clerk he was "a poor musician of Hollywood."

NICE, Aug. 19.—Three weeks ago Maj. John Cyrus Weller, U. S. A., retired, of Fort Sam Houston, Tex., rescued a child from drowning in the surf here. Today the banns were posted at the city hall for the marriage of Maj. Weller, aged 45, and Marie Louise Gerard, the child's sister.

DE VALERA READY TO HALT ECONOMIC WAR WITH BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 19.—It was reported tonight that President Eamon de Valera has dropped his attitude that the Irish Free State should not remain a part of the British empire. As a consequence a speedy settlement with Britain of the tariff war is confidently expected. It is believed that negotiations will be resumed at once with a view of suspending the high tariffs imposed by both governments.

ROB FASHIONABLE CAPITAL COUNTRY CLUB OF $2,900

Bandits Overpower Girl Secretary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Two unarmed bandits today overpowered Miss Fannie Lytle, secretary of the fashionable Congressional Country club, during a daring daylight robbery at the clubhouse and escaped with a bi-monthly pay roll of $2,900 and Miss Lytle's personal automobile.

Miss Lytle was attacked from behind by one of the robbers as she stepped from her car to open the garage doors at the clubhouse. One bandit, whom she described as a cheaply dressed white man about 30 years old, pinioned her arms, and threw her to the ground while his companion entered her car. As the latter started the engine, Miss Lytle's assailant leaped into the automobile and they sped toward Washington over the old river road.

Maryland and Washington police laid a dragnet for the bandits. Good descriptions were furnished by Miss Lytle and several caddies who were attracted to the scene by the secretary's screams.

T. B. Horner, manager of the club, stated that in his opinion the robbers were familiar with the pay day arrangements of the club.

Another Washington woman, Mrs. W. W. Wirgman, well known in local society circles, was robbed of $4,000 in jewelry late last night by a bandit who jumped on the running board of her car.

VATICAN REVEALS SOVIET ORDER TO CLOSE CHURCHES

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 19.—(AP)—"Liquidation" of all but twenty churches, chapels, and houses of prayer in soviet Russia was said by the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano today to have been ordered in a secret decree issued by the soviet government.

The "liquidation" must be completed by Dec. 31, 1933, the newspaper stated, adding that it had learned of the decree from "excellent authority." After that date provision rules would be made by which a number of houses of prayer "will be tolerated for a certain period."

"According to those rules," Osservatore Romano said, "Catholics who live in Russia to the number of more than 2,000,000 will be able to hire altogether only twenty churches, eight of which will be at the disposition of German Catholics. The bolsheviks have decided to give effect as soon as possible to their diabolical plan, elaborated down to the last detail, for a battle against religion."

Burglars Rob Santa Claus' Postmaster's Store of $50

Expect 2,000 Visitors at Fort Sheridan Today

Two thousand visitors from Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan are expected today at the citizens' military training camp at Fort Sheridan. Relatives and friends of the 2,000 men at the camp will witness drills and a review of the camp units by the commander, Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, and will take mess at noon with the citizen soldiers.

Man Critically Injured When Attacked by Horse

Tolono, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Vincent Joyce, 26, living near here, is in a critical condition as a result of being attacked by a horse this morning. He was removed to a Champaign hospital, where two operations were performed.

DOCK MEN STRIKE IN NEW ZEALAND; FIGHT WAGE CUTS

Fate of Labor Unions Is at Stake.

BY QUENTIN POPE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 19.—Unionism and industry came to grips here in earnest today when a nation-wide dock laborers' strike began over working terms. The strike threatens to tie up all transportation. The workers demand that present pay rates be renewed in a new agreement between workers and shipowners. Negotiations have been deadlocked for months.

The old agreement, drawn up by the state industrial commission before the government legislated it into ineffectiveness last March, lapses on Aug. 22, and final proposals put forward by the employers for renewal of the understanding have been rejected by the men by a virtually unanimous vote.

Employers Seek New Pay Cut.

The employers' terms would include pay cuts of 9 per cent of existing rates in addition to a 10 per cent cut imposed by the state labor commission last year. This would make the new rate 46 cents an hour instead of the ruling rate of 50 cents. In addition a revision of the working terms would still further pare rates by providing stricter calculation of time worked and a tightening up of conditions governing payment for overtime.

The dockers are presenting a solid front on the new hire and fire clauses in the employers' terms, which introduce the hitherto unheard of provision that men must complete a job on which they are working before accepting other work and that owners may at any time shorten gangs, transfer workers or dicharge men who are guilty of incompetence, misconduct or refusal to obey orders.

Hostility has also been aroused by a proposed new system of engagement through bureaus at main ports, which, the owners hold, will cut pay checks by 8 cents an hour through ending time wasting on the job.

Owners Stand Firm.

Dockers, most militant of the New Zealand unions, are threatening direct action unless shipowners modify their terms. The owners, however, are firm. Reduced freights and dwindling finances have infused a new spirit into the owners, who have never really faced the workers since a disastrous strike in 1913, when mounted farmers patrolled Wellington streets, gun battles took place in the city and the entire waterfront was aflame.

The workers face the issue with equal stubbornness. Few dockers are now earning more than $10 a week, labor politicians claim, and they are penalized by the nature of their work, which keeps them in seaport towns, where rents and living charges are higher than elsewhere.

With a jobless total of about 100,000 here it seems to some observers that the men are playing right into the owners' hands. But the dockers have such a record for fiercely fought strikes that others believe the owners will hesitate before permitting the strike to last long.

Repeal of the law providing that industrial disputes of this nature must Owners Bar Arbitration.

The old state regulatory laws made the unions impregnable. The new system, applied to the most fiery of the workers' organizations, will show how much fight is left in labor here.

The dispute cannot be taken to the state labor commisison unless both sides are willing, and the employers will not consent to this. The one weapon left to the workers is thus the weapon of the strike. If they fail now it will mean that the unions are on the run.

Back of the whole business is the irony that if the issue were placed before the industrial commission it would probably cut wages still more than the employers are proposing to do. The commission works on government statistics in reckoning an index for cost of living and trade totals, and this shows that the reduction should be nearer 30 per cent than 9 per cent. be taken to the state labor commission, whose decisions are binding on both parties, prepared the ground for strife and the present dispute represents the first real test of the existing strength of unionism in this country, the most highly unionized in the world.

Indiana Students Re-Enact Fort Dearborn Massacre

Twenty students at the University of Indiana yesterday reënacted the Fort Dearborn massacre at the replica of the fort on the World Fair grounds, 27th street and the Outer drive. The students are members of a class which is studying historic sites, Instructor Ross F. Lockridge said, and receive class credit for visits to the scenes of important events.

STABBED TO DEATH IN FIGHT.

Francis Erklin, 30 years old, 5110 South Kolin avenue, was stabbed to death yesterday during a fight in a hobo camp at Jefferson and Harrison streets. Frank Clark, 40 years old, named as the slayer by witnesses, was held by Maxwell street police.

BAIN TESTIMONY ENDS; ARGUMENT TO TAKE 3 DAYS

Judge May Announce Decision Next Week.

All testimony was completed yesterday in the trial of John Bain and three members of his family on charges of conspiracy growing out of the collapse on June 9, 1931, of the twelve Bain banks. The defendants with the south park commissioner are his sons, John H. and Robert A. Bain, and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher.

Judge John M. O'Connor informed counsel as soon as Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber announced that his last witness had been presented that final arguments will start Monday morning and that Mr. Raber and Defense Attorney Francis X. Busch will be allowed a day and a half each. Attorney Busch presented his last witness shortly before Prosecutor Raber finished.

Case Makes Long Record.

Judge O'Connor is hearing the case without a jury. He refused to indicate yesterday whether he will give his decision at the close of final arguments on Wednesday. At the conclusion of the arguments he will have before him one of the longest records ever taken in a criminal trial in Cook county.

Testimony during the ten weeks of the hearing was taken at the rate of some 200 pages a day of transcript alone, making approximately 2,000,000 words of testimony during the trial. In addition the prosecution introduced about 1,300 exhibits, including all of the important books of the closed banks, and the defense had 683 exhibits.

Quiz Bank Examiner.

F. E. Edgerton, chief bank examiner in the office of State Auditor Oscar Nelson, was cross-examined yesterday by Prosecutor Raber, but most of his answers were noncommittal or were direct denials of the charges made by the prosecutor regarding the relations between the state auditor's office and the Bain banks.

Attorney Busch called Edgerton after the state had started its rebuttal testimony and asked him to identify a memorandum given Roy Massena, attorney for the Bain banks, at a conference at which the state auditor authorized the formation of John Bain, Inc. This investment trust, in which Bain banks bought a large amount of stock, took over a number of other Bain enterprises in 1929. The prosecution charges that from its downtown offices Bain directed the operations of all the banks, in violation of the state banking law.

Urged to Remove Stock.

The cross-examination:

Q.—Did you ever give Bain permission to place the capital stock of this company [John Bain, Inc.] in his banks? A.—I don't believe so.

Q.—Did you ever take up with him the matter of removing those items from his banks? A.—We wrote him about it several times.

Q.—Ever do anything more than write him? A.—I don't believe so.

Q.—Did you ever take up with him the matter of running his banks from this downtown office [of John Bain, Inc.]? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know they were shifting assets from bank to bank? A.—[Defense objection sustained].

"This memorandum was introduced to show that the defendants had the authority of the state auditor to perform illegal acts," remarked Prosecutor Raber.

"I object," said Attorney Busch. "There were no illegal acts. The company was sanctioned by the state auditor, that's all."

Investment Permit Sought.

Q.—Did you ever communicate with John Bain about sanction for a downtown office to act as the headquarters for all his banks? A.—I don't believe I did. I understood Mr. Massena came to us to see if it was all right to invest the banks' money in John Bain, Inc. The other matter was incidental.

Q.—You were not concerned with the company acting as agent for the banks? A.—No.

Q.—Not at all. A.—The conference was held with the state auditor.

Q.—What was the influence at your place which allowed these things to go on? A.—[Defense objection sustained.]

Q.—Did Senator Deneen ever come to see you? A.—He may have seen Mr. Nelson; I don't know.

Hiram Kadish, auditor for the prosecution, was the final witness. He testified on some minor matters, was cross-examined at length by Attorney Busch, and then both lawyers told Judge O'Connor that their testimony was all in.

ILLINOIS HOTEL MEN VOTE TO AID DRY LAW REPEAL

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The Illinois Hotel association in convention here voted today to create a fund to aid the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. It was decided to assess each hotel owner five cents per room per month for an indefinite period.

"The money you pay will not be a contribution in any sense," declared Sig. Mayer, manager of the Lafayette hotel in Rockford. "You will get it all back and more in the saving of wear and tear on your furniture."

A fund of $7,800 is expected to result monthly; there are 40,000 hotel rooms downstate and 116,000 in Chicago. The money raised will go to the National Hotel association to use in its fight against prohibition.

Tax laws of the state were condemned by the hotel men and members of the association were urged by J. J. Maloney, president of the Decatur association of commerce, to use their influence to obtain a revision of tax clauses of the state constitution.

Liner Manhattan Reaches Hamburg on Maiden Trip

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 19.—The United States liner Manhattan reached Hamburg today completing her maiden voyage from New York. A large crowd cheered as the liner docked. Capt. George Fried, R. Stanley Dollar, and Kermit Roosevelt will be Hamburg's guests of honor tomorrow. The Manhattan is the biggest ship plying between Hamburg and New York.

WIFE'S MILLION SPENT, SHE SUES J. C. HABERKORN

Charges Candy Maker with Nonsupport.

Joseph C. Haberkorn, 839 Lathrop avenue, River Forest, a candy manufacturer, was charged yesterday with dissipating his wife's fortune of more than $1,000,000 in a bill for separate maintenance filed in the Circuit court by Mrs. Jane Nolan Haberkorn.

Mrs. Haberkorn, according to Attorney John Charles Lewe, is a member of a prominent Pittsburgh family which accumulated a fortune in the steel business. She received her fortune in the form of legacies and annuities, he said.

Married for 27 years.

Mrs. Haberkorn stated in her bill that she was married in 1905 and was forced to leave her husband last Thursday because of his drunkenness and cruelty. She stated she gave her husband power of attorney to manage her properties and collect bequests and payments on annuities in 1925, and that since then he has not only refused to give her an accounting, but has failed to support her. She asks an injunction to prevent his disposing of any of the properties.

Among the properties over which Mrs. Haberkorn asserts she gave her husband control are summer homes at Sugar Camp lake and Brown's lake, Wis., a shooting lodge at Beardstown, Ill., the property on which his factory, the Haberkorn Brothers Candy company, is located, at 1152 West Polk street, and other property in Cook county.

Charges Nonsupport.

Four years ago, the bill stated, Haberkorn began to use "hard liquor." Continuing, it says: "A year afterward he became a habitual drunkard and was cruel, unkind and inhuman while under the influence of liquor. He was wasteful and extravagant, squandering large sums of money belonging to the petitioner, but refused to support her."

The bill charges that Haberkorn did support a race horse, Centava, for which he paid $3,000. Mrs. Haberkorn is now living with her eldest son, Joseph C. Haberkorn Jr., at 837 Erie street, Oak Park. She has three younger sons, William, James, and Mach, with her.

WOMEN SEIZED IN DOPE RAIDS GET SIX MONTHS

Four alleged narcotics peddlers, arrested on Thursday night in raids on apartments at 855 North La Salle street and 713 North Clark street, were held yesterday at the federal building for arraignment before United States Commissioner Walker. They are Mrs. Nell Evans, William Russell, Eugene Gray, and Louis Fugent.

Nine women and seven men were arrested in the raids, in which agents seized morphine valued at $4,000. Five of the women prisoners, said to be confirmed dope addicts, were sentenced yesterday by Judge James F. Fardy to six months in the woman's reformatory in Dwight. They are Louise Murray, 43 years old, 815 North Clark street; Dorothy Adams, 24, of 720 South State street; Marian Phillips, 20, and Jean Houghton, 33, both of 1012 North Clark street, and Margaret Murphy, 34, of 720 North Clark street.

The other prisoners will be viewed by robbery victims at the detective bureau and if no identifications result they will be turned over to the government. They are Evelyn Wilson, 45 years old, 62 West Huron street; Gladys Powell, 23, and Laura Smith, 37, both of 713 North Clark street; Thomas Murphy, Joseph Rable, Ray Carey, and John Brown.

BURGLARS ROB 2 HIGHLAND PARK HOMES OF $3,000

Homes of two Highland Park families were burglarized Thursday night while the families were out of town, police were told yesterday.

From the home of William E. Dodson, 2187 Pine Point drive, a broker, the burglars took $310 in cash and jewelry valued at $1,765. They left a chest of silver. Jewelry, a fur coat, a radio, and other articles of a total value of $1,225 were taken from the home of James G. Austin, 55 South Deer Park drive, an automobile dealer.

Police Chief Edward Maroney of Highland Park cleared up another burglary Thursday night in the suburb by the arrest of three caddies at the Sunset Valley Golf club, the Highland Park municipal course. The three—Robert Bolton and George Doyle of Waltham, Mass., and Raymond Ivory of Indianapolis—confessed taking $150 worth of golf balls and cigarets from the clubhouse. Chief Maroney is satisfied they were not involved in the other burglaries.

Highwood Bank Receiver Agrees to Audit by State

H. A. Smith, receiver for the closed Highwood State bank at Highwood, agreed yesterday to an examination of the bank's books by an auditor for State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county after Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady threatened to call a special grand jury to investigate the bank closing. Depositors recently complained to State's Attorney Smith that directors and members of their families withdrew their deposits shortly before the bank closed.

SCIENCE TO TONE DOWN BETA RAY FOR CANCER TEST

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—A new beta ray so powerful that a flash of it lasting only one ten-thousandth of a second caused the death of a mouse will be toned down at the University of Berlin for experiment on cancer.

Details about the remarkable nature of this ray were explained today by Arno Brasch who, with Fritz Lange, has constructed a 5,000,000 volt X-ray tube that gives the beta radiation.

Beta rays are streams of electrons, one of three kinds of radiation ordinarily obtained from an X-ray tube. The other two are alpha particles, which are heavy nuclei of helium atoms and gamma rays.

Do Not Penetrate Deeply.

Only the latter are used in treating cancer. Both X-rays and radium emit these gamma rays, which are immaterial like light, and penetrate deeply into the body.

Beta rays do not penetrate so deeply. But Dr. Brasch says the beta stream loosed by the enormous voltages on the big tube suggest possibilities worth experimenting with.

These big tube rays penetrate deeply, he said, as compared with previously produced rays of the same kind. He did not give the exact measurements of penetration.

One of the effects of X-rays is to cause secondary beta radiation to be set up in the area where the X-rays strike, their impact releasing electrons from the atoms in the immediate region. But with these more penetrating beta rays Dr. Brasch thinks there will be opportunities to try out more thoroughly than heretofore the effect of direct application.

Mouse Struck by Ray Dies.

"This beta treatment," he said, "requires one ten-thousandth of a second against several hours required by X-rays. A mouse struck by a single bea discharge of 10 raised to the minus fourth power [one ten-thousandth of a second] at a distance of 100 centimeters from the generating course died several days later.

"Tumorous growths of various animals at depths where penetration of beta rays was possible were checked or absolutely healed without damaging the fur.

"Highly developed cultures were killed by from three to four discharges.

"The experiments will probably become increasingly interesting as voltages are raised giving greater intensity and velocity. For therapeutic use the beta ray had to be reduced by passing it through a filter which cut it down to one-thousandth part of its original power.

Strip Electrons from Ray.

The result of thus stripping them from the ray is to leave its composition purely the extremely high voltage electrons.

Inquiry among American cancer experts brought information that experiments on cancer with available beta rays had brought no useful results. While most of these beta rays have been from tubes of much lower voltages than the new German apparatus one natural element, thorium, gives off such rays rated at four and one-half million volts. The thorium emits them in comparatively small quantities.

Curtis and Dolly Gann Due in Chicago Today

Vice President Charles Curtis, who received formal notification of his renomination at Topeka, Kas., Thursday, will arrive in Chicago over the Santa Fé railroad at 10:30 this morning. Mrs. Dolly Gann, his sister, will accompany him. According to George Brumlik, assistant to City Greeter George D. Gaw, Mr. Curtis will leave for the east this evening after a conference with party leaders at the Palmer house. Mrs. Gann will remain a while.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE STATES.

The cost of government in nearly every state has mounted. It seems to have gone up on a curve side by side with the local and the federal governments, and yet the ratio of state costs to the costs of the other two, the local and federal, is low. State costs can be trimmed, but the picture, by contrast, reveals that the states have kept more nearly to their original functions than either of the other forms of government. The taxpayer will find that his state levy is inconsequential compared with the others. What ruins him are the things done at Washington and the things done under his nose, where he is supposed to have the easiest control.

Although the relation of the states to the Union has been changed, the Union swallowing and the states being swallowed, they have retained in their relations to their citizens more of the old form than can be found elsewhere. This may be accounted for by the encroachments of the federal government in taking over a multiplicity of unconstitutional welfare work and social services, but it is the nation and not the state, with a few exceptions, which is being sovietized. The commissars work with federal appropriations.

The average state is functioning, where it still retains responsibility, much along the old line, and, in spite of its increased appropriations, waste, and higher costs, it makes the smallest contribution to the general damage by taxation. That is because it has preserved to a large extent the limitations which were supposed to be contained in the American scheme. The added curiosity is that the limitations have been preserved where the enumeration of them was least. It is the delegated power of the federal government which has burst its bounds.

SOFT FOR THE CONSCRIPT FATHERS.

Genevieve Forbes Herrick's accounts of what makes a senator's life a jolly one in Washington continue, the latest describing the air cooled, block long garage into which, if he does his own driving, he drives his car. A name plate identifies his space, which he reaches after an affable attendant has swung open the doors, and when he has parked he proceeds under cover to the basement of his office building, where three taps on a bell will bring special conveyances, elevator or subway car, to take him where he wants to go. Service with simoleons—other people's. The roses bloom all year around in Washington for senators, and that is why, as Mrs. Herrick says, it's next to impossible to keep many of them out of town at any time. The members of the house of representatives have not been able to do themselves half so well, but some day they will get their spirit up and try it.

Prudent senators will not care much for the revelation of the high life of the Conscript Fathers, not because they do not enjoy it or because they do not intend to provide themselves with it, but because as the picture of it gets back home several kinds of trouble may develop, two of which are apparent. The home folk may think that such a life is much too good for anybody and entirely too good for persons who do not have to worry at any time about the expense. Moreover, it may encourage competition, stimulating the political ambitions of citizens who would like to try the life themselves.

A Conscript Father may find half his constituency racing at his coat tails the next time he is up for reelection, or, worse still, he may be in their dust.

THE WADING'S FINE.

A test at the beaches proves that at most of them the old hickory limb injunction of mother to her darling daughter applies. The provision is for wading. If a strong swimmer wants a little workout he's likely to find himself in a police station, unless a bat with an oar makes him change his mind as to what he wants. The Lincoln park theory is that the swimmer legally may do as he likes, although the guards are inclined to construe it differently, but in other jurisdictions the guard line is the limit, under instruction. The lake's a bathtub.

The ordinary police rules regarding public assembly aim to prevent people from doing things which might cause injury to others and to keep them from going where they might get hurt, whether they are aware or unaware of danger. There's a nice point, however, raised by restrictions which prevent a person from taking advantage of facilities supposedly offered for what he wants. There's a natural hazard in swimming, as the summer casualty list shows. The guards are at the beaches to keep people from becoming victims of danger of which they were unaware or of their own foolishness. The custodialism is supposed to be natural to government. Nevertheless, the sport of swimming is swimming and the competent swimmers cannot get out where they can swim. They get a little beyond the hickory limb, but not much.

CHARTING REVENUE REFORM.

It is to be hoped the preliminary conference of leaders of state organizations interested in revenue reform will result in a unified and vigorous pressure upon the legislature at the next session. Conditions are more favorable to compel action than ever in the history of the state. Every class of our citizens, on the farms and in the towns and cities, is feeling acutely the accumulated consequences of our rigid and obsolete system of taxation. To thousands of our people these consequences are nothing less than tragic. Years of discussion have apprised the press and other leaders of opinion of the basic defects of our state constitutional limitations, and public opinion throughout the state demands relief.

In such a situation it should be more practicable than in the past to frame measures of reform. At the coming election the so-called gateway amendment will be submitted to voters and should be approved. If adopted it will permit the submission of amendments to at least three articles of the constitution and thus will remove the difficulty which has prevented the adoption of previous proposals because of competition. The repeal of the general property tax and the substitution of a system which is adjusted to existing forms of property are long overdue, but it should now be possible to accomplish it. Until it is accomplished the tax chaos which has caused such widespread injury directly or indirectly to all the people of the state must go from bad to worse.

The meeting called by Joseph K. Brittain, chairman of the state and municipal finance committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, was attended by President Smith of the Illinois Agricultural association, Victor Olander of the Illinois Federation of Labor, Ray Wantz of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, County Assessor Jacobs and Dean Thompson of the University of Illinois. This would seem to express the comprehensive character of our present interest in the revenue problem and we hope foreshadows a well considered agreement upon a program which will not fail of adoption.

WAITING FOR THE SUNRISE.

After several spells of hope and disappointment the civic spirit of Chicago takes heart again at the performances of Mr. Bill Veeck's young men and dares to trust that they will carry on in the spirit of the best traditions. There is somehow a feeling that if the Cubs can cop a pennant or two pennants, particularly two pennants, something handsome can be had on them from the Reconstruction Finance corporation or at least from the farm board. The federal pawnbrokers say that a city worthy to be aided must show that it has made the most of its own resources, that it has done the best it can for itself.

That reference to the farm board is, upon reflection, withdrawn. The only thing this city as home of the Board of Trade will ever get from it will be something originating in the Bronx. The Cubs might win ten pennants, the Big Ten football championship, and the next Olympic high diving contests without improving the prospects in that direction. The Reconstruction Finance corporation may take higher ground and recognize that a world championship is good collateral anywhere. It is certain that if Chicago goes into the world series the event will be regarded here as equivalent to a return to the bull market of '29. This may be illusion. It may be a soap bubble. There may be nothing substantial to such a civic achievement, but it would be like a return of beer to the populace, a sunrise in a sky of broken clouds.

THE EMBATTLED BUREAUCRATS.

A Madison, Wis., story says that if the federal bureaucratic services are to be sentenced to death to save the taxpayers 660,000 federal employés will know the reason why. Mr. Johnson, the president of the Madison Federal Employés' association, is authority for it. If any one tries to chase the federal barberry diggers, bug specialists, bullfrog biographers, sheet testers, maternity nurses, pedagogues, patternmakers, etc., off the premises while there are any premises left the amalgamated order of the public pay roll will step in and get tough.

The unconstitutional services of the federal government which have put a drag on every citizen in order to slow him down and go through his pockets have become, as might be expected, vested rights. Although illegitimate in their birth, they have been made the heirs of Uncle Sam and now they are entitled to support.

It will make a nice fight, but it will not last long. The taxpayer cannot survive with the pay roller, but the pay roller will find that he cannot exist without the taxpayer. When the latter has turned up his toes the federal employés may see how far they can get taking in each other's washing.

Editorial of the Day

LITTLE RELIEF NEEDED HERE.

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

It is significant of the general financial and industrial health of Peoria that it is so modest in its demands for relief. But $36,800 is sought from the relief commission for this county. A dozen other counties in Illinois, most of them much smaller, want more—some two and a half times as much.

Diversion of industry, expansion of the freight facilities of the community, the barge service, and the sound condition of the city's financial institutions indicate that Peoria may reasonably hope that the situation disclosed by the relief commission demands will continue to prevail here. It is these attributes of Peoria which tend to keep it from the need for relief which is felt in so many other cities.

If Peoria is so healthy, its people can well afford to maintain an attitude of mind which will operate successfully to offset the psychological depression that in so many places is the result of financial depression. Everybody may be poorer than he was three years ago, but Peoria is a long way from the bottom. It is comfort small, of course, to think that many another lad has had no luck at all; but human beings thrive on self-esteem, and if we can escape the pitfall of smugness and still cherish the knowledge that this community has weathered a storm which shows faint signs now of abating, Peoria will be ready to meet improvement, assuming it comes, with better grace and timeliness.

This is the hope of the little amount sought here for relief. The community that does not now need a great deal of relief is the community that will take the lead when the clouds roll away.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE-LINE: About forty years ago there was a carette company in Chicago, originally owned by the O'Neill family, teaming contractors, who lived out in Oakley avenue, near Washington boulevard. These carettes, drawn by two horses, ran on Adams street, and later extended a route to the north side. They were a sort of bus with steel tires and tread about 12 inches wider than the street car tracks. So two wheels rode on the rails and two jogged over the rough cobblestones.

The carettes had no conductors. Passengers deposited their nickels in a slot which ran "down hill" and into the coin box at front of the old juggernaut where the driver could see the coin arrive. Eventually the carette company went out of business as street car transportation became better. E. W. GARDNER.

Murdoch Campbell, who was building commissioner under Mayor Busse from 1907 to 1911 and for six months under Carter Harrison, employed more than 400 men continuously during the construction period of the World's Fair of 1893. He came to Chicago from Canada in 1856 and lived here until his death in 1913.

He was in the manufacturing business at Van Buren and Franklin from the time of the big fire of 1871 until 1880, and then went into construction activities, where he became known as contractor for the erection of many large buildings in Chicago and various parts of the United States. J. ALBERT CAMPBELL.

Does not the enclosed booklet (booklet enclosed) covering the annual spring training trips of the White Sox to California in 1910 and 1915 and to Texas in 1916 remind of days that have departed?

Those old training trips were made in special trains. Members of the team, their wives, White Sox officials, newspaper correspondents, and a surprising number of fans, mostly members of the Woodland Bards, filled the train.

La Salle Street station, on the eve of departure, was always crowded with enthusiastic fans bidding the party adieu and good luck. Billy Leahy and Fred Francis of the Rock Island and Harry Grabiner and Lou Comiskey attended to final details while "Old Roman" Comiskey held court and then waved his soft gray hat aloft at the team followers as the train pulled out. INTO THE BLUE.

Hunted by a dream,
All the world's a sorry place,
Let us ford the stream.

Of desires unfulfilled,
Back to long ago,
Ere the wine of love was spilled,
Life was better so.

All we seek today is peace,
All we ask is rest,
And we'll go into the blue

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

WE HAVE BEEN WONDERING whether the Cubs would "crack" under the strain of the close pennant race and this nerve-wracking series with Boston just ended. If they don't, and they give no indication thereof so far, what about the spectators? Take that fifteen inning affair Thursday. It was not like the usual overtime contest. From the ninth inning until the finish there was not a single inning in which there was not opportunity for scoring. This battle by both teams for ONE run gave fans more sacrifice hits, more substitutions of batters and pitchers, more offensive and defensive strategy than usually shown in half a dozen contests.

SPEED THE DAY.

Harve: Wouldn't it be a funny thing if this here old depression took a sudden notion, all by itself, to quietly sneak away while President Hoover is still in the White House, while chain stores continue to take their slice of business, before any one gets a chance to cancel the war debts, without any two billions for useless postoffices, and without test of many remedies still existing only in the form of suggestions? And wouldn't one political party be just about out of campaign material? EUGENE PASCHALL.

THE SCALDED FOLK.

THE writer, after several hours' observation on the street cars, saw a considerable number of sunburned people, as well as many who were tanned. Some of the burned were suffering from blisters; in some, the skin had a peculiar, almost blistered appearance due to small collections of serum; but most of the injured skins, while fiery red, were smooth. This was a part of the crop of skin troubles due to exposure during the previous forty-eight hours. Those of a week earlier showed as areas of peeling.

Many of the sufferers seen are in trouble because they were heedless of consequences. They have been in the same fix more than once and they are suffering now because of thoughtlessness and inability to profit by experience. They were in the sunshine along with others. They stayed because others did or because they were unwilling to be different. In the ascent of man those who have failed to profit by experience were wiped out, but, it would seem, not until they had left some progeny.

A number of these burned are suffering because they have heard that too much sunlight was good for the constitution, or something. First, let us say it is not good for the skin. Our standards of a good skin are based on skins that have been protected. In elephant circles the skin that excites admiration is one that is very coarse, wrinkled, and filled with holes.

In the gorilla world the skin that the population falls for is one that is covered with coarse hair. But the human skin which is the subject of song and story, and that everybody yearns for, must meet standards that are not compatible with exposure. It is unreasonable to expect a blistering, burning process, bad enough to cause a man to shed like a snake, to improve the quality of the skin.

Nor is tanning good for the skin texture. There are some who realize that prolonged exposure to sun and wind harms the skin, but they expose themselves in spite of that because they think they are building up the constitution and benefiting the general health. Sunlight is a valuable medicine.

It is also a strong medicine. Given in proper doses to those who need it, sunlight is better than any medicine that was ever put in a bottle. There is no quarrel with the use of sunlight in proper doses. The quarrel is with those who say, in effect: "Fifteen drops of this medicine cured Charlie, but he was sick several days. I will drink a bottle of it and get well quick." Or, "Henry was sick. He took this medicine and was cured. I, too, am sick. My disease is not the same as his, I know, but if it was good for him I want to try it."

FEELING NOSE.

R. C. writes: How can I prevent my nose from peeling after it has become sunburned? Since the summer began my nose has been peeling almost daily, and it has been that way for several years. It becomes extremely red and is always shaggy looking with the skin coming off. Sometimes, if I put my fingers on my nose after being in the hot sun, it has an oily feeling which I do not think is sweat, and when the skin peels off it has holes in it from my pores. I sometimes think the pores in my nose are too large and that is what causes the peeling. What can I do for it?

REPLY.

You should avoid excess exposure. It is proper for an overexposed nose to peel. The nose is richly supplied with grease glands. That they should pour out grease when irritated is natural.

In short, every part of the picture is just what you should expect. Nothing is wrong except an overdose of sunlight.

TO AVOID BRIGHT'S.

A. C. writes: My father died recently of arteriosclerosis and chronic Bright's disease (of over 30 years standing), at the age of 75.

1. Is there likely to be a hereditary tendency to both of these diseases, or, rather, an inclination for offspring to have them.

2. What can be done in the way of diet and health habits to avoid them? I am 43 years old.

3. What is the cause of vertical ridges on the nails?

REPLY.

1. Yes, to a limited extent.

2. Avoid lead poisoning and syphilis. Do not use alcoholic beverages. Do not be a heavy meat eater or a gormand. Avoid rich and highly seasoned foods. In a general way, live sensibly and eat and behave about like other people do.

3. I don't know, but the condition is not important from the health standpoint.

DIZZY AFTER SMOKING.

L. B. S. writes: What makes one feel dizzy after smoking cigars? When I finish smoking a cigar I feel rather nervous. Is this dangerous?

REPLY.

Probably you are using too much tobacco and should materially lessen your daily dose. If you are a beginner, you have not become immune to the alkaloids of tobacco. As a rule, beginners who have your symptoms stick until tobacco loses the power to cause the symptoms noted. Some quit smoking.

BLOOD AND PARENTAGE.

M. B. C. writes: Do you believe that it is possible to establish the identity of a child by blood examination of child and parent?

REPLY.

No. It may be possible to establish that the two are in the same blood group, but that is a long way from establishing the relationship of father and child.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

PROCEDURE OUTLINED.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—[Friend of the People.]—I am a naturalized citizen of the United States and have steady employment. I have a 17 year old son in the Netherlands whom I would like to join me here. Would the immigration officials allow him on those grounds, and what are the formalities he and I have to observe to facilitate a speedy entry? J. A. S.

It is presumed that the son in question was born prior to the claimed naturalization of the father and, if this be so, the writer may be advised to apply at this office for form 633, on which he may petition the secretary of labor for the issuance of a non-quota immigration visa in behalf of his son. If, on the other hand, the son was born subsequent to the naturalization of his father, he became a citizen of the United States at the time of his birth and may apply to the nearest American consul for United States passport. K. I. ZIMMERMAN,
Assistant District Director of Immigration.

WITNESSING WILL.

Dowagiac, Mich., Aug. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please tell me whether in making a will [1] all the witnesses are required to be together and sign at the same time. 2. Is an attorney required? 3. Must a will have an attorney's signature to be legal? P. G.

1. Yes.
2. The statute does not require an attorney, but expert advice is worth while.
3. See 2.

INHERITANCE TAXES.

Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a single person who wishes to will (after death) all his property, in different sums, to his nephews and nieces, just as if there were no national and state inheritance taxes, and will then the inheritance taxes be deducted according to law from each beneficiary? H. G. S.

If the will makes no contrary provision the state inheritance taxes will be deducted from the shares of the beneficiaries. The federal estate tax is a tax upon the estate rather than upon the gifts and hence would be paid by the estate so that the gifts would be net to the beneficiaries in this respect. The testator can make any provisions that he desires by incorporating directions in his will.

BOTH LEGAL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a divorced couple were married in Crown Point, Ind., on the same day the man's divorce decree from his former wife was signed in the state of Illinois, is this marriage legal? 2. If a will is made some years ago with a lawyer and in 1930 this man has the same will copied by a public stenographer, using the exact wording except changing the name of the former wife and putting in the present one [all this without a lawyer], having two or three witnesses sign, is this legal? R. R.

1. Yes, as far as the facts stated are concerned.
2. Yes, if the wording of the attestation clause is in fact complied with.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 20, 1916.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Seizure of the railroads by the government and their operation by the government, temporarily at least, may be invoked by President Wilson unless a settlement of the railway wage controversy is reached by Aug. 22. The President is prepared to take the most daring and drastic action in the history of the republic, if necessary, to avert a general railroad strike and compel the carriers to yield to the terms of the settlement of the wage dispute proposed by the President with the approval of the unions. Following a refusal of the railway presidents to accept the eight hour day plan, Mr. Wilson issued a statement tantamount to an appeal for public approval of his position. The employers also made a public plea for arbitration.

CHICAGO. — Max Silver, another "private banker," skipped out, leaving a cordon of police to keep some 15,000 Jewish and Russian depositors from tearing down his three banking houses in revenge for $200,000 of their money, probably lost. The main disturbance was at 848 Maxwell street, the principal banking house of Adolph Silver & Co. Before he vanished Max Silver, brother of Adolph Silver, wrote a letter in which he confessed the defalcation. The two other Silver banks are 1208 South Jefferson street, and 744 West Twelfth street.

LONDON.—British troops drove forward in new gains at many points along the eleven mile front north of the Somme. Gen. Haig reported to the war office the capture of a ridge held by the Germans north of Thiepval, the capture of the northern slope of a high strategic position north of Pozieres and the taking of the western edge of the Foureaux wood, also known as the "High" wood, southeast of Martinpuich. Other British detachments advanced 800 yards east of Pozieres, while on the right the British line was advanced half way to Ginchy village. The great battle, renewed with the greatest violence on Aug. 17, continued to rage with unceasing fury throughout the day. As a result of this terrific fighting the kaiser's hold on five French villages is threatened.

PARIS.—The French have driven the Germans out of the portion of the trench north of Maurepas in which they penetrated in their counter attack last night, according to an official statement by the war office. In the Argonne the French exploded a mine which wrecked the enemy's advanced works at Vauquois.

BERLIN.—Another bombardment of Venice by Austrian aircraft on the night of Aug. 16 in retaliation for an Italian raid on Trieste on Aug. 14 is announced in an Austrian admiralty statement. The railroad station, the arsenal, and military magazines were extensively bombarded.

PETROGRAD.—The Russians have broken through the Austro-German lines on the Stokhod river in Volhynia and have made a considerable advance, it was officially announced. The break in the Austro-German front was made in the region of the village of Czerwiaszcze, forty miles northeast of Kovel. The Russians captured the village of Tobol.

NEW YORK.—Miss Alice Mazaryk, formerly a social worker in the Chicago University settlement in Chicago, has been released from prison in Vienna, where she was held on the charge of high treason against the Austrian government. The announcement was made public by Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul general to the United States, who said Miss Mazaryk was released on July 3.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Claude Veasey of the Hyde Park hotel was killed, her husband was probably fatally hurt and numerous others seriously injured as a result of a rear end collision on the Chicago-Milwaukee electric line in Glencoe.

VERBOTENS ON THE BEACH.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Let us hope the story of the expert swimmer's inability to get beyond tadpole limits, as told in THE TRIBUNE, will enable good swimmers to get into the deep water of our lake. Your reporter quotes H. Otto Weege, superintendent of Lincoln park, as believing a strong swimmer should be allowed to go as far as he wants beyond the boat line. Mr. Weege, it is apparent, merely believes this; it is evident his guards have no such liberal recommendations. Of late years the swimmer at all our beaches has encountered enough verbotens to make him think he lived in pre-war Germany, with our life guards like princes strutting their brief hour of authority.

Last Saturday, being a hot and sticky day, I left the office carrying my bathing suit. Merely to secure the privacy necessary for changing I went into the men's dressing shelter at North avenue, intending to carry my clothing out with me. I was told I could not even change unless I had a ticket. I presume a ticket was 10 cents. However, if I had cared to pay it, it would have been more money wasted, as on sauntering to the water side I found the guards dozing comfortably, all set for a restful afternoon because swimming had been forbidden all swimmers on account of choppy water. It was moderately wavy water in which any swimmer could swim without danger, and the alternative was a trek down to Oak street beach and its shallow garlic soup, bacilli gravy, or what have you.

A life guard I know says he believes the beaches should be for the swimmers as much as the life guards. Most of the latter are fine, agreeable lads, willing to give what rope they can; but evidently they are working under orders. On the other hand it is a feather in their cap if they can work a whole summer without a "plunge"—i. e., retrieving a drowned person. On that account a competent swimmer often must linger ashore and listen to the bellyflappers waddle home from shallow water telling what a wonderful swim they had. A good swimmer will avoid the public beaches and go to spots along the shore where he can swim to his distance without park verbotens. TERRY.

THINK HARD AND YOU'LL GET IT.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—While attending the art fair in Grant park I noticed one of our society matrons admiring one of the pictures on exhibit. So I hurried over to hear what she would say to one of her friends who was in her company. While standing there I could not hear every word, but this is what I heard when they were about to leave. She said, "Look at the one on the end. That is awful pretty." Right then and there I was stunned, for I did not know whether the picture was awful or pretty. To me it was vivid and colorful and not awful pretty. ROMAN B. KELLAR.

Winnetka, Ill., Aug. 13.—I have been a subscriber of THE TRIBUNE for thirty years, but if you allow the author of Little Orphan Annie to continue his persecution of that character I intend to discontinue my subscription. CALEF.

THE MIDSHIPMEN'S MILK.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Referring to the letter from the naval second lieutenant, I cannot see that charging the milk to the small pay of the midshipmen is any excuse for the navy's being in the dairy business at enormous expense. The milk should be bought from one of the many excellent dairies in the vicinity, and the saving returned either to the midshipmen or the United States treasury. A. R. F.

FIRE FIGHTING TECHNIQUE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Much has been said and much is to be done, according to the newspapers, in regard to the investigation of the fire at the Omaha Packing company and the elevator. For thirty years I was a member of the Chicago fire department. The reason this fire got away is on account of Siamesing lines. Each company coming into a big fire has to stretch out two lines and Siamese them, causing a delay of sometimes over half an hour before there is any water put on a fire. This practice is nonsensical and has been the cause of every big fire in Chicago getting away; and in my opinion the main thing in fighting fire is getting water on a fire in the least possible time.

Companies responding to fires with three and four men are expected to drag 3½ inch hose around at the command of superiors and are dogged and downed because they have not man power enough to drag the hose.

Why does a building have to stand and burn while a few men are breaking their necks trying to drag 3½ inch hose and Siamese it when one line of 2½ inch hose would at least hold the fire in control if applied as in previous years?

I don't expect you to publish this, because it hits the spot too well. I could not stay in the department and willfully take the taxpayers' money for rendering them this kind of service. J. J. M.

HISTORY IN THE COMIC STRIPS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—I wish to express my appreciation of the new series of Gasoline Alley cartoons. Heretofore I have never paid much attention to the strip, but now that the cartoonist is using American history events as a background he is not only giving the humorous side but also a side that actually is teaching the children American history. Today the public schools are so lax in the middle west when it comes to teaching the history of our country that it is noticeable. More real history can be taught through moving pictures and also when a cartoonist combines his story with this background than by months of dry book reading and uninteresting teachers. R. E. FOSTER.

INCINERATORS IN THE BUILDING CODE.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—I am advised that early in September the building code comes up before the city council for consideration. I recommend in all future construction the installation of a garbage incinerator, whether the construction be small or large. This installation of an incinerator would do away with the removal of garbage, thereby saving money for the taxpayers, and our alleys would be clean at all times. O. G. PETERSON.

Miss Eileen Sparrow (left) and Miss Betty McKay discussing plans, perhaps for the Arden Shore ball or perhaps their own plans for the coming winter. They are among the north shore girls who will assist in arranging the Arden Shore association's annual ball to be held on Dec. 10. Miss Sparrow, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. K. McKays of Wilmette, has about decided to give up college, having completed her sophomore year at Northwestern last year.

How Bicycle Club Learned About Stars

Richard Schmidt Tells of Early Studies.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

ALONG about the middle of the elegant eighties four young college graduates — Montgomery Ward, George R. Thorne, A. G. Spalding, and Richard E. Schmidt—spent at least three or four evenings a week stretched out on a sand dune in Jackson park smoking their pipes and wondering why Sirius didn't stand still.

At last young Mr. Schmidt volunteered to find out. He obtained an old German lexicon and went to work to study the dog star. Soon the stag cycling parties that encamped on the Jackson park sand dune had turned into astronomical round tables.

Yesterday Mr. Schmidt, now the well known architect, recalled these sessions as he told the story of his "amateur" interest in astronomy. The conversation was prompted by an inquiry concerning the interest Chicago's amateur star gazers will take in the total eclipse scheduled for the last day of this month. On this date, you have undoubtedly heard, the moon will intervene to hide the sun completely from view.

"With the zone of eclipse running through the province of Quebec and skirting the city of Montreal, there won't be very much in it for astronomers this far west," Mr. Schmidt explained. "But did you ever find an amateur that didn't want to try his hand at measuring and filming this natural phenomenon?"

As a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Mr. Schmidt ran down frequent references to astronomy, but as he admitted yesterday, he was more interested in those days in spending his spare time riding a high bicycle.

"It was when I came back here in 1885 to my home at Wabash and 18th and joined the Chicago Bicycle club—it had quarters with the Chicago Yacht club on Michigan between Jackson and Van Buren—that I took the rides that prompted my study of the stars," he said.

In later years, when Mr. Schmidt moved from the south to the north side, he ordered an observatory built into the top of his Bellevue place home.

"It served its purpose then," he commented, "for there wasn't a building east of Michigan avenue or north of Pearson street. But now it's of little use. I have to do most of my observing in the country.

"You know street lights and smoke, moisture, and heat are the bane of an astronomer's life," he continued. "A telescope magnifies every motion just as many times as it magnifies a star. Too much moisture is bad because it reflects the light and gives the sky a milky appearance."

One of Mr. Schmidt's telescopes—an eight inch equatorial—is on exhibition now at the Planetarium. It has a lens made by Alvan Clark of Cambridge, who made the giant lens in use at Yerkes observatory, also that at the Lick observatory in California.

Credit in good measure is due many amateur astronomers for down through the years they have, in many instances, become the most famous students of the science. Take Galileo, for example, who was first to make extended and practical use of the telescope, and Sir William Herschel who gave up a career as a musician to study the stars. Each started as an amateur. Or to come down to the present, note Dr. George E. Hale, now director of the Mount Wilson observatory at Pasadena.

The son of a well known manufacturer of elevators, Dr. Hale was interested in astronomy only as a youthful amusement when he persuaded his father to buy him a telescope and build him the observatory at 46th street and Drexel boulevard, well known to old Chicagoans.

On Vacation in Wisconsin

Many Women Enjoy Benefit at Lake Forest

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE has been such a dearth of large parties this summer, even in Lake Forest, that the card players of that fashionable village welcomed the chance to attend the card party given yesterday afternoon at Mrs. Robert J. Thorne's residence on North Sheridan road and consequently the Chicago Lying-In hospital will benefit materially, for the entire proceeds will go to that institution.

The party was more like a private party than a charity one, for most of the guests were neighbors of Mrs. Thorne's, and if it had not been for the little car on exhibition in front of the house with a huge sign announcing that it was being sold for the benefit of the hospital one never would have realized that the affair was anything more than a hostess repaying a lot of social obligations with one huge party.

Unlike most charity card parties there were no prizes, for every one who took a table received a share in the automobile.

Thorne Home Spacious One.

The Thorne residence is spacious enough so that the large number of tables could be scattered through enough rooms to keep any room from being crowded, and there were players in the huge hall, the drawing room, the library, the solarium, the terrace, and even in some of the upstairs rooms. There was one backgammon table out in the sun at the foot of the stairs leading from the terrace to the gardens with Mrs. John A. Prosser and Mrs. Walter Hoving playing what appeared to be a close game. At a table in the hall were Mrs. John L. Senior, chairman of the committee in charge; Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, and Mrs. Charles H. Morse.

Women dislike having their clothes described this late in the season when summer things all seem old and it is a little early to be wearing complete fall outfits. For this reason I will refrain from describing their costumes, although all four of these women looked smart and lovely, and instead will write about the lovely, large and well proportioned hall in which they were playing. The floor is of black and white marble squares and the walls are of beautiful grained hard wood, a perfect background for the crimson and gold draperies that give the only touch of bright color to the apartment.

Furniture of Massive Type.

The furniture is all massive and old and the red velvet that covers some of the antique pieces has that soft and mellow look that only time gives. Two huge white bear skins were on the floor, one in front of the door and the other in front of the large fireplace. Two large tapestries and a suit of armor were among the other furnishing of the beautiful room that linger in my memory.

I'm not describing costumes, but I must mention cunning young Mary Senior's bright red hat, for it was the gayest, perkiest chapeau imaginable and very becoming to this golden haired daughter of the John L. Seniors, who is to make her debut the coming season.

After the game tea was served. Some of those at the party were Mrs. Thorne's daughters, Mrs. George Gillespie of Phoenix and Mrs. Carson Ellis of Lake Forest; Mrs. William R. Odell, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. E. A. Russell, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mrs. Willard Boyden, Mrs. Ernest Freund, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Joseph C. Belden, Mrs. Woolsey Pollock, Mrs. Keene Addington and her son's wife, Mrs. James R. Addington; Mrs. Donald P. Welles and her sister, Mrs. Edward K. Welles [the Scott sisters married brothers, you know], and Mrs. John G. Curtis.

Logans Postpone Birthday Party.

Yesterday was Mrs. Stuart Logan's birthday, but the party which she and Mr. Logan give every summer on Aug. 19 has been postponed until the first week of September. The party is always one of the loveliest of the summer, and the 40 or 50 friends whom the Logans invite each year are happy to know that they may look forward to another similar celebration this season.

The Logans' penthouse atop the building at 2344 Lincoln Park West is a lovely place to entertain during warm weather when the guests may dance on the terraces under the stars. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Terbell [Phoebe Logan] are coming from New York in September for Ann Ashcraft's wedding to Raymond Mitchell on the 10th, and they'll arrive in time to attend the Logans' party.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan are still hoping to run up to Desbarats for a few days between now and early September. They had planned to visit the Edwin Stanleys on their island there a fortnight ago, but the active stock market ticker has been keeping Mr. Logan close to his office.

Ellen Truax Debut Plans

When Miss Ellen Truax, the first debutante of the season, makes her bow to society next Saturday afternoon she will be assisted by 10 young women who have been her friends through her grammar school and college days. The list includes Miss Eleanor Roberts, Miss Barbara and Miss Caroline Bullard, and Miss Janet and Miss Dorothy Bard, all of Highland Park; Miss Ruth Johnstone of Kenilworth, Miss Jane Wood of Deerfield, Miss Mary Ross of Lake Bluff, Miss Beatrice Larson of Wilmette, and Miss Florence Farcette of Norfolk, Va., who was Ellen's roommate at Swarthmore college.

Miss Truax will be presented at a tea to be given by her grandmother, Mrs. William E. Egan, and her mother, Mrs. Sewall Truax, at Egandale, their residence in Highland Park. If the weather lives up to its late summer

Stylish New Things Reach Stores Daily

BY RHEA SEEGER.

EVERYTHING new is coming to town, clothes, costume jewelry, gloves, hats, coats and suits, all to be unpacked quickly and perched in the most tempting places to snare the extra dollars of the shopper.

These new things are grand . . . most of the clothes are designed to make us all look flatteringly feminine, with soft full sleeves, deliciously slender silhouettes and quantities of frills knowingly and artistically decorating the ensemble.

Among the newest arrivals you will notice especially, the lounging costumes of velveteen . . . the pajamas are as trick as a pert fashion model, tailored severely in a masculine manner with three pearl buttons dashing across the chest. Real usable pockets are planted over each hip and a narrow belt to accent the fitted waistline is of the same velveteen.

If you avoid pajamas this year, you will probably cheer for some velveteen robes that are piped with white around the collar, pockets, cuffs and belt. Four well developed pockets are patched to these robes, which is a swell idea for the gal who totes all excess baggage in the way of extra hankies, cigarets, cases, and manicure implements, so that she may spend her lounging hours with something to do.

The colors are positively good enough to eat . . . jade green, deep ruby red, a soft faded old blue and a brilliant Chinese vermilion, and the price tags will certainly stun you.

Something else to write home about is the new sports jewelry . . . if you have lost all desire to jounce upon a horse, and even the thought of mounting the most gentle of nags terrifies you, you can't help but trot up to the displays of this horse show stuff and spend as much as you can for some unusual new pieces.

You can wear bracelets made of tiny snaffles and chained together stirrups fashioned in a gold metal that doesn't tarnish. You will see horse shoe nails perfectly rounded into good luck finger rings of the same metal, as well as a string of small nails fastened to a square, squatty head forming one of the best looking necklaces you could possibly wear with your new brown and forest green sports tweeds.

At last you can buy some horse head jewelry without ruining the bank balance . . . clever copies of the expensive hand painted crystal affairs that have hitherto languished only in prohibitively priced displays that made you green with envy.

These very inexpensive copies are a find for the open hunting season on distinctive gadgets for your riding and country clothes. You can wear tie clips with a round button head of a racy looking steed . . . good looking bracelets with a trio of trotters, nose to the wind, hitched to a gold linked chain, for your wrist . . . old fashioned brooches and some earrings, all with sleek equine blue ribbon winners pictured behind glass in button shapes.

They are showing some new clips in gold metal, almost two inches in diameter in circle formation with what they call a swivel initial that pivots to any point of the compass, enabling you to plant it securely and right side up to the reading public . . . these come in both silver and gold, you wear them on your berets, bags, scarfs and coat lapel.

Leonard Firestone Will Be Married September 14

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Leonard Kimball Firestone, son of Harvey Firestone, rubber magnate, will be married here on Sept. 14 to Miss Polly Curtis. Wedding plans were announced tonight by Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Curtis of New York and Brookfield, Conn., parents of the bride elect. The ceremony will be performed in the Church of the Ascension by Dr. Boyd Edwards, assisted by the Rev. John A. MacSporran. Only immediate members of the families will attend. After the ceremony the couple plan to go abroad.

World History Since War Told in News Reels

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Cry of the World" is a chain of news reels dealing with international affairs during the epoch starting with the world war. It is, paradoxically, the longest and most concise pictorial digest of history making events that has ever been assembled. It is vastly informative, engrossingly interesting and should be seen by everybody who has attained the age of reason.

From scenes of that greatest cataclysm—the war of 1914-'18—you are carried to Russia—to Germany—to Italy, India, Great Britain, China, Spain. You hear the thunder of Mussolini, the voices of Hitler, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, George Bernard Shaw and many others of renown. Kings, gangsters, reformers, diplomats pass before you, intent on the business that has caused their names to be shouted from the housetops, while subtitles abet the communications of photography and sound.

"Cry of the World," according to a press sheet, "shows dramatice progress toward the realization of an ideal." Let us hope that the pandemonium revealed is, indeed, progress. For if it isn't that—may the Lord help us all!

Visitors' Day Will Be Held Tomorrow.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A hundred youngsters who have spent most of the summer at Camp Algonquin rebuilding undernourished bodies tomorrow will exhibit their handicraft fashioned during the hours of their recuperation. The annual exhibit will be open to the public and Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent, hopes that friends of the camp will drive out to visit the Fox river haven for tenement mothers and their children.

"Visiting hours will be all day except from 1 to 3:15 p. m., which is rest period," Mrs. Save said. "The children have really made some very useful articles and they will be happy to have visitors see them."

Tomorrow will be the all-summer children's last Sunday in camp. They will leave for their homes in the city on Friday and will take back with them health gains that will amaze their parents. Dietitians and nurses through constant watchfulness have caused these tenement children to regain their health so that they will be able to attend school this fall.

The free ice fund received $4, the receipts of a benefit performance given in the 700 block on Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, by Sara Jane Woodyard, Phyllis and Eileen McLaughlin, Martha McLoun, Barbara, Lorna, Mary Lou and Joan Cushing, and June Buhrke. The South Shore Babies' Aid and Dorothy Mohn sent $5 each, Anonymous, $3, and Martha Christof and Judy Baldenineck, $1 each. This gave the fund a total of $1,050.99.

Gifts to the camp and ice fund should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

The Face Needs More Attention in Hot Weather

It Should Be Cleansed Twice a Day.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Women who've been wearing white wash gloves this summer gather a fair idea of how much soil the hands pick up in a day. In less than a day, as a matter of fact, because they're not kept on all day. But it's a rare one of us who survives the day without a little glove washing job for the pair worn. Isn't it true?

Now, if gloves pick up that much dust and grime, how about the face? True, the face isn't into everything. But it's into enough. It may not handle the papers on the way into town in the a. m. It may not brush itself across a desk or rub a counter or open a door, and so on. But if the hand does it, the face is going to get some of that grime before the day's over. For we do carry on more face rubbing with hands than we think.

What I'm getting at is not the need of washing gloves and hands, though they need it, all right. But that the skin needs cleansing at least twice every day in summer time. There's more oily excretion during the hot weather, for one thing. There's more perspiring. And there's more wind and dust to be met with.

And there is more need of the cooling water after the face cleansing, too. For both the cooling effect and for the astringent value to the skin. For a very oily skin, the washing rite may be exaggerated to a third time of day without damage to the skin. Use warm water and soap; a warm water rinse; then cold and cold, and colder. An ice rub won't hurt. The idea is to get the oil glands in better working order by stimulation. So, don't be afraid of too much cold water. But wash with warm, understand. And keep away from oily creams for the time being.

The new skin fresheners are awfully nice to use for daytime pick-me-ups. Unroll your bit of fresh cotton and use one after the face wash. It does something nice to the face—and to the morale.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

Studio Hunts Dad Warbucks for Film Annie

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 19.—Fred Robertson, director for the screen adventures of "Little Orphan Annie," was running all over the Radio-RKO film plant today with a couple of strips of Harold Gray's cartoon clutched in his hand. He eyed every actor he saw, because the lot is in a commotion trying to select a type who looks like Daddy Warbucks.

Reliance Pictures, which has Edmund Lowe under contract for a series of films, now announces a deal with Mrs. Lowe [Lilyan Tashman], which makes the first time the pair will have worked on the same lot in years. Miss Tashman is to be made the central figure in a picture framed around the romance and drama of the women's fashion profession.

The story will provide a chance to parade gowns which will dazzle the ladies, worn by beauties who will delight gentlemen film fans. It is planned to adapt the gowns to models chosen for lovely legs, beautiful backs, perfect features, and the accentuation of hair dress.

Former co-workers of Irene Kuhn at the New York News gathered last night to witness a successful preview run of the film, "Amazon Head Hunters," whose language Miss Kuhn provided.

Following the two halts called on the filming of "Mask of Dr. Fu Manchu" at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer last week and this week, Charles Vidor has been replaced as director, and the studio is using the services of eight different screen writers in an effort to throw together an airtight story that will satisfy the desire for a big hit when released.

Edward Sheldon, the playwright, will act as godfather and Helene Costello as godmother when John Blyth Barrymore, second child of John Barrymore and Dolores Costello, will travel to St. Andrew's Catholic church in Pasadena for christening Sunday morning.

Douglas Fairbanks sails Thursday from San Francisco on the Chichibu Maru to satisfy an ambition to shoot a tiger in Manchuria. He's taking a cameraman and two other pals along, but doesn't know if he will record the Manchurian adventure, as he did his last two jaunts to the orient and Tahiti, in the form of a film for public release.

Considerable legal fuss and feathers is in the offing before Jimmy Cagney and Warner Bros. find out whether Jimmy is still bound to that studio, following his walkout. Cagney is reported by his attorney and business agent here as on his way back to Hollywood to take a job with another studio. The attorney says Warners lost their contract rights to Cagney's service by not giving notice of renewing his option last Aug. 15."

Warners say that Cagney was the one who violated the contract, and when the studio notified him of his suspension it was not necessary to observe the niceties of option renewal because the remaining four years of his contract could not begin to be observed until the actor resumed his work.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

After a summer of closed doors McVicker's theater opened yesterday with the four Marx Brothers in "Horse Feathers." Do you think you can wait until next Thursday to see it, boys and girls? Every one who has seen it reports a most hilarious comedy so we should have a good time at our party there.

The winners have been selected and their names will appear in tomorrow's SUNDAY TRIBUNE. If your name is in the winning list you'll receive an invitation sometime before Thursday. If your name doesn't appear there, take heart, for ther'll be news for you, too—the announcement of another good party.

In competing for an invitation next week be sure to follow the rules—they're simple enough. Only one name must be signed to a letter, and you may not ask for an invitation for any one except yourself. If you'd like to have some one else accompany you, he or she must write a letter, too. Don't fail to mention your age and be sure that your name and address appear clearly. Very often I am obliged to eliminate a good letter because the writer fails to follow these rules.

I Like You So Much

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Gold Franklyn calls Dr. Elverton, who has a surgery in a poor district of London, to attend her indolent, dependent, young half brother. The doctor offers to give Barney Pierce, a well to do accident victim, a lift to his destination, and Pierce waits while the doctor makes his call. He catches a glimpse of the pretty young creature who summoned the doctor. Pierce determines to help the plucky orphan girl. The doctor is to sail the next week to New York and Havana on a leave, taking the ship doctor's place. Mrs. Doris Hathaway, a widow, friend of Pierce's, is to sail on the same boat. She wants a maid-companion for the Atlantic crossing. The doctor sends Gold to see Mrs. Hathaway and she gets the job. Pierce regrets putting Gold under the demoralizing influence of the mercenary Doris. He decides to sail himself. David Dorrance, who wants to interest Pierce in a business deal, sails on the same boat. Gold is angered by Pierce's cynicism and distrust of women. Gip Alen, Gold's half brother, stows away on the boat. Pierce overhears Gip threatening Gold and, unknown to her, arranges to get Gip third class passage, and from New York sends him to his Texas lumber camp for a six months' try out. Gold accepts Dorrance's offer of a position as his secretary on the Havana trip. She also does some work for Pierce, under Dorrance's instructions, but refuses compensation from Pierce. Nevertheless, he places five hundred dollars to her account in the bank. Dorrance wants Gold to make a better appearance and gives her a special dress allowance. Dr. Elverton and Doris fall in love and become engaged. Doris has a last fling at gambling and loses her own and borrowed money. She appeals to Gold for rescue and Gold writes her a check for five hundred dollars.

INSTALLMENT XLVIII.

LIFE'S PROMISES DIVINE.

Under the tan of Gold's sun warmed cheeks color crept; she colored with pleasure, and in her eyes was the pleasure of a woman thrilled by the vision beautiful. She was seeing the white gown and the ermine coat; the most extravagant, delicate wear in the world, white; luxury for a rich woman.

"Shall you!"

There was a gasp in her voice; sheer bewilderment.

"If I may," Barney added quite humbly.

"Thank you, Mr. Pierce."

Dorrance happend in then, with instructions for her. He looked at them and hurried away. He was a very thoughtful man for the rest of the day.

"Be official, mind you, for this is an official occasion," said Dorrance in a warning voice. "Enjoy yourself, of course, but see that the people who matter enjoy it more."

This he urged on a beautiful vision of a girl who had—however unconsciously—really exceeded his plans for a well dressed secretary and future saleswoman. In the high frame of her collar a cluster of camellias was fastened. Some one had sent her also, to match, a great spread fan of camellias, certainly a tribute to the florist's art, that she carried as a bride may carry her bouquet. The world was sweet; life's promises were divine.

That is how Gold found life, dancing again and again with Barney in the ballroom of a fine restaurant, overlooking the beach; that was how she had found it during the rapid drive out through the superbly built subdivisions of the city; and at dinner; and when she saw Doris and Elverton dancing together lost to this fine world; and much later, when they were all implored to bathe in the moonlight from the great beach house of one of Dorrance's guests. Swimming suits for a hundred people could be produced instantly in that house, great colored rubber toy horses and swans and fish were thrown into the warm sea. Silly, charming transformation of sophisticated men and women, of languorous beauties and important millionaires, into laughing, playing children! Silly, charming night! Music in the air; pleasure crowding on pleasure; all this flower scented, moonlit, sun warmed, leisurely and laughing world a playground.

There was to be more dancing in the big house on the beach, Gold heard dreamily; a supper in the big house, too. . . . Only not for her, it seemed. For Dorrance—still a very thoughtful man—waded out to that magic sea beside her, and said:

"Miss Franklyn, Barney Pierce has just told me that he is regretfully leaving this party now. And he wants to drive you home. Barney thinks that anyway this is late enough for you, if we're going to work your head off tomorrow. So when you're ready, my dear, he is ready, too."

This was why, leaving renewed revelry behind, Gold sat in a powerful car beside Barney Pierce, watching his hands on the wheel, and thinking: "The kind of hands that just take life and shape it how he likes."

Barney was saying:

"I'd stood it long enough. I couldn't wait any longer. I'd never have got you alone tonight otherwise. So I just told Dorrance——"

"He didn't want to let you go, of course," said Barney's voice with a new note in it; jealousy. He excused it while she sat silent: "I can't help being a little raw about Dorrance; you've let him do so much, while I was to do nothing!"

"Only business——" it was almost a whisper at his ear, but he heard it. He heard her lightest breath and saw her slightest movement, all the time with his eyes on the road, on the wide and splendid, white and brilliant streets, lamp jeweled, tree flanked, flower scented; fit avenues for a superb car in which lovers rode.

He said: "Listen to me, child. I love you so much that we've got to have it out. I was very happy this morning; you'd made me very happy. And when I realized how crazy happy I could be made by just that one little thing you did, I said to myself: 'You damn fool, throw in your hand'."

And they spoke no more till he drew up before the Hotel Almendares. Then:

"I'm coming up," he said. "It's not midnight. That's why I got you away early, so that I could come up and talk to you. I know you've an apartment."

"Yes," she murmured in a low voice, not looking at him. "Mr. Dorrance arranged——"

"Dorrance!"

Barney's saner mind might know he was a fool to be angry over Dorrance; but his saner mind was not in control at the moment. All he knew was that the thing greatly and absurdly desired had happened; she had spent his money; the bank had notified him only that morning as instructed. She had bought with his money that he so hungrily and crazily desired her to spend on some such lovely folly,—yes, he had never truly meant that five hundred dollars for safety; for produence—the white gown she now wore, and the coat.

So she felt differently. She had melted! The war then was over. And he was ready now to throw aside that skepticism, that mistrust, that bitterness, and risk all. He was ashamed of his unbelief. Besides, he had something to show her, with which to please her. . . . And the lift carried them up.

She felt in her bag for her key and let him into the apartment. They were in the furnished lobby, sweet with the smell of roses. They faced each other. "Gold," he said, taking her wrists, "you heard what I said: I love you so much?"

She whispered:

"You're in love with a girl you saw in London——"

He answered:

"I saw you in London: gray evening, dingy houses; me sitting in Elverton's car waiting—and you running out of one of the houses. And I've followed you ever since. I wouldn't ever have left you unless I knew for certain that you'd never want me."

He looked at her: "And then, by God, I'd never have left you till you did want me! It's been because you haven't wanted me."

He kissed her hands, and she thought with a heavenly surrender to revelations; "But I do want him. I do. I do." She murmured: "You know, I'm frightened——"

"Not so frightened as I've been all the way from London—in case I'd spoil it all. Like I started to do, didn't I? In case you weren't the girl I dreamed you were. But this morning suddenly, when I knew——" his hand smoothed the ermine collar, his eyes danced; she saw a very delightful lover—"when I knew you'd let me help, when you drew on that account and bought this—let me give you a gift——"

She drew away, and he saw the same proud fire that he remembered in her eyes. "No!"

"No?"

"I didn't use your money for this, B——" she began to say 'Barney' and stopped on it. "I didn't use a cent of it for this!"

Then she got a look at the steel man again; how he changed! His tender hands were heavy on her shoulders. "Who bought it then? I know what women's gear costs! Who bought it?"

He repeated it slowly.

"this house is haunted . . ."

Midnight on the Thames . . . quiet . . . darkness . . . solitude.

"I tell you this house is haunted! I won't return!" The fearful words ended in a shriek.

The hysteria of a maid servant on the Hannay estate seemed a trivial matter in Peter Dunn's nation-wide search for the missing bank loot. But it enabled him to unearth the treasure—and to clear his partner's name.

reputation the party will be held in the famous Egandale gardens.

The debutante may be called a fourth generation Chicagoan, although she was born at Egandale. Her great-grandfather, Dr. William B. Egan, came to Chicago from New York in 1833 to practice medicine and to deal in real estate in what was then an infant city. At the time of his death in 1860 he was developing an estate as his home, calling it Egandale, on land that later became Jackson park. In 1888 his son, William C. Egan, purchased 5 acres in Highland Park for a country residence, naming it also Egandale, after his old estate, although it is only one hundredth the size of the old one.

Service Club Charity Work.

The Service club president, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, who came into town on Thursday from her family's summer place at Oconomowoc, called a meeting of the club board yesterday at her Lake Shore drive residence to devise ways and means of swelling its charity coffers this fall.

Because the demands for help are so great this year the club has decided to partake in money making activities aside from its annual revue. It was decided yesterday to start off the season by having a group of its members act as models during the fall millinery opening in the first week of September in a downtown department store.

The mannequins will include Ann Elizabeth Walsh, Roberta Harvey, Alice Bremner, Dorothy Morton, Mrs. John Beadle, and Jane Willett. By way of contrast to the present modes the girls will show some models of the gay '90s which Service club members will dig out of trunks full of old costumes. Mrs. Charles H. Conrad is lending them one—for which she has a fond sentiment—an impressive creation with a brim that droops under the weight of dozens of red roses.

The fourth of a series of five polo games between Fort Sheridan and Onwentsia will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Fort Sheridan field. The Army players now have a one game lead in this series.

An added attraction on Sunday will be a jumping and trick riding exhibition—a sample of some of the classes now being prepared for the Fort Sheridan horse show to be held Sept. 16, 17, and 18.

Final Races at Lake Geneva.

The Inland Lake regatta at Lake Geneva ended on a gay note last night with a dance for the sailors and their families at the Country club, although the lake began to take on a rather deserted look in the late afternoon as the trailers were loaded with the boats of the yatchsmen who'll be starting on the homeward trek this morning.

A meeting of the Inland Lake Yatching association was held on Thursday evening and all the officers, headed by the president, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt of the Lake Geneva Yacht club, were reelected. Two new members, William Graves Sr. from White Bear lake and Elmer Stevens of Lake Delevan, were admitted.

The most valued prizes, the Three Bells Challenge trophy and the Valentine cup, were presented to Tom Irvine at the ceremony last night. First place in the Class A also went to Tom Irvine of White Bear lake for victories won by his Blue Devil. Charles Bell of Minnetonka, skipper of Sally Too, was second. Camp Van Dyke was third with Independence.

E class prizes were: First, J. V. Pritzlaff and A. F. Gallun, Jr., Pine Lake, in Spumanti; second, Robert Friend, Pine Lake, in Mistral Eleventh; third, Porter Brothers, Lake Geneva, in Rokniben; fourth, Bill Graves, White Bear, in Falcon, and fifth, G. D. Brumder, Pine Lake, in Simba.

New Grandchild in Wood Family.

Mrs. Robert E. Wood phoned from Highland Park yesterday to tell us of the arrival of the fourth of hers and Gen. Wood's grandchildren. The new baby is Miss Audrey Fentress, who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr. [Frances Wood] on Monday in the Highland Park hospital. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress Sr. of Hubbard Woods. The junior Fentresses were married last October.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who manage to get over to Europe nearly every summer even if it is only for a few weeks, sailed last night on the Majestic for Cherbourg. They have been visiting Mr. Goodspeed's mother, Mrs. Wilbur F. Goodspeed, at her summer place at Osterville, Mass., since they went east a few weeks ago.

Henry H. Porter, whose summer place at Lake Geneva was opened early this season, has departed for a month's holiday in Wyoming. He'll return in time for the wedding of his son, S. Prentice Porter, to Elinor Durbin, on Sept. 27 at St. Chrysostom's.

Mrs. G. C. Ellis Home Again.

Mrs. George Corson Ellis of Lake Forest has returned from a visit with a school friend, Miss Anne Woodruff, in Detroit.

Mrs. Phelps Kelley has returned to Lake Forest from a restful holiday in the Chequamegon bay region in northern Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trimble of Williamsburg, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small of Downers Grove with their children are visiting Mrs. Trimble's and Mrs. Small's father at the Moraine hotel in Highland Park.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, who will return this evening from the east, will preside at a tea to be given by the Woman's National Republican club next Wednesday afternoon on the boat deck terrace of the Drake hotel.

Clever Gal Can Refuse a Kiss in Good Humor

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"After he took me home (our first evening out together) he wanted to kiss me. I didn't see why I should kiss some one I knew nothing about even though he was attractive. Upon my refusal he only laughed and asked me if I was trying to act the 'hard-to-get' type. I felt hurt. He went away angry and I haven't heard from him since."

The above part of "Babe's" letter we'll answer first. There are ways and ways of turning down that unwanted kiss offer. And apparently the girls who learn the gentle art of dissuasion get the second phone calls, and the third.

First, girls might try to realize that any number of boys are under the impression that if they don't attempt to kiss a girl they're not doing their stuff as girls expect it done. Other girls have brought about this misunderstanding. So the boys can't be blamed entirely. We're not believing all young men go amorous because they think it is expected of them. But in any event there is a way of turning the boy's advances down without leaving a knife wound.

Turn 'em down, yes! Any way, new boy acquaintances. If for no other reason than that it suggests you as a hard-to-get girl, as expressed by "Babe's" escort. But don't go dramatic over it! If the boy is the kind who does it because he thinks it's expected of him, a mild reproof or a meaning laugh is all that will be needed. If he shows himself to be the other kind—well, you can do what you want with him, even to slapping his face, if necessary.

Another failing "Babe's" admirer exhibited to her discomfort is revealed in this extract from her letter: "I'm no gold digger, but I do think a boy should not ask to take you out and then when you get started ask where the nearest park is to spend the evening in."

That wasn't such a big break, was it, "Babe?" After you got all manicured and marcelled for the occasion, we warrant. No, we think he could do a little better than that, first time out.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. A. Starr Best of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Starr, to Stuart Clark Abbey, son of Mrs. Charles P. Abbey of Evanston. Since her graduation from Smith college in 1930, Miss Best has been assistant in the department of geology at Bryn Mawr college, where she took her master's degree this spring. She will return to Bryn Mawr this fall to serve on the faculty. Mr. Abbey was graduated from the Northwestern university in 1929 and from Northwestern Law school this spring. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Order of the Coif, and Phi Delta Phi.

Parents' Plans Too Ambitious for Youngsters

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Here are some opinions of a well known consultant in psychology and psychiatry—but not expressed in his exact words:

You can't make your child into an artist or a great musician or a great scientist—but you can prevent his abilities developing if you don't give him opportunity to discover them either at home or in school by your interest as well as practical advantages.

Parents plan too much on their children's school and college and career for their own satisfaction instead of their child's fitness. Children usually submit to family ambitions and often fail, others rebel, and struggle—neither of which makes for happiness, personal or family.

It is cruel to set a pace so fast or an aim so high that a child cannot make the grade. We need to do less to spur and drive our children and more to teach them how to live in health, happiness, and contentment. Parents who are ordinary themselves are unwise to expect the highest attainments for their children.

Don't be discouraged because you don't know all that you think you should know about your children. Do your best and try not to make mistakes, but don't think, if you do, that your child's future is wrecked. Help your children to discover their interests by "exposing them" mentally and emotionally to books, music, art, the crafts, and so forth.

But the main drift of what this experienced man had to say was chiefly not to overwhelm and discourage your children by expecting too great achievement, and not to be surprised or disappointed if they turned out to be just about like yourselves.

Chiffon or Linen Suitable Choice for Pretty Design

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This lovely dress will be just the thing for summer afternoons. Make it of white chiffon printed with large red flowers and use plain red chiffon for the upper bodice. Dusty pink linen with a matching shade of cotton mesh for the upper bodice is another attractive suggestion.

The pattern, 2908, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 35 inch material with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Once again we have with us—the question clinic. Kitchen queries are bound to bother the best of cooks, and it isn't how little we know, but how, soon we find out what we don't know, that measures our worth as good managers. Of course, we can't answer in print more than a fraction of the questions which come to us—but there's always the mail man, so keep right on asking 'em!

Question [Mrs. R. B. C.]—Why does my sugar sirup for iced drinks crystallize in about two days and turn to solid crystals in a week? I boil half a cup of water to each cup of sugar, cooking for five minutes.

Answer—The reason your sirup crystallizes is that there is too great a proportion of sugar to liquid. The high concentration of sugar has a tendency to start the first crystal, and, once started, the whole mass will crystallize in a very short time. By simply adding more water to the crystallized mass and heating it may be brought back to usable form. The correct proportions, however, call for equal parts of sugar and water. Two cups of sugar to two of water may be boiled ten minutes, poured into hot sterilized jars and sealed. Storage in the refrigerator is correct.

Question [Mrs. H. W.]—What can be the matter with my layer cakes? They seem to rise one sided and do not go up to the top of layer pans. Is it the fault of the method or the cook?

Answer—There are three possible reasons for uneven rising of cakes. The batter may have been spread unevenly in the pan and so got off on a wrong start. Or the oven temperature may be uneven, heating more on one side of the oven than the other. In some ovens this may be regulated by a mechanic. If this is not possible, turn your cake pans several times during the baking, though not during the first ten minutes. Finally, the oven grate may not be level, making your batter slump in the pan. Test it with a small level, and have it fixed if it is uneven. The small size of your cakes, Mrs. H. W., may have come from too little leavening, too large a pan, or too slow an oven. Also, if the cake has been made heavy from too much stirring, or too great a proportion of sugar, shortening, or liquid to flour or leavening, it may fail to rise. Better try a new, standard recipe, check on your oven, grate, and spreading and see if things don't turn out better.

Lucile Paray Trims Autumn Ensemble of Almond Green with Black Astrakhan

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS—[Special.]—A green autumn is forecast by fashionable Parisiennes, who are coming out with the first fall ensembles made of material in this color. The green that is being worn here is not a vivid shade, but rather a soft, almond color, and coats in this tone are usually trimmed with either dark brown or black fur.

The Lucile Paray ensemble shown today is made of almond green velvety surfaced woolen, and the coat is trimmed with black astrakhan. A clever way of adding fur to the neck of this coat allows the fur to be used with the dress also, so it may be worn without the coat on warm days. There is a dicky of black astrakhan which buttons on to the frock with two green buttons, as you can see in the small sketch. This dicky serves as a collar on the collarless coat.

The coat has spaulettes of black astrakhan and small cuffs of astrakhan at the wrists of the bishop sleeves. Ties of astrakhan that attach this coat at the waistline complete the fur trimming actually attached to the coat. Bands of the green wool of the coat, tucked vertically, are placed at the bust, descending from the collarless neckline to under the arms. The sleeves are tucked in four clusters of three tucks between the shoulders and the wrists.

Farmers' Strike Spreads to Other States.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Milk producers and distributors reached a compromise agreement here today which ended the milk war which has been in progress since Aug. 10, but the farm holiday strike spread to other parts of this state and into neighboring South Dakota and Nebraska despite new moves to terminate it.

Dairy farmers will receive $1.80 per hundred pounds for milk containing 3.05 per cent butterfat under the agreement reached in the fourth conference held this week. This is an increase of 55 cents per hundred. The wholesale price of milk now will be 7 cents a quart, the retail 9, and the producer will receive approximately 3.6 cents.

Strikers Patrol Roads.

Striker members of the National Farm Holiday association have been patrolling roads leading into the city for days and trucks containing live stock, farm produce, and milk and cream have been turned back. In a number of instances milk and cream have been poured out on the highways and there have been clashes between drivers and picketers.

Similar incidents were reported today from Nebraska and South Dakota points.

Receipts Fall Off.

Live stock receipts at the Sioux City stockyards have been reduced by more than half and there has been a marked decline in receipts of vegetables and other farm products. Some farmers have shipped by rail. At several stations picketers have interfered with these shipments and threats have been made to halt trains.

Sioux City business men today were in touch with Gov. Dan Turner and Attorney General John Fletcher proposing an arbitration meeting in an effort to terminate the strike.

The holiday strikers have indicated that there will be no attempt on their part to interfere with milk trucks now that the milk controversy has been settled.

WOMAN NAMED PUBLISHER OF FILM MAGAZINE

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Miss Katherine Dougherty, a resident of Chicago most of her life, has been selected to succeed the late James R. Quirk as president and publisher of Photoplay Magazine, it was announced here today.

Miss Dougherty becomes the first woman publisher of a large national magazine. She had served as secretary, treasurer, and business manager of the publication for twelve years. She started on the magazine seventeen years ago as an assistant bookkeeper at $15 a week, but long has been one of the most highly paid women executives in the publishing field.

Rites for Mrs. M. Simpson, Charity Worker, Today

Funeral Services Monday for Charles H. Davidson

Funeral services for Charles H. Davidson, for many years a department manager for Armour & Co., will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Boydston chapel, 4227 Cottage Grove avenue. Mr. Davidson died Thursday night. He was 68 years old and retired in 1922 after 23 years of service. In 1911, as an advertising stunt, he conceived the idea of the first airplane flight across the continent. Cal Rogers, the aviator, made the trip in six weeks. Mr. Davidson is survived by his widow and one son, Charles H. Davidson Jr.

DEVICE RECORDS TAX ON MUSCLES WHEN WE THINK

In a specially insulated laboratory at the University of Chicago, Dr. Edmund Jacobson of the university staff, has been conducting extraordinary experiments in the study of relaxation.

The subject lies on a couch in a thickly insulated box. A pair of platinum electrodes are attached to the biceps. Contraction of the muscles produces a faint electric current which is transmitted to a sensitive, vibrating wire. The camera photographs the vibrations, thus recording the tension of the subject's muscles.

"There is evidence that whenever a person even imagines doing anything the muscles of his body become active as if about to do the thing imagined," Dr. Jacobson said. "This occurs even if there is no immediate conscious intention of carrying out the act."

A subject was told to think of Eiffel tower. The electrodes were attached and the machine recorded an involuntary activity of the muscles which roll the eyes upward.

Another subject was told to think of the words of the "Star Spangled Banner." Immediately the machine recorded muscular impulses in his throat and lips.

9 FOOT ALLIGATOR BITES 11,000 VOLT CABLE; IS KILLED

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BALBOA, C. Z., Aug. 19.—An alligator nine feet long ended its life today, threw the Santa Cruz island barge repair station into darkness, and shut off the power by grounding the current in a cable crossing the Panama canal at Gamboa. The big 'gator was found with its jaws clamped over the cable, from which its teeth had torn the insulation, causing a short circuit and electrocuting it with 11,000 volts.

Dr. G. W. Andrews, 71, Organist, Dies in Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Dr. George Whitfield Andrews of Oberlin, O., 71, noted organist and composer, died here last night. Dr. Andrews retired from the faculty of the Oberlin, O., Conservatory of Music in June, 1931, and became organist at the Central Union church here. He is survived by his widow, a son, and two daughters. During his 49 years on the Oberlin conservatory faculty, Dr. Andrews wrote ten sonatas for the organ, a number of shorter published organ selections and a number of unpublished compositions for organ, piano and orchestra, written for students and friends.

Round-the-World Scout Hikers Pause in Chicago

Jim Wilkinson, 16 years old, and Gerry Hurd, 17, Boy Scouts from Seattle, Wash., paused in Chicago yesterday on their hitch-hiking tour of the world. They left for Washington, D. C., where they will deliver a letter from Mayor John Dore of Seattle to President Hoover. They plan to go from Washington to New York, and there make arrangements to work their way to Norway on a ship. The boys left Seattle on June 22, and hope to complete their journey by the fall of 1935.

Fire Causes $700 Loss to Catholic Mission Church

Fire attacked the front of St. Mary's Mission church at 3501 South Union avenue this morning, doing about $700 damage. The blaze started beneath the belfry. The cause was defective wiring, according to Battalion Chief G. L. Hopp. Most of the damage was confined to the belfry and the choir gallery, although the $10,000 organ was slightly burned. The church is a two story frame structure. Its pastor is the Rev. Stanley Linkus.

PRIEST AND HIS HOUSEKEEPER ARE FOUND DEAD

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Rev. J. P. Cournoyer, 43, pastor of St. Louis Roman Catholic church in New Haven since 1919, and Miss Elvina Moran, his temporary housekeeper, were found dead tonight under circumstances which led to a coroner's investigation.

While officials said they inclined to the theory that neither death was the result of foul play, autopsies were performed on both bodies. Dr. M. M. Scarbrough, medical examiner, declined to disclose the results.

Wilfred Groleau, sexton of the church, found the body of Miss Moran in the parish house. She had been dead about 24 hours, officials said. Father Cournoyer, last seen Wednesday night, was found dead in his automobile a few hours later. A bunch of keys were clutched in his hands and the doors of the garage were closed.

Officials said Father Cournoyer, who was ordained in Baltimore in 1913, had been suffering for some time with a lung ailment. They expressed the opinion that carbon monoxide may have contributed to his death.

Woman Dies After Taking Poison; Inquest Today

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Francis Ondella, 34 years old, estranged wife of a San Francisco restaurant owner, who died early yesterday in the county hospital, will be held in the county morgue today. She took poison on Sunday in her room in the New Southern hotel.

JOBLESS SON OF BANKER SAVED FROM SUICIDE

On Thursday night Harry Pratt, 35 years old, of 5309 Harper avenue, a former advertising man, walked to the 53d street beach, took off his hat and coat, and was about to jump into the lake. He lost his nerve and returned home, leaving his clothes behind.

Last night Pratt returned to the same place. Once more he was about to leap into the water, but this time Policeman Joseph O'Connor of the Hyde Park station grabbed him and took him to the station for protection.

Pratt told police that he had meant to kill himself. He said that he had once earned from $7,000 to $10,000 annually and now could not earn anything. He said his father, Joseph C. Pratt, and his brother, Leonard Pratt, are directors of a bank in Philadelphia. Police announced they would communicate with Pratt's family and send him home.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, Kin of Nathan Hale, Dies

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Dr. Edward Everett Hale, 69, professor of English at Union college for 37 years until he retired in April, fell dead of heart disease tonight on the campus only a few yards from the door of his home. Dr. Hale's grandfather was Nathan Hale, the first editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser, a nephew of Nathan Hale, the patriot, who was hanged as a spy by the British in New York.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The 2 year old turf championship of the west will be at stake when the Hawthorne Juvenile handicap is run along about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

A record breaking field of 22, including every top notch westerner and a sprinkling of eastern stars, was named in the overnight entries. Most of them will go to the post, training activities the last few days have indicated, and if all should show up the race will have a gross value of $13,800.

While the stake is run each year in an effort to determine the best 2 year old in the west, a western colt could not muster enough support last night to rule as the favorite. That honor went to the eastern pair of Projectile and Swivel, one a colt, the other a filly, which races for Adolph Pons of New York. The entry was held at 3 to 1, while Head Play, a Kentucky colt, was the second choice at 4 to 1.

Three Horse Race.

Such western stars as Red Whisk, Ballygran, Esseff, Miss Melody and Gloritone went begging in the betting at odds ranging from 6 to 1 to 20 to 1. The folks at Hawthorne yesterday figured the race was a three horse affair between Projectile, Head Play and Swivel and a lot of them thought the filly Swivel might prance in the winner.

She turned in a brilliant performance at Hawthorne a few days ago and will have the good jockey, George Woolf, in the saddle. E. Steffen is to ride her stablemate, Projectile, which earlier in the season indicated that he might be one of the great 2 year olds of the year.

The race is at six furlongs and the field will be one of the largest that has gone to the post in any race in America this year. The Belmont Futurity may not attract a bigger band. Extra stalls will be attached to the Bahr gate so that all of them get away out of the starting device in use at Hawthorne.

Some Stake Winners.

There are numerous stake winners in the field. Projectile's reputation was made at Washington Park, where he won the Curran Memorial handicap from a crack band. Except for Ladysman, Crowning Glory, Hilena, and Happy Gal, which are at Saratoga, the Hawthorne event has attracted all the most fashionable 2 year olds in the country.

The 2 year old race and its uncertainties, reports of brilliant workouts, and the betting took up a good part of the attention of some 11,000 spectators at Hawthorne yesterday.

The best race on yesterday's program was the Minnetonka purse, a dash at 5½ furlongs, which engaged some of the eligibles for today's stake. Monks Star, owned by W. F. Axton, Kentucky tobacco magnate, turned up as the winner, beating Timorous by four lengths. Tabaku was third.

Corbett Set Down.

There was a heap of rough riding as the field rounded the last turn and headed into the stretch. Monks Star knocked both Timorous and Tabaku off their stride. He wasn't disqualified, but his jockey, Charley Corbett, was handed a ten day suspension.

Monks Star had been slightly overlooked in the betting and paid $11.90 for a two dollar ticket. He was in front all the way, but Timorous and Tabaku were dangerously near him when Corbett began riding in cowboy fashion.

The heaviest backed favorite to win all afternoon was Try Some, a 3 year old son of Tryster, which raced for Charles Emerson of Chicago. He came home in easy fashion after Jockey Allen sent him to the front on the turn into the stretch. He was at a little better than even money in the betting.

Jamieson Turns in Uniform After 13 Years with Indians

CHARLEY JAMIESON.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The last of the old guard which carried the Cleveland Indians to their one and only world championship in 1920 has moved, temporarily at least, out of the major league picture.

Charlie Jamieson, who roamed the right field pastures at old League park for thirteen years, today was placed on baseball's voluntarily retired list by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Turned Down Manager Job.

Jamieson at the start of the season turned down an offer to manage the Toledo American association club, acquired by the Indians last winter. Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, in granting Charlie's wish to stay with the club, remarked then that Jamieson could wear the Indian uniform until he himself was ready to shed it.

Many of those who watched Jamieson will remember the thing for which he was particularly skilled—taking hard hit balls on the rebound off the fence in short right field.

Bradley attributes to Jamieson's playing the greatest thrill of his life. It was during a game with the Athletics here June 16, 1929. It was in the ninth, the A's had the bases full, two were out, and the Indians leading, 10 to 9. Then Max Bishop rifled what looked like a clean hit for a victory.

Batted .304 for 17 Years.

"But Jamie came tearing across the grass, in and to his left," recounts Bradley. "It seemed to me he was still twenty feet away from the ball when he left his feet in a headlong dive. Don't ask me how, but somehow he managed to get his hands under the ball as he skidded along on his chest. It stuck and the game was over."

For the last two seasons Jamieson has served principally as a pinch hitter, having yielded his post to young Joe Vosmik. He leaves the major leagues at his own request now with a brilliant 17 year record behind him and a 17 year batting average of .304.

Dodgers Whip Reds, 6-0; Win Second Place

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers overhauled the Pittsburgh Pirates and took second place in the National league today by defeating Cincinnati, 6 to 0, while the Pirates were losing to the New York Giants.

Van Mungo limited the Reds to six hits and allowed only two men to reach third base.

ENGLISH GIRLS IN SEMI-FINALS AT FOREST HILLS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—England's two outstanding players, Miss Joan Ridley and Mrs. Elsie Goldstack Pittman, still are in the race for the United States women's singles tennis championship. They swept into the semi-final round of the tournament today with easy victories.

Mrs. Pittman, who defeated Mary Greef, Kansas City, 6-3, 6-2, in the quarter finals, will meet Helen Jacobs, California, in one of tomorrow's matches. Another Californian, Carolyn Babcock, will face Miss Ridley. Miss Babcock defeated Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, Cal., 6-3, 7-5, and Miss Ridley won from Mrs. Marjorie Morrell Painter, Dedham, Mass., 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

AURORA RACING TO CONFLICT WITH LINCOLN FIELDS

Exposition Park Moves Up Fall Meeting.

War clouds began to gather over the Illinois turf scene yesterday when officials of the Exposition Park Jockey club, which controls the track at Aurora, announced that they would conduct a 13 day autumn meeting opening on Sept. 3 and closing on Sept. 17.

These dates will conflict with the annual Lincoln Fields Jockey club meeting which opens on Sept. 3 and lasts 31 days.

Last winter the Aurora track was allotted 19 days of racing to open the day following the close of the Lincoln Fields fall season. No explanation for the change in dates was given by General Manager Ed Carruthers, who, in a telegram from Ionia, Mich., authorized that the dates for the September racing be announced.

Both Members of Association.

Both the Lincoln Fields and Aurora tracks are members of the Illinois Turf association. The Aurora track operated in opposition to Sportsman's Park, the new half mile track in Cicero which is not affiliated with the Illinois Turf association, during its 19 day spring meeting.

Officials of the Jockey club at Aurora are said to have complained to the Illinois Turf association at the time that they were not supported in their fight against the half mile track.

Carruthers will return today to make further announcements regarding the Aurora meeting. Col. Matt J. Winn, head of the American Turf association which operates the Lincoln Fields track, was in Saratoga and could not be reached for a statement on the conflict in dates.

No Turf War, Official Says.

Richard Jones, superintendent of the pari-mutuels at Aurora, who was in Chicago yesterday, said it was not a turf war.

"Our dates were changed purely for business reasons," he said. "We reached the conclusion that we would lose money if we raced 19 days during the latter part of October when the weather is not always good in this section. We think we can can make money on a 13 day September meeting which includes Labor day and three Saturdays.

"I don't think our meeting will hurt Lincoln Fields in any way," he continued. "Seventy-five per cent of the attendance at Exposition Park always has come from Aurora, Elgin, Joliet, Rockford and other nearby cities. Few of these people ever go to the races except at Aurora."

Nathanson in Quandary.

Martin Nathanson, who for years has been the presiding steward at Aurora and who serves as an associate steward at Lincoln Fields, was in a quandary.

"I haven't been notified of any change in Aurora dates and cannot say what I will do until I have received such notification," he said.

Salina players jogged around the bases as six Chicago hurlers sought vainly to locate the plate. Byron Snyder went the route for Salina.

RETZLAFF WINS IN 7TH; INJURES PANTALEO'S JAW

Charley Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight, stopped Paul Pantaleo of Chicago in the seventh round of a scheduled ten round bout at White City last night. A short right sent Pantaleo to the canvas. Physicians at the ringside announced that the blow had dislocated the Chicago Italian's jaw.

Buck Everett, Gary, Ind., won a decision over Harvey Mortenson, Chicago heavyweight, in the six round semi-windup. Johnny Baima, making his first start in several months, defeated Bill Hall, Michigan middleweight champion, in five rounds. Bill Connell, Monmouth, Ill., stopped Joe Greb in the second round, while Joe Freeman whipped Virgil Bemi in the four round opener.

Tiverton, R. I., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, scored a one round knockout over Jack Gagnon of Boston tonight after only 1 minute and 35 seconds of fighting. Carnera weighed 261½ and Gagnon 212.

A crowd of 5,000 hooted while Gagnon lay on the mat after a stiff right under the heart. The Boston boxer failed to make any attempt at an offensive and the only blows struck were by Carnera.

Sox Catch No. 9 and No. 10 on Chin; Lose Twice, 4-3 and 3-1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The portable White Sox baseball school assembled in double session today, but the pupils weren't able to devise a way in which to cut off the losing streak before it had reached a total of ten straight. Just about all the freshmen Prof. Fonseca could locate were hustled into activity. The series of strange faces didn't discourage the Senators in the least. They grabbed the first decision, 4 to 3, and the second, 3 to 1, giving them a record of ten victories in the season's eleven struggles here against the Chicagoans, who left in a hurry for Philadelphia to met the Macks in another doubleheader tomorrow.

Not unlike the first two games of the series, the Sox faded out in the opening fight today after getting away to a comfortable lead. The strange lineup devised overnight by the professor of the school showed surprising strength by tickling Fred Tarzan Marberry for three runs in two innings. But it was only a matter of time before Paul Gregory of the freshman class found himself back in a tie. Then Red Faber of the class of 1776 was asked to lend a hand while the deadlock was still in existence. The old fellow wasn't on the mound more than a minute before his pockets were picked for the winning run.

Youngsters Get Chance.

Even the Senators' management became addicted to the baseball school idea in the second game. Bill McAfee, alumnus of the University of Michigan, the Cubs and the Braves, was permitted to make his debut as a local. Bill made it so well that the Sox felt they were pretty lucky to compile as many as five hits. The Senators also felt that luck had given them a little break in this affair.

They touched Bill Chamberlain for only three hits in five innings, but two of these proved good for all of their runs. There was some outside assistance, of course, from the Sox fielders. After Chamberlain's withdrawal for a pinch hitter, two more youths of questionable pitching attainments were employed. They did right well, but it didn't mean anything.

FIRST GAME

Two of the three runs with which the Sox made an impressive start in the first game were the result of three smacks in the opening inning. Hayes offered the first of the trio after Funk had flied out. He clubbed a double to the wall in left center. Seeds hit a humpbacked two bagger over first base and Hayes scored. Fothergill did nothing of value, but Appling came through with a single to center, scoring Seeds.

Marberry's lack of field grace rather than his lack of pitching was the cause of the Chicago run in the second inning. Kress led off with a single to right and Grube bunted. Marberry figured he could catch Kress going to second, but the throw was late. The big right hander was still determined to get Kress, so he made another peg to second. This one went wild, permitting Kress to go to third and Grube to second. Kress scored on Funk's fly to center.

Senators Get Break.

A slight break in the Senators' favor in the home second let them start on the job of tying Gregory's three run lead. Cronin bunted to open this attack and beat it for a hit when Grube failed to locate the ball. Kuhel slapped a hit to right, putting Cronin on third, whence he scored on a fly ball. Another run scored in the third on Cronin's fly after the bases had been filled on two singles and Hayes' fumble. West then tied it up at 3 apiece in the fourth by doubling, taking third on Bluege's bunt, and scoring while Appling was throwing out Spencer.

The excuse for removing Gregory in the seventh was that two were on with one out as the result of a single by Sullivan and a walk to Grube. The employment of a pinch hitter availed nothing, however. Then Faber walked into the home seventh, and right off the bat Rice popped him for a double. A sacrifice put Rice on third and Ma-

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The anti-climax phase of the highly dramatic baseball series between the Cubs and the Boston Braves yesterday took the form of some mighty poor pitching by Pat Malone and Leroy Herrmann. This sad circumstance, viewed by a Ladies day crowd of 32,000, caused the Cubs to lose, 6 to 5, after having led, 4 to 2, in the third inning. Furthermore, the letdown allowed the Brooklyn Dodgers, the new second placers, to move up to within two games of the league leading Chicagoans.

Malone's manly figure adorned the picture for 4 2-3 innings. In that brief span he was clipped for 12 hits, including a double. Pat fanned five, including three in the first inning, but otherwise his pitches seemed to be colliding with enemy bats with terrific force.

Herrmann Forces In Run.

Herrmann relieved Malone, but appeared to be suffering from a tightening in his esophagus. Leroy gave an intentional pass to fill the bases and then threw four more wide ones which were not intentional to give the Braves a lead which they never surrendered. Working on his own, Leroy was pounded for a single and a run producing double to start the sixth, after which he was escorted from the arena.

After the retirement of Herrmann Burleigh Grimes pitched four innings of perfect baseball, all of which, obviously, went to waste.

Cubs	63	51	.553
Dodgers	64	56	.533
Pirates	61	54	.530
Phillies	61	59	.508

Malone Fans 3 in First.

Although Malone struck out three men in the first inning, it was evident that the Braves were fixing to rattle a lot of hits around the acreage. After Maranville had fanned to start the game, Urbanski singled and stopped at third on Jordan's double to left. Malone then braced to strike out Berger and Holland.

In the second inning the Braves scored the first run of the contest, assisted somewhat on an error by Johnny Moore. With one down Knothe singled past Koenig. Spohrer singled to center, and Knothe continued to third when J. Moore juggled the ball. Knothe scored while Herman was throwing out Cantwell. Maranville fouled to Grimm.

The score became 2 to 0 in favor of the Braves in the first of the third. With one down Jordan beat out a slow bounder to Grimm, went to second while Berger was rolling out to Grimm, and scored on Holland's single to center. Holland was out when Malone cut off Moore's throw and started a run-down.

Cubs Score Four Runs.

In their half of the third the Cubs grabbed four runs and 4 to 2 lead. After Hartnett had flied to Berger, Koenig dropped a single back of second and advanced one base while Malone was rolling out to Jordan. Herman and English walked, filling the bases. Cuyler caromed a single off Maranville's glove, Koenig and Herman scoring. The bases were filled again when Urbanski fumbled Stephenson's grounder. J. Moore singled to center, scoring English and Cuyler and putting Stephenson on third. Johnny reached second on the throw-in. Maranville threw out Grimm.

The Braves moved up a run in the first of the fourth. R. Moore singled to center and went to second while Koenig was throwing out Knothe. Spohrer singled to right, scoring R. Moore. Spohrer was called out at second when he sought to progress on Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The American Derby winner of 1930, J. A. Best's Reveille Boy, captured the thirtieth running of the Champlain handicap today after he had overcome many of the difficulties which can beset a thoroughbred in competition. Unruly at the post, he was hard to handle before the break which found him unprepared when it came.

The other four—the Wheatley stable's Blenheim, Joseph E. Widener's Pari-Mutuel, and Masked Knight and Pompeius, purchased last night by George H. Bostwick—were off smartly and were from five to 15 lengths in front of Reveille Boy before he could find his stride.

Pompeius Takes Lead.

Pompeius sped off to the lead, followed by Masked Knight and Blenheim. All were strung out as they raced into the back stretch from the clubhouse turn with Reveille Boy last and apparently hopelessly out of it. Since he was the 9 to 5 second choice, as against 3 to 5 on Pari-Mutuel, there was many a groan at the performance of the son of Last Reveille and Little Ann.

The dash down the far side saw Blenheim hard ridden by Hank Mills, but he could not gain appreciably on the Bostwick pair in front. A little later Pari-Mutuel closed ground and soon Reveille Boy appeared farther back than ever. The move which thrilled the backers of Mr. Best's racer came at the far turn. Laverne Fator shook up his mount and soon began cutting down the gap on the four in front.

Reveille Boy Passes 'Em Up.

Coming to the top of the stretch he had to get around the others, now spread fanwise across the track since the Bostwick pair and Blenheim were coming back, while Pari-Mutuel was moving up. Reveille Boy got around the lot.

But Pari-Mutuel was charging on, too. With only Mr. Widener's color bearer in front, Reveille Boy went rushing on with a turn of speed which Pari-Mutuel could not match. But he swerved as he ran and bumped Pari-Mutuel—not badly, but he bumped him nevertheless. After the finish, which saw Reveille Boy the winner by two lengths over Pari-Mutuel, Silvio Coucci, rider of the latter, scampered up the steps to lodge a claim of foul.

Finish Declared Official.

Backers of the winner were again plunged into gloom. The case appeared bad when Fator was called and questioned by the stewards. At last the red block, confirming the order of finish without change, went up amid cheers. Reveille Boy negotiated the mile and an eighth of heavy going in 1:54 3-5 under 116 pounds.

ROME, Aug. 19.—A return to the traditions of ancient Athens was proposed tonight by the newspaper Lavor Fascista, which urges that a life pension or life job be offered by the Italian nation to Sig. Beccali, winner of the 1,500 meter race at the Olympic games in Los Angeles.

A sporting newspaper in Milan already has started a public subscription for Sig. Beccali, but the Roman Fascist daily believes this insufficient, saying the state should do something for athletes who kept the prestige of the nation high in the sporting world.

In ancient Greek times the winners at the Olympic games received only garlands of olives as prizes, but fresh honors and rewards awaited them on their return home. Athenian winners received, according to Solon, 500 drachmæ and free rations for life. In the Prytaneum, the Spartan winners had as their prerogative the post of honor in battle.

Poets sang the victors' praises. The best sculptors were engaged by the state to carve their statues. In some cases breaches were made in town walls to admit the statues of the returning heroes. There were even instances of altars being built and sacrifices offered to successful athletes.

DETROIT EXTENDS GLAD HAND TO EDDIE TOLAN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan runner, double sprint champion of the Olympic games, came home today. The colored sprinter was welcomed at the station by his mother, Mrs. Alice Tolan, and his three sisters.

Three troops of Boy Scouts, an American Legion post and Detroit athletic officials also greeted Tolan. He was taken to the city hall, where Acting Mayor John Smith made an address of welcome. Tolan was to be the guest of honor at a banquet tonight.

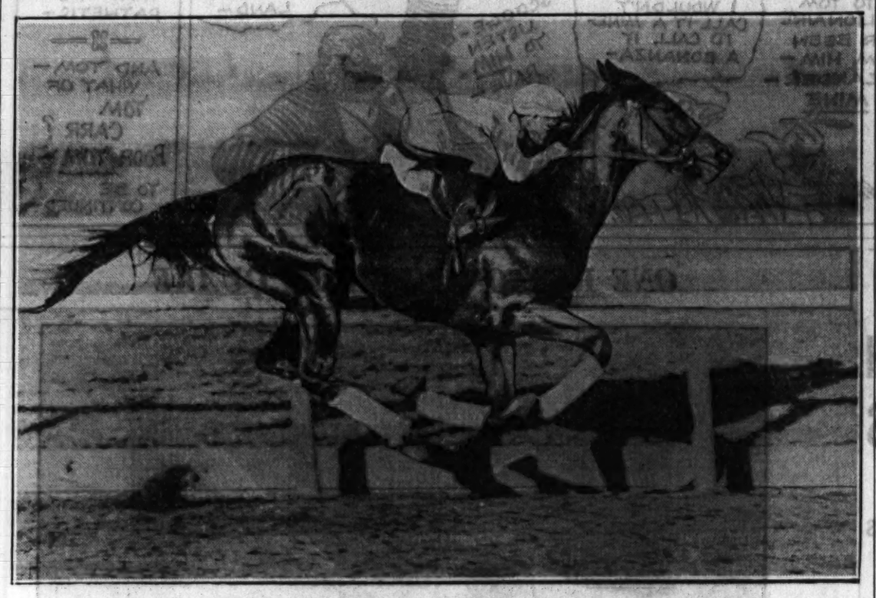
SMITTY—LETTER GO!

ONCE A CRIPPLE, BALLYGRAN MAY BE CHAMP



Col. E. R. Bradley's hope in today's Juvenile handicap at Hawthorne was a cripple once, lightly thought of even in his own family. But today he may turn up as the champion two year old of the west. He ran a great race Thursday. Of course today is another day, but Bradley banks on Ballygran.

Faireno Heads West Monday for Gold Cup

Word reached the Hawthorne officials yesterday that the probable 3 year old champion, Faireno, will leave Saratoga on Monday for his engagement in the Hawthorne Gold cup one week from today. Equipoise will get away from Saratoga on Wednesday, according to the shipping plans of Trainer Fred Hopkins.

Entries for the Illinois State Fair Derby will close today. They are being received at the office of Racing Secretary Joe McLennan at Hawthorne. Minton, Waylayer, Watch Tower, Rehoboth, Yonkel, Kibitzer, Switch, and Cathop are some of the horses racing at Hawthorne which have been nominated.

Trainer Bill Knapp has about decided that Fairbypair is not cut out for a route runner and future engagements of the fleet colt, which races for Mrs. John Hertz, probably will be sprint events.

Trainers Mose and Jake Lowenstein of Chicago both had colorbearers in the first race at Hawthorne yesterday. A hot tip got out on both the 2 year olds. Jake's filly, Gertrude L., a daughter of Prince Pal, turned up as the winner, at 7 to 1.

The Nash Brothers slipped over a long shot in La Salle in the 6 furlong second race. He got up in the last stride to beat the favorite, Altmark. In the mutuels La Salle paid $19.56 for a $2 ticket.

Abraham Bartelstein's friends from the west side were all made happy when Bartelstein's Hillsborough won the fifth race. He was at even money but won just as he pleased and the dividends were considered all right by his backers.

KAYE DON'S BOAT ARRIVES IN U. S. FOR CUP RACES

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Miss England III., the hydroplane in which Kaye Don hopes to ride to victory two weeks hence in the Harmsworth trophy race, was safely on American shores tonight.

The craft which roared to a new world water speed record of approximately 119 miles an hour a few weeks ago was unloaded this afternoon at Walkerville, Ont., placed on a barge and towed up the Detroit river to the boathouse on the United States side, where it will be quartered until after the race.

Don, who arrived yesterday, said there would be a public showing of his boat Sunday afternoon and that he would give Miss England III. its first trial run over the seven nautical miles of the new Lake St. Clair course Monday morning.

Gar Wood, the American defender who exhibited his new craft, Miss America X., to Don yesterday, was on hand to watch the unloading of the boat he must outspeed to retain the Harmsworth trophy.

AMATEURS SHOOT HIGH SCORES IN GRAND AMERICAN

Vandalia, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Warning that exceptional scoring may be expected next week when the grand American trap shooting tournament gets under way was issued today in the second round of preliminary events.

In the 100 target affair, four amateurs tied for first place by smashing 98. In the handicap three deadlocked with 48 out of 50 and in the doubles Joe Heistand, Hillsboro, O., won first place with 49 out of 50 pairs.

Those who tied in the 100 target match were P. E. Morris, Wichita, Kas.; E. F. Woodward, Houston, Tex.; Heistand, and W. Beaver of Berwin, Pa. Heistand and Woodward broke 50 straight in the shootoff; Beaver, 49, and Morris, 23. A flip of the coin gave Heistand first place.

Jack Tway of Atlanta, Ga.; W. E. Toy, Great Falls, Mont., and Sam Jenney of Highland, Ill., were all even at the end of the handicap shoot. The latter then smashed 24 straight, while Tway hit 23 and Toy 21. Jenney was shooting from 25 yards.

NATIONAL A. A. U. MARATHON TITLE AT STAKE TODAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—More than 100 runners will seek victory in the annual National A. A. U. marathon tomorrow. The runners will race from Mount Vernon to the White House, a distance of 26 miles 385 yards. The record time for the distance is 2 hours 31 minutes 36 seconds, set by Juan Zabala of Argentina.

Among the entrants are Paul De Bryn, New York; Billy Ages, Baltimore, defending A. A. U. champion; Jimmy Henigan, Medford, Mass., and Clarence De Mar, the veteran who won the Boston marathon seven times.

GIANTS' SIX RUNS IN FIRST DEFEAT PIRATES, 10 TO 4

Pound Meine, Chagnon; Hubbell Goes Route.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The New York Giants clouted the Pirates out of second place in one inning today, scoring enough runs off Heinie Meine and Leon Chagnon in the first to clinch a 10 to 4 victory.

Meine yielded four hits and two walks, good for four runs, before he retired a man and the Giants collected two more off Chagnon before the inning ended. Joe Moore made two singles, a double and a triple in New York's 13 hit attack. Southpaw Carl Hubbell yielded 14 hits, but was steady in the pinches. Score:

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Sylvester Johnson was victor in a pitching duel with Ed Holley today as the St. Louis Cardinals won an 11 inning contest with the Philadelphia Nationals, 5 to 4. Johnson yielded nine hits. Thirteen were made off Holley.

Watkins' homer was chiefly responsible in giving the Cards an even count with the Phillies, at the end of the fifth. The deadlock was not broken until the eleventh when Wilson singled, beat a throw to second and scored on Flowers' single. Score:

Vines Meets Allison for Title Today

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Observing all of the championship traditions, Ellsworth Vines, national titlist, today spotted Davey Jones of New York two sets and then beat him out of a finalist's place in the 16th annual Newport Casino invitation tennis tournament.

Many times during the limit match, held up by rain for two hours, Vines appeared doomed, but he refused to yield to the former Columbia basketball star and won by scores of 3-6, 10-12, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Allison Beats Gladhill.

For the second consecutive year Vines will participate in the Casino final, this season against Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., who shared the single assignments with him in the recent inter-zone final Davis cup play with France.

Allison whipped tennis' greatest uphill fighter, Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., 7-5, 6-4, 8-10, 10-8, in the other semi-final tilt. Mangin played great tennis; once he was in the hole, but the Texan was not the type to choke up when a supposedly soundly beaten opponent uncorked a miraculous driving finish.

Darkness Stops Doubles.

In the doubles semi-finalists Vines and his fellow Californian, Keith Gledhill, had enough daylight to conquer George Lott, Chicago, and Frank X. Shields, New York, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and enter the final round for the second straight year.

The other pair of semi-final teams were stopped by darkness in the third set. Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the world's greatest doubles team, were leading Sidney Wood, New York, and Lester Stoeffen, Los Angeles, in two sets and were five all in the third when night descended. The scores for the completed sets were 6-3, 6-3. They will finish their match tomorrow after the singles final.

Jimmy Hinderliter beat Ray Peckham [3].
Joe Fuscola beat Joe Cardello [3].
Matty Planovich beat Lynn Thompson [3].
Johnny Mochal beat Vince Satkoff [3].
Nester Brugman beat George Gauss [3].

Sharkey's Manager Sees Title for New Protege

Boston, Mass., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, has another fighter, Adolph Heuser, Germany, who he thinks can win the light heavyweight championship of the world. Heuser will arrive Sunday from Germany. Buckley said he is now seeking a match with Maxie Rosenbloom.

TIGERS, YANKEES DIVIDE.

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Detroit shattered the Yankees' ten game winning streak today with a 4 to 3 victory in the first game of a double header, but the league leaders started off again in the second game, getting a 6 to 5 decision in the ninth inning.

Elon Hogsett outpitched Charley Ruffing to win the opener, although each yielded nine hits and Ruffing hit a homer. Four home runs, including Babe Ruth's 35th of the season, featured the second game.

CHINN YEARLINGS BRING AVERAGE PRICE OF $1,314

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The long awaited Phil Chinn yearlings attracted a large crowd to the sales paddock tonight, but the average price fell below expectations. The Chinn consignment of 45 head brought $59,125, averaging $1,314.

In addition to the Chinn consignment, nine head offered by T. C. McDowell went for $17,400, for an average of $1,933. All told, 54 head passed under the hammer for $76,525. An average of $1,417.

Mrs. T. J. Lewis acquired the most costly youngster of the night. She paid $10,000 for a Chinn chestnut, the son of the Porter-Starella. He is a full brother to the stake winner, Greenock, and also to Star Port and Port Star.

The immortal Man o' War was represented by a lone chestnut colt out of Imp, Zohra in the Chinn consignment. William Ziegler Jr. became his owner, bidding $5,000.

Italian Boxers Check In for Stadium Show

The Chicago team was completed with the announcement that Max Marek had agreed to battle the Italian light heavyweight champion. Marek went to the finals in the Olympic trials. He won this year's C. Y. O. title and was victor in the Los Angeles-Chicago intercity matches. He is Central A. A. U. champion and was runnerup in the National A. A. U. tournament.

Max Likes Mr. Phagan.

Max expects the Chicago team to give the Italians plenty of trouble. He thinks that the contest between Johnny Phagan, local welterweight king, and Luciana Fabroni, the Italian champion, will be the best in the show. Marek added that Phagan would have his hands full with his Italian opponent, but that if he fights up to his usual standard he ought to earn the decision.

The Chicago team will be composed of the following boys: Frank Sanello, flyweight; George Goodman, bantamweight; Frankie May, featherweight; Gene Higgins, lightweight; Johnny Phagan, welterweight; Bill Connell, middleweight; Max Marek, light-heavyweight, and Adam Smith, heavyweight.

Cups will be given the winner and loser in each class. These have been donated by the following: State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Judge John A. Sbarbaro, Judge Francis Borrelli, Walter W. L. Meyer, Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, Anthony Mercurio, Judge John J. Lupe, and Frank M. Kalteux.

Italians Are Ready.

Whether the Italians will work out today depends upon the attitude of the coaches. They arrived in good condition and high spirits, and were given a reception by their fellow countrymen at their headquarters in the Morrison hotel.

A dinner and reception is scheduled for today at noon in the Morrison hotel bungalow, where the various committees who are sponsoring Monday's program will extend an official welcome to the visitors. The Italian committee is headed by Dr. Antonio Ferme, royal acting counsel general of Italy. The all-Chicago committee, made up of business, civic and political leaders, is headed by Walter W. L. Meyer.

Jim Woods Jr. Seeks 2d County Golf Title Today

The youngest of the golfing Woods family, Jim, will seek the Cook county amateur championship for the second consecutive year today. Jim swept through the second and quarter-final round matches yesterday on the Garfield park course and will meet Frank Ghiselli, Shorewood, in the semi-finals this morning.

Victory against Ghiselli in the 18 hole semi-final will send Jim to the final round, which will be played in the afternoon. The final match play will be at 36 holes. In the other semi-final match this morning Elmer Freed, Silver Lake, will meet Arthur W. Fenton, Garfield park, the medalist.

Woods, who represents Garfield park, began his march to a second championship by eliminating a clubmate, Russell Macauley, 4 and 3. In the afternoon he tackled Bob Dougherty, the Harrison Tech football coach, who reached the quarter-finals by defeating F. J. Schnell, Northbrook, 3 and 2.

Woods found little difficulty in defeating Dougherty, who appeared in tournament competition for the first time. Jim, coached by his father, James Sr., a pro, won easily, the match ending on the 15th green.

Fenton, also of Garfield park, defeated M. De Leonard, Evanston, 6 and 4, in the second round and later eliminated Ed Wiech, 4 and 3. Freed, in his quarter-final match, triumphed over W. F. Crannell, 2 up. The results follow:

SECOND ROUND.

Elmer Freed [Silver Lake] won from Ed Peavy [Gubbins A. A.], 2 up.
W. F. Crannell [Garfield] beat M. De Leonard [Evanston], 6 and 4.

the throw in, but the decision was reversed when Koenig dropped the ball. Leach batted for Cantwell and singled to left, Spohrer stopping at third. Maranville tapped to English and Spohrer was run down. Urbanski fanned.

Finish of Pat Malone.

The fifth marked the demise of Malone. After Jordan had been called out on strikes, Berger singled to left. Holland popped to Koenig, and R. Moore singled to left, Berger stopping at second. Knothe also drove a single to left, scoring Berger with the tying run and putting R. Moore on third. Malone was chased and Herrmann came in to pitch. He gave Spohrer an intentional pass, filling the bases. The intentional pass gave him bad ideas, for he threw four straight wide ones to Haggrave, who batted for Pruett, forcing in R. Moore to give the Braves a 5 to 4 lead. Maranville filed to Cuyler.

What proved to be the winning run was scored off Herrmann in the sixth. Urbanski beat out a hit to deep short and scored on Jordan's double. Grimes then came in and retired the next three batsmen. He continued his stellar work the rest of the game. Holland, who landed on Koenig's error in the ninth, being the only Brave to reach first.

Brown Subdues Cubs.

Bobby Brown started pitching at the opening of the Cub fifth, and while he was not as airtight a performer as Grimes, he was able to make the Cubs look most futile except in the sixth. In that inning the Cubs scored the last run of the game. Stephenson got credit for a double when R. Moore misjudged his fly, went to third while Maranville was throwing out J. Moore and trotted home on Grimm's single to center. Hartnett sent Berger to the center field screen for his fly and Koenig fanned.

In the seventh Herman singled with one down but English hit into a double play. In the eighth J. Moore singled with two down. Grimm then filed to Holland. In the ninth, after Hartnett had fanned, Koenig beat out a bunt for his second hit, but Gudat, batting for Grimes, fanned, and Herman ended the game with a fly to Holland.

PHILS HERE TODAY

Those who feel the Braves-Cubs series didn't embody enough rough and tumble stuff should be on hand at Wrigley field this afternoon and the next three days thereafter. The Phillies will open their final visit here of the season with Guy Bush opposing the able Ray Benge, who led the Phils to a 9 to 2 victory the second day of the Grimm régime.

Mark Koenig played throughout at short for the Cubs yesterday. Bill Jurges was reported to have a misery in his stomach, but there may have been complications involving his batting average. Koenig had two errors, neither of which figured in the scoring. He had two hits in four times at bat.

There was nothing exciting about the manner in which the Cubs made four runs in the third. The onslaught was made with two scratch hits in Maranville's precinct, a real hit by Johnny Moore, and an error.

Rabbit Maranville never was a bonecrusher, but he'd been out of the majors about 20 years ago on the kind of slugging he did in the series just closed. Walter went 22 times at bat in the series without getting a hit.

NEW ZEALAND BOY WINS MILE IN EMPIRE GAMES

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Jack Lovelock, 19 year old New Zealand schoolboy, stepped the mile in 4:14 1-5 here tonight to win the feature event of an international meet among members of the Olympic track and field teams of the British empire.

Lovelock rated himself off the pace set by Tom Evenson of Great Britain for three laps, then went to the front with a great sprint and won by 40 yards with L. Wade of Canada third. Lovelock's time was a fifth of a second off the Canadian record, set by Thomas of Great Britain at Hamilton in 1930.

Two Canadian records were broken. Lord David Burghley of Great Britain won the 440 yard hurdles in 55 seconds, clipping four seconds off the record. Wall of Montreal was second and Hall of Hamilton third. Evenson set a new Canadian record for the three miles, which he won in 14:26 2-5. Two of Evenson's team mates, Bruns and Bailey, followed him to the tape.

Tom Hampson, Olympic 800 meter champion, easily won the half mile in 1:54.9. Lieut. Rampling of Great Britain and Walters of South Africa ran a dead heat in the 440 yard run, with Stonely of Great Britain third. The time was 49 seconds. Dan Joubert of South Africa beat Page of Great Britain and Simpson of Montreal in the 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds.

Hackett and Frainey Shoot 75 in Roundup

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

More than two hundred golfing cowpunchers rambled the range of the Glen Oak Country club yesterday in the annual Roundup attempting to brand par 73 on the course, but only Buckaroos John Hackett of the home ranch and Tom Frainey, a visiting cowboy from Columbian, were able to lasso the critter, and then they couldn't apply the iron. Each rode around in 75 to lead the field home at the end of the first 18 holes, which will be concluded today over the same distance.

The best low net efforts for the opening trek were hogtied by Blake Wilson, La Grange, 87—17—70; A. W. May, Glen Oak, 100—30—70, and John Miller, 79—8—71.

Caddy Quartet Entertains.

Par was such a cantankerous animal that even such as John Dawson of Glen Oak, Hank Bowbeer of Riverside, and Art Sweet of Ridgemoor could not get close enough to it. Johnny had a 79, as did Hank, and Art could not do better than 81.

Other Good Rangers.

Among the other front riders for the day were L. H. S. Roblee, Glen Oak, 79—5—74; Doug Tweedie, Glen Oak, 80—2—78; Babe Bunning, Edgewood Valley, 80—1—79; Dr. D. J. Fanning, Edgewood Valley, 80—1—79; Percy F. Kuhlman, Glen Oak, 81—8—73; Del Kroehler, Glen Oak, 82—10—72; J. V. Conway, Glen Oak, 82—8—74; Frank Llewellyn, Glen Oak, 82—3—79; John Morrell, Glen Oak, 82—1—81; W. B. Langford, Glen Oak, 84—9—75; Walter Crowe, Glen Oak, 83—4—79, and Walter Corbley, 83—4—79.

Bunker Hill increased its lead in the Northwest Golf league's meeting at Westward Ho yesterday by defeating Rolling Green, 15½ to 11½, while Park Ridge clung to second place by winning from Ridgemoor, 17½ to 9½. In the other matches Edgewater and Kildeer tied at 13½ each and Westward Ho won from Medinah by default.

Par—Out	444	435	344—35
Par—In	435	454	344—36—71
Sweet—Out	444	444	346—37
Sweet—In	436	454	343—36—73

The standing of the Northwest league is now: Bunker Hill, 67; Park Ridge, 59½; Rolling Green, 59; Edgewater, 58¼; Kildeer, 58½; Westward Ho, 51; Ridgemoor, 50, and Medinah, 31½.

Other leading medal scorers yesterday included Tom Robbins, Park Ridge, 74; Marty Hon, Bunker Hill, 74; George Fairbairn, Park Ridge, 76; Dr. A. O. Young, Park Ridge, 77, and Gordon Peterson, 77.

Morton Grove Police Beat Evanston, 15-5, for Charity

The Morton Grove County Highway Police Baseball team defeated the team from the Evanston police station, 15 to 5, at Mason park, Evanston, yesterday. About 5,000 witnessed the game, paying a total of $1,150, which was turned over to the Evanston Milk Fund for Needy Children. Two former Northwestern university football stars, William Calderwood and Duke Cohen, played on the Evanston police team.

BONDS ADVANCE; RAIL, UTILITIES ISSUES LEAD

BOND AVERAGES

DOMESTIC.
Rails	65.86	+	.99
Industrials	78.82	+	.36
Utilities	74.99	+	.78

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 19.—The advance in bonds, which showed signs of faltering yesterday, was resumed today under the vigorous leadership of speculative rail and utility issues.

Rail issues were stimulated by the declaration of E. G. Buckland, chairman of the Railway Credit corporation, that there would be no major carrier receiverships this year. Considerable interest was also displayed in the meeting of rail executives now being held in Chicago.

Speculative utility bonds rose from one to three points, spreading cheer among investment bankers, since much of the pentup financing must be done for the weaker utility companies.

Demand Becomes General.

Demand was general among rail, industrial and utility bonds, including high grade as well as speculative issues. Buying in the over-the-counter market was described as of good quality, much of it coming from sources outside of New York City.

Failure of local reporting member banks to show an increase in their investments for the past week was not interpreted unfavorably. It was pointed out that the buying thus far has come largely from individuals and that bank buying, when it actually materializes, will give a considerable stimulus to the market.

B. & O. Bonds Higher.

Other substantial advances in rail bonds included B. & O. 5s, Central of Georgia refunding 5½s, Alleghany corporation 5s, Chicago and North Western refunding 5s, Chicago and Western Indiana consolidated 4s, Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, Soo Line consolidated 5s, New York Central debenture 4s, and many others.

Speculative utilities gained substantially in issues of such companies as American Water Works 6s, International Telephone convertible 4½s, Laclede Gas 5½s, International Hydro-Electric 6s and others.

High grade utility bonds moved ahead steadily, attesting the wide demand for issues of that type and the success of bankers in marketing recent new issues.

Texas Gulf Sulphur.

I would very much like to have your opinion on Texas Gulf Sulphur. —W. A. B.

Texas Gulf Sulphur company is the largest producer of native sulphur in the United States. It produces about two-thirds of total output and Freeport Texas produces about one-third. About four-fifths of all native sulphur mined in the world comes from the United States.

The manufacture of acids, paper, chemicals, and fertilizer takes about 90 per cent of sulphur produced. Aside from natural deposits some sulphur is produced from certain pyrite ores and is a by-product from smelter gases. The geological structure of the Texas deposits, however, enables Texas Gulf Sulphur to mine the product at a lower cost than it can be manufactured.

Based on 1930 production the mines have a life of about 40 years. The company has an agreement with a subsidiary of Gulf Oil corporation whereby it can mine this subsidiary's properties, provided profits from production are split equally.

Net income for the first half of 1932, before depletion, was $1,384,000, or $1.22 per common share, against net before depletion of $4,388,000, or $1.73 per share, for the corresponding 1931 period.

Net income [all figures before depletion] for 1931 was $8,943,000, or $3.52 per share, against $13,972,000, or $5.50 per share, for 1930, and $16,247,000, or $6.40 per share, for 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $19,548,000 and current liabilities were $1,532,000. Cash alone was $3,477,900. Working capital was $18,016,000, against $18,233,000 the year before.

With the dividend of 50 cents paid on March 15, 1932, the annual basis was reduced from $3 to the present $2 status. Dividends are only partially a distribution of free surplus. The balance is from the depletion reserve, and is therefore a capital distribution and not subject to federal income tax. The proportion varies.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 2,640,000 shares of no par stock.

As the deposits owned by the company become depleted the management will have to resort more and more to use of leased properties, on which profits are divided. The company's profits are dependent primarily on volume of business, as price is stable. Volume in turn depends on general business activity. The stock is medium grade.

TRADE REPORTS PREDICT GAINS IN U. S. BUSINESS

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Trade reviews for the week are encouraging. The business outlook was reported better than for six months.

Dun's Review finds that the larger stores are doing a slightly heavier business and are reporting an improved demand for fall wearing apparel in the moderate priced and cheaper grades.

"Steady improvement in business sentiment in all lines is being reflected strongly in a broader buying movement," Dun's reports. "The outlook is brighter than at any time in the last six months, and for some branches of activity better than at any time in the last two years.

"Accompanied by further increases in many commodity prices, well sustained security markets, and a wider but somewhat uneven expansion in general industry, wholesale buying has assumed a quicker pace, with orders reaching peak levels in many instances during the week."

Other Business Reports.

The panic phase of the depression definitely has passed and the upswing in stock prices has offset the extreme deflationary effect of the acute currency crisis which marked the spring months, says Business Week.

"In some cases larger orders have resulted," says Bradstreet's. "Retail trade appears somewhat spotted. An unusually large number of reports mention collections as slightly improved, and this can be taken as an extremely encouraging factor. General business activity is only a little better, but that little is enough to arouse considerable hope."

Effects of Credit Pool.

Announcement of the formation of the Commodities Finance corporation yesterday had little visible effect upon commodity and security markets. Bonds advanced. Stocks were down. Commodity markets were generally weaker.

The consensus of opinion in financial circles was that the announcement was a "dud." Preliminary reports had indicated that some sort of commodity pool was contemplated. The statement given out by Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the New Clearing House association, revealed that the plan instead aimed at setting up a $50,000,000 credit group to lend to deserving manufacturers on commodities.

The markets yesterday registered neither cheer at the prospect of a new source of credit nor disappointment with the discovery that the scheme involved no commodity pool.

A "Constructive Step."

Some of the brokers' letters referred to the formation of the Commodities Finance corporation as a "constructive step," or as a "real link between the raw material markets and the manufacturers," but the general opinion in financial circles was that the corporation would not exert much influence for better or for worse.

The reasoning was that if the manufacturer's credit is good he can get credit directly from a bank and if it isn't he can't get bank money indirectly through the finance corporation.

Observers recalled the extension a few weeks ago of the power of the federal reserve banks to permit them to lend to individuals. After the plan was put in operation would-be borrowers discovered that to get loans they were required to have security that would have got them loans at any commercial bank.

Weirton Steel Co. to Junk 17 Coast Artillery Guns

Weirton Steel company, subsidiary of National Steel corporation, has received from the government 17 giant coast artillery guns which will be broken up at the Weirton, W. Va., plant to make more than 6,800,000 pounds of heavy melting scrap. The guns, each the length of three freight cars and mounted on its own wheels, formed one of the largest single freight movements ever made over the Chesapeake and Ohio. This heavy melting scrap will be reserved until a quick increase in production is needed.

ARKANSAS LACKS CASH TO PAY THE INTEREST ON ITS ROAD BONDS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Boatman's National company, one of the St. Louis concerns which sold to customers several million dollars of Arkansas road district bonds, said in a letter sent today to holders of the bonds that it had learned there is "no money available at present" for payment of coupons on the bonds. A plan previously had been worked out whereby the bondholders could exchange the district bonds for new Arkansas revenue bonds, with the holders to receive coupons due on the present bonds.

"Upon presenting for exchange the first lot of bonds transmitted through us," the company's letter said, "we have learned that there is no money available at present for the payment of these coupons.

"The statements which we made were based upon information furnished by the state officials. Since we find that it is incorrect, and that they are unable to give us definite assurance when they will have money for this purpose, we have ordered the road district bonds returned to us."

Utilities Face New Threat of U. S. Control

BY SCRUTATOR.

Are the great public utility companies to suffer the fate the railroads have undergone as the result of governmental regulation and restriction on earnings? Recent events raise this question.

The report made by the federal power commission to the last congress set forth its opinion that federal regulation should be extended to the public utility industry. This governmental bureau stated that "it is convinced that public control of holding companies in the power utility field is absolutely essential."

Almost coinciding with that threat of federal regulation, the Wisconsin public service commission ordered a 12½ per cent reduction in rates of the Wisconsin Telephone company which is controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. It also ordered operating subsidiaries of certain other holding companies to defer payment of dividends.

Long Used by I. C. C.

The order of the Wisconsin commission smacks of a new principle in public utility regulation but one which the interstate commerce commission has enforced from time to time in regulating the railroads. The Wisconsin commission maintains that the telephone company during the current depression "must be content with a more moderate return than is its due in times of normal or more nearly normal business conditions." Reduced purchasing power and the low ebb of business are cited.

Although the public utilities have not been restricted as severely as the railroads, they have been regulated on much the same theory. They have been considered practically in the monopoly class and their rates have been regulated so that only a reasonable return would be earned. Investors have accepted this theory that there should be no large returns in prosperous periods and no losses in depressions.

Stirs Up Radicals.

But the fact that the public utilities have enjoyed relative prosperity during depression has led to attacks on the industry by radical politicians both in congress and state legislatures. The agitators for emergency rate cuts ignore the danger of stopping the flow of new capital necessary for expansion and replacement, and they overlook the fact that public utility earnings, dividend and interest payments tend to stabilize the whole financial structure.

The order of the Wisconsin commission does not suggest that the telephone company will be granted even higher rates when prosperity returns to compensate for the present lower rates. Therefore, it tends to place its utility company in the same category with the railroads which were denied lucrative rates during prosperous periods to offset low earnings in bad times. But even the interstate commerce commission has refused to go as far as the Wisconsin commission as the railroads were granted some increase in rates a few months ago. If the theory of the Wisconsin commission that public utility rates should be lowered in depression be accepted, the principle might be extended to all public regulated enterprises.

UNION CARBIDE TRADE FEATURES CHICAGO MART

Trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday was featured by the activity in Union Carbide shares. Some 7,000 shares appeared on the tape as the price improved moderately to 25.

The principal market for Carbide stock is on the New York exchange, but recently Chicago traders have been attempting to create an active trading place for the stock here. Several years back Chicago was the principal market for the stock, but in recent years it has shifted to New York.

The market generally was irregular yesterday, with losses outnumbering the gains in the closing price list. Trading was lighter, with volume declining to 43,000 shares.

A feature was the rise in Insull Utility debentures to 4¼ during the day. The advance followed the bringing of court action to compel the banks to surrender the collateral of the companies which they hold. If the suit should be successful the debenture holders would stand to benefit.

Int'l Business Machines Gets Walgreen Co. Order

International Business Machines corporation has received an order for 500 electrical recording locks from the Walgreen company, operators of chain drug stores, it was officially announced today. The order, one of the largest of its kind ever placed, calls for immediate installation of recording door locks on the main entrance doors of the 476 stores of the drug chain, located in 119 principal cities of 30 states. The remainder of the order will be installed in additional stores of the Walgreen chain now being established.

Beason Named President of Investment Concern

Ross Beason, chairman of the board of Administrative and Research corporation, New York, sponsors of Corporate Trust Shares, has been elected president of that corporation, according to announcement made late yesterday following a meeting of the board of directors. He will also continue his duties as chairman of the board.

FIGURES TELL MORTGAGE DROP FOR BIG CITIES

Although continuing to decline in dollar volume, the number of mortgages being recorded in the principal metropolitan districts of the country shows a tendency toward stabilization, according to a survey covering June made by Nelson, Hunt & Co., real estate company.

Recordings made in 38 metropolitan districts in June totaled $123,110,039, a slight decline from the May total. Reports from 36 districts where comparative data are available—comprising more than a half the urban population of the nation—gave a total of $119,408,153 real estate mortgages in June as compared with a total of $125,399,037 for May and $212,912,087 for June, 1931. The monthly average for the first six months of this year was $128,667,200.

The June decline was 5 per cent from May and 43 per cent from June, 1931, whereas the June decline from the monthly average was only 7 per cent.

Downward Trend Checked.

"Such a comparison," the report states, "while unfavorable from the standpoint of diminished monthly volume of mortgages recorded is distinctly favorable in other respects, particularly in that the downward trend of the last three years, as evidenced by sharp month to month variations and declines is rapidly losing momentum and approaching a plane of stabilized, if low, activity from which point a gradual return to normal activity can be expected."

Of the cities contained in the survey, thirteen reported a larger volume of real estate mortgages in June than in the previous month of May, and three reported increases over June, 1931. Those with gains over June a year ago were Boston, Hartford, and Minneapolis.

Cities with gains over May were: Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Grand Rapids, Greenwich, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New Britain, New York, White Plains, Rochester, and Waterbury. In Chicago mortgages filed in June, 1932, totaled $16,322,219 in comparison with $12,039,725 in May and $21,587,691 in June, 1931.

REPORT ON FLATS

A report on the financial condition of the Drexel Terrace apartments, 4625-37 Drexel boulevard, for the four months ended May 31, 1932, has been submitted by T. E. Williams of the committee service department of the Chicago Title and Trust company. The report states that cash on hand at the beginning of the period was $7,740.95 and gross income for the period was $7,630.52, giving a total of $15,371.47.

Disbursements included $5,271.37 for operating expenses and $1,437.48 for payments on electrical refrigeration, leaving a cash balance on May 31 of $8,662.62. An original issue of $375,000, since reduced to $291,500, on the property was underwritten by the Greenebaum Sons Investment company. A plan of reorganization was submitted to the bondholders on June 3, 1931, but has not yet been declared operative. The income is being deposited with the Chicago Title and Trust company under an assignment of rents. No receiver has been appointed, the property being managed by a local real estate firm.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 19.—Sir Josiah Stamp, one of the directors of the Bank of England, who arrived here aboard the Orontes on a holiday cruise, has been watching the rise in prices of American hogs and said today he regarded that as one of the indications that the United States had "turned the corner."

"Money," said Sir Josiah, "has become plentiful and cheap in England and the United States, but so far the effect has been disappointing. The reason is that confidence in institutions and in men has disappeared, but with a reasonable recovery of pluck, money will come into circulation and commodity prices must rise as sure as the sun, even in a time when the business men of the world are suffering from craven and mob fear.

"When this fear has passed there will be an inquiry for the money now available and at the same time prices will rise and peoples and countries will begin to be solvent again. There are indications of changes now in London and in Wall street."

NATL. CREDIT CORP. WILL REPAY MORE TO MEMBER BANKS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Aug. 19.—National Credit corporation, the first coöperative experiment of the local clearing house banks, established last October to lend to banks throughout the country on good but nonrediscountable collateral, announced today its seventh partial redemption of its gold note issue in the form of payment of 15 per cent of the amount thereof, payment to be made Aug. 29.

The payment is understood to amount to about $19,000,000 and is the first redemption since June 13. That corporation then redeemed 10 per cent of its gold notes. Originally those totaled $135,000,000. The redemption announced today will make a repayment to the subscribing banks of an aggregate of 80 per cent of such total amount, or $105,000,000, leaving only $30,000,000 of the notes outstanding. On only one previous occasion last March has the corporation redeemed as much as 15 per cent of its notes at one time.

Now that money used by banks during the crop moving season is being repaid, the corporation probably will wind up its affairs more rapidly than before and it appears that all the capital subscribed will be repaid before the end of the year, permitting National Credit's final liquidation.

SET UP REGIONAL FEDERAL FARM CREDIT GROUPS

The farm lending corporations will be set up in land bank district at Columbus, O., with a branch office at Louisville, Ky., at St. Louis with branch offices at Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., and Little Rock; at Minneapolis; at Sioux City, Ia., with a branch at Omaha; at Wichita, Kans., with branches at Oklahoma City, and Denver; at Fort Worth with branches at Houston and San Angelo, Tex.; at Salt Lake City with branch offices at San Francisco and Phoenix, Ariz., and at Spokane with branch offices at Helena, Mont., and Portland, Ore.

Two additional corporations will be established later in the land bank districts at Columbia, South Carolina and New Orleans.

To Resume Negotiations on U. S.-France Trade Truce

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—With United States Ambassador Edge and Premier Herriot both back in Paris after brief holidays, preliminary discussions of the projected Franco-American commercial treaty have entered a more active stage. It is expected that formal talks among the experts can begin on Monday. The premier and the ambassador were luncheon guests of George Blumenthal today and had a chance to exchange friendly greetings and to talk over informally the situation which the French press is watching closely. The newspapers say that negotiations are likely to be prolonged and beset by many difficulties.

ORDER ELECTRIC BOND AND SHARE TO SUPPLY BOOKS TO COMMISSION

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Electric Bond and Share company was ordered by Federal Judge John C. Knox today to supply records subpoenaed by the federal trade commission on Oct. 3, 1928, in connection with an investigation into public utilities corporations. The subpoena duces tecum was issued under authority of a senate resolution directing the investigation into utilities corporations doing business in interstate commerce.

Judge Knox held that, although the Electric Bond and Share company may not itself have been engaged in interstate commerce, its subsidiaries have been so engaged and accordingly bring Electric Bond and Share within the scope of the investigation.

INSULL LOANS REST ON ACTION BY THE COURTS

N. Y. Banks Again Delay Auction.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The efforts to unravel the corporate snarls left behind by Samuel Insull when he surrendered control of his vast utility enterprises will be influenced greatly by the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the collateral dispute between the receivers and the New York banks.

The day to day continuances of the collateral sale by the New York banks indicate that they expect an early opinion from the court. Yesterday another delay in the proposed auction was made until Aug. 22.

Only Part of Pledged Stock.

The collateral involved in the pending legal dispute represents only a fraction of the securities pledged at the banks by the Insull investment trusts. The decision, however, will influence the course of action to be taken by the banks on other Insull collateral.

Only four of the ten New York and Chicago banks holding Insull collateral have attempted to "reduce to possession" the pledges which they hold. The injunction of Federal Judge Lindley restraining the sale was appealed by the banks.

They based their appeal on the argument that the federal court here lacked jurisdiction over collateral which was deposited in New York. They also charged that the delay in the sale resulted in a further loss to the banks because the market value of the collateral depreciated over $3,000,000 after the injunction was issued.

Still Below the Loans.

Early in July when the attorneys for the banks made their plea the market was near its low for the year. Since that time the value of the collateral has appreciated several million dollars, although it still is estimated to be approximately $4,500,000 less than the face value of the loans.

The filing of an intervening petition Wednesday by the Insull Utility Investments debenture holders further complicates the situation. Attorneys for the debenture holders' committee state that if Judge Lindley is reversed on grounds of jurisdiction, they will seek to restrain the sale through the federal courts in New York.

The bill asked that all of the assets pledged by Insull Utility Investment with the banks be impounded by the court and applied for repayment of the debentures. The alleged prior claim of the debenture holders on the collateral had not been asserted formally before. If this claim to priority by the debenture holders is not upheld a rapid dissolution of the both Insull trusts is anticipated.

May Take Same Action.

Corporation Securities company, twin investment firm of Insull Utility, is not directly involved in the latest litigation. Should the Insull debenture holders carry their point, however, it is expected that the note holders of Corporation Securities would take similar action. Two committees representing the note holders have been granted leave to intervene in the receivership litigation.

The New York banks also hold substantial blocks of securities of the eastern operating units of the Middle West Utilities company which will be indirectly affected by the court's decision. Early in July the banks gave notice of their intention of selling this collateral. The plan was abandoned, however, by the bankers after they conferred with Receivers Charles A. McCulloch and Edward N. Hurley.

The loans made to the eastern companies amount to approximately $20,000,000. The security is represented by stocks of the subsidiary operating properties rather than the holding companies. When Insull was being pressed by the banks he substituted the stocks of the operating companies for the holding company shares thus giving the banks virtual control of the eastern system.

Vote Usual Quaker Oats, Armour (Del.) Dividends

Regular dividends were voted yesterday on the common stock of the Quaker Oats company and the preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware. The distribution on Quaker Oats stock amounts to $1 a share, while the Armour payment is $1.75. The Schiff company yesterday declared a common dividend of 25 cents quarterly. This compares with the previous payment of 25 cents a share.

Most Federal Aid to Banks in Small Towns

Providence, R. I., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Most of the banks which have received loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation are located in small towns notwithstanding reports that it was the large city institutions which got most of the corporation's assistance was the statement made in a speech here today by Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Mills was addressing graduates of the Bryant Stratton College of Business.

Mr. Mills stated that the corporation has lent $1,219,000,000 to 4,947 institutions, including 4,190 banks and trust companies in the period between Feb. 2 and July 31.

Classification of Aid.

Of this sum banks and trust companies got $736,000,000, Mr. Mills said, adding that $30,000,000 was given for reorganization or liquidation of 364 closed banks.

14 live stock credit corporations—$8,000,000.

"Of the $1,219,000,000 authorized," the secretary continued, "$976,000,000 had actually been disbursed on July 30, of which $110,000,000 had been repaid. In addition to the above, 500,000 individual loans to farmers, aggregating $65,000,000, have been made by the secretary of agriculture out of the $97,000,000 thus far allocated to him.

"It has been said that the Reconstruction Finance corporation benefits only the great city bank and other large institutions. The contrary is true. The great majority of banks which have borrowed from the corporation are located in small towns. Specifically, on July 30, 70 per cent of the banks to which loans had been authorized were in towns of less than 5,000 population; 86 per cent were in towns of less than 25,000 population, and 90 per cent were in towns of less than 50,000.

Many Banks Helped.

"Looking at it from another angle, we find that loans have been authorized to more than 20 per cent of all the banks in the country, these banks having about 15,000,000 of the forty million bank depositors in the United States. These have been directly affected by the corporation's loans to banks while the other 25,000,000 have benefited indirectly by the corporation's activities in preventing the fire from spreading."

"Men may not look to the immediate economic future with complete assurance," Mr. Mills remarked, "but today they are at least facing it unafraid. Our ship has come through a financial hurricane with much suffering, some broken spars, torn sails and wreckage on deck but the hull is sound and neither crew nor passengers doubt that we shall come safely to port."

Receivers Asked in Suits Against Trucking Lines

Toledo, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Appointment of receivers for the Liberty Highway company and the Ohio Motor Freight Lines, Inc., was asked in motions filed tonight in federal court here. The bills of complaint ask that the receivers be empowered to continue operation of the companies. James F. Graves, Detroit, filed the motion against the Liberty Highway company and the Mack International Motor Truck corporation, New York, the motion against the other company. Both companies have their principal offices in Toledo. The Liberty Highway company operates in Ohio and Michigan.

Forecasts Smaller Pack of Salmon at Alaska Plants

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Alaska salmon pack this year was estimated at 4,500,000 cases, compared with an average of 5,400,000 cases, by Henry O'Malley, United States commissioner of fisheries, here today. He said the value of the output should be $25,000,000, compared with an average of over $40,000,000.

U. S. JULY REVENUE SMALLER DESPITE THE NEW TAXES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The new taxes contributed more than 3 per cent of the federal income of $61,686,467 in July, 1932. Income taxes gave $17,457,131, cigarets, $28,605,437, and chewing and smoking tobacco, $4,373,873. The total for July, 1931, was $74,169,258.

Among the new sources are the two cent tax on bank checks that in July yielded $1,094,287, one cent a gallon on gasoline providing $539,461; various rates on brewers' wort, malt, and grape concentrate, $221,359; tires and tubes, $96,057; soft drinks, $89,569; automobiles and motorcycles, $47,629; radios, $32,848; electrical energy, $32,196; toilet preparations, $68,860; candy and chewing gum, $52,824, and safe deposit boxes, $45,848.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Aug. 19.—Work of organizing the Commodities Finance corporation, to facilitate the purchase, carrying, and marketing of commodities for borrowers who are unable to obtain credit accommodations through the usual banking channels, was pushed forward today. A board of 19 directors was named, an executive of each of the banks subscribing to the corporation's $50,000,000 note issue.

The directors, announced by Mortimer N. Bruckner, head of the New York Clearing House association, are:

J. C. Traphagen, president Bank of New York and Trust company.
F. A. Goodhue, president Bank of Manhatian Trust company.
G. H. Rentschler, president National City bank.
P. H. Johnston, president Chemical Bank and Trust company.
W. C. Potter, president Guaranty Trust company.
H. D. Gibson, president Manufacturers' Trust company.
G. W. Davison, president Central Hanover Bank and Trust company.
D. B. Sherer, president Corn Exchange Bank Trust company.
J. B. Reynolds, president First National bank.
H. E. Ward, president Irving Trust company.
F. E. Hasler, chairman of executive committee, Continental Bank and Trust company.
C. S. McCain, chairman of the board, Chase National bank.
Theodore Hetzler, president Fifth Avenue bank.
S. Sloan Colt, president Bankers' Trust company.
J. G. Blaine, president Marine Midland Trust company.
M. N. Bruckner, president New York Trust company.
H. P. Howell, president Commercial National Bank and Trust company.
E. C. Garsten, president Public National Bank and Trust company.
G. V. McLaughlin, president Brooklyn Trust company.

The list includes one institution outside the clearing house, the Brooklyn Trust company. Three clearing house members, Title Guarantee and Trust company, Lawyers' Trust company, and the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, are not included among the subscribers.

COMPACT LINKS TWO STANDARD OIL CONCERNS

The stormy career of the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, which so far this year has seen a change in management as the result of a fight made by a potent stockholders' committee, apparently came to a close today. Announcement was made that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has agreed to purchase the Kansas company's pipe line system and refinery for $3,400,000.

News of the purchase agreement was made public in a joint statement issued by E. G. Seubert, president of Standard of Indiana, and C. B. Wrightsman, president of the Kansas company. The agreement was described as subject to approval of stockholders of the Kansas company at a special meeting Sept. 26.

"The purchase involves only certain physical properties of the Kansas company and not acquisition of Standard of Kansas," the announcement said. "The Kansas company will retain the producing properties and various other assets."

It was pointed out in oil circles that the pipe line properties of the company are all it owns aside from 15,000 acres of oil and gas leases, bought about three years ago. Standard of Kansas was one of the original Standard Oil group and in 1911 it was segregated from the parent company and operated as a refining organization.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Aug. 19.—Stocks eased off in the late trading today after an early rise in response to the overnight announcement of the organization of the widely heralded bankers' pool to extend credit for the buying of raw materials. The market leaders finished 1 to 3 points below previous closing levels.

Week-end realizing accounted for a good measure of the selling. Board room gossip, however, indicated that the financial community's enthusiasm over the pool was not as great as it was supposed in some quarters to be. The pool's market influence appeared to have been discounted thoroughly by the advance propaganda in its behalf. At any rate the buying flurry officially ascribed to the announcement was short lived. Discussion of the project as a market factor was as flat as it was brief.

Other Markets Lower.

The reaction in wheat and the indifference of the cotton market to efforts exerted in its behalf operated on the side of declining prices in the later afternoon. Turnover was around 2,200,000 shares.

Railroad shares set the pace in the early upswing, getting inspiration from the assurance of E. G. Buckland, chairman of the Railway Credit corporation, that there would be no major railroad receiverships this year. Buying was particularly spirited among the issues selling from $10 to $30 a share—which unfortunately includes the bulk of the group—for a time. Southern Pacific had the additional benefit of a forecast that its car loadings figures for the week would exceed those of any week of the year so far. Some cheerful words emanating from high authority on Canada's prospective future likewise was to the advantage of Canadian Pacific. That stock was turned over in heavy volume at prices running as much as 2 points above yesterday's final. Texas and Pacific rose 18 points on one sale.

Suffer Later Decline.

The enthusiasm for the carriers, however, was not sufficient to bolster them against the late afternoon selling wave and final prices in that department were generally 1 to 2 points lower.

Preferred stocks gave their customary demonstration of strength. Those of American Power and Light, Illinois Central railroad, Electric Power and Light, Chicago and North Western, Crucible Steel, Standard Gas, and others scoring advances of from 3 to 5 points or more.

Consolidated Gas continued to carry on in the utilities division, although the rest of the group sold off rather easily under pressure. Consolidated has been on a high horse for several days.

Oils, coppers and motors drifted lazily about most of the session, showing little activity either on the early morning bulge or the final hour setback. The range was likewise narrow in the amusements and chemicals.

WINNIPEG LEADS WHEAT DECLINE IN MART HERE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Concentrated buying of wheat futures, responsible for the sharp bulge in futures, was absent yesterday. With a weakened technical position, the local market was unable to withstand any selling of consequence. While there were stories of improvement in the export demand, they were overshadowed by the prospect of heavy hedging sales against the movement of new Canadian grain.

At no time were wheat prices higher than the finish of the previous day. There was sufficient pressure from scattered traders to force a decline of 1⅜@1⅝c from the high point. A rally came toward the last but the finish was with a heavy and distrustful feeling with net losses of 1⅜@1¼c. September closed at 50¾@50⅞c; December, 54¼@54⅝c, and May, 59⅛@59¼c.

Winnipeg Leads Decline.

Winnipeg developed pronounced weakness in the last few minutes of trading. Wheat futures in that Canadian market closed 1¾@2c lower, with December at 57¾c in Canadian funds, and only 3½c over the same delivery in Chicago. Hedging pressure was given as the cause of the decline.

Deliveries of 1,240,000 bu were reported at interior points in the three prairie provinces on Thursday, which compared with 437,000 bu last year. There was a fair class of buying at Winnipeg early against export sales of around 800,000 bu in all positions, but the demand let up toward the close.

A good inquiry for hard winters was claimed at the seaboard, but there were no sales of consequence, and the weakness in Winnipeg put the Canadian grain at a moderate discount under the American. Liverpool was ⅜@¾c higher with December at 56⅝c.

Carryover Sets Record.

The world's carryover of wheat on July 1, 1932, as estimated by the department of agriculture, was the largest on record, being 669,000,000 bu, an increase of 13,000,000 bu over 1931, and compared with 569,000,000 bu in 1930. The total world's disappearance during the 1931-'32 season is placed at around 3,825,000,000 bu, or 27,000,000 bu less than that in 1930-'31.

The trade was somewhat surprised by the liberal carryover, as it had anticipated a fair reduction in view of the low prices which have prevailed for some time past and the heavy live stock feeding in North America. It is officially estimated around 210,000,000 bu were consumed in the United States and Canada as feed last season.

Wheat traders again ignored the reports regarding the formation of a commodity loan corporation in the east, as cash handlers, millers and others have had little or no difficulty in securing all the financial assistance they need to carry supplies of grain. Movement of wheat in the American northwest is reported as falling off in the sections where harvesting has been completed due to the pronounced holding tendency on the part of farmers.

Corn Market Weakens.

Corn futures again held within narrow limits and in the main followed wheat. Closing trades were at net losses of ⅝c with September at 31¼@31⅜c; December, 32⅞c, and May, 37½c. Country offerings were fair, but the decline prevented any gain of consequence being booked to arrive. The eastern demand remained relatively slow.

Hedging pressure was again in evidence in oats toward the last and uncovered some stop loss orders. The September and May sold at equal to the lowest figures of the season with the December at a new low, the latter touching 17⅞c. The close was at the bottom with net losses of ⅝@½c, September being 16¼c; December, 17⅞@18c, and May, 20⅝c. Rye lost ⅞@1¼c with wheat. September was 30¼c; December, 33⅝c, and May, 38⅜c at the last.

COTTON LOWER

Cotton made a weak close at the lowest point of the day after showing a fair amount of strength. The weakness in grains, combined with profit taking and increased general pressure, carried prices down. The close was around the inside figures. Japanese interests were credited with buying liberally at the opening, while Liverpool, Wall street and local professionals were the best sellers. The close on futures in Chicago were at net losses of 8 to 13 points, with other markets off 8 to 14 points. Spots declined 10 points to 7.50c in New York, 7.35c in New Orleans, and 7.25c in Galveston and Houston. Liverpool closed 11@14 points net lower.

Spinners' takings of American cotton for the week were 211,000 bales, against 174,000 bales the previous week and 121,000 bales last year. Intosight movement for the week, 118,000 bales, compared with 100,413 bales the previous week and 84,442 bales last year. The American consul at Manchester, England, says, "Distinct gains in exports of cotton cloth by world's leading producers during the first half of this year as compared with like period 1931 are held to constitute an important factor in world trade conditions." Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 300; hogs, 5,000; sheep, 2,000.

Hogs scored another recovery yesterday on good eastern buying. The extreme top moved up 10c to $4.90, while the general average showed a 5c gain at $4.20. Prices, however, are still 25@30c lower than a week ago. The break in hog prices earlier in the week was severe and the recovery has been slow, although during the last two days both receipts and weather conditions have been in favor of higher pork.

The week's market, as a whole, is averaging lowest since the week of June 25. Only a small share of the loss has been regained. However, the clearance on yesterday's session was better than on any preceding day this week, only a few pen holders remaining at the finish. Buying by shippers accounted for about 25 per cent of the day's fresh receipts. Offerings were smallest of the week, while eastern buying orders were largest since Monday of last week.

Cattle Supplies Light.

Cattle supplies were exceptionally light even for a Friday. Only 1,000 head were offered, hardly enough to put the trade to a test, and buying and selling was somewhat "catch as catch can." The clearance was as good as usual for Friday. Nothing outstanding in quality was offered. The best steers on the market averaged 1,252 lbs at $8.70. Butcher stock comprised most of the meager cattle supply and sold slowly at shade lower prices on the cleanup session. Calves were slightly lower and bulls also sold weak to a little lower.

With the exception of the high quality beef steers carrying weight, bulk of cattle are selling lower than a week ago. The rank and file of medium grades show losses of 25@50c for the week. Butcher stock declined 25@50c early in the week, but since then have recovered about 25c of the loss.

BUTTER AND EGGS EASY

Further losses were recorded in butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter dropping back ¾c and eggs ¼c. Early support carried prices slightly higher, but selling gained steadily near the close. Eggs came in for active selling and liquidation, statistical reports proving less favorable. Heavy receipts, steadily gaining stock and a cut of 1,200 cases in the four market shortage contributed to the nervousness. Butter did not receive as much selling attention as has been the case of late, although the storage figures continued bearish. The four market shortage was reduced another 750,000 lbs, which brought the holdings to within 300,000 lbs of last year. Sales: Butter, 50 cars; eggs, 107 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 6 cars. RAW SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—There was no material change in the raw sugar market today, but offerings were a little more liberal and prices declined 1 point to the basis of 3.17c for spots. Sales reported included 28,100 bags of Porto Rican for September shipments, 45,000 bags of Philippines for August arrival and 20,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment at 3.18c and 3,500 bags of Cuban from store at 3.17c. Price changes in futures were irregular but after showing declines of 2 to 5 points rallies followed with the market closing net unchanged to 3 points lower. October showed the maximum decline. The day's business aggregated 11,950 tons. Prices follow:

Futures closed steady. October, 5.62d; December, 5.64d; January, 5.60d; March, 5.72d; May, 5.75d; July, 5.80d.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Cotton gray goods continued fairly active at strong prices. Finished goods were advancing. Rayon cloths were in good demand and nearby deliveries were scarce. Raw silk dropped 7½c to 10c on yen exchange fluctuations. Raw wool was steady. Burlap dropped 5 points on lower Calcutta cables.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Bearish sentiment predominated at the close of the wheat market. That was based largely on big receipts and high estimates for the Canadian crop. The disposition on the part of traders was to consider wheat prices as too high, taken in connection with other markets of the world. While Canadian farmers apparently are marketing their wheat more freely those in Minnesota and the Dakotas are holding their grain for higher prices. It was said that bids were bought most generally late in the day and that the pit element had little if any wheat bought, while the short interest has increased.

"From a domestic standpoint alone it would almost seem," says J. E. Bennett & Co., "that our wheat market will require constant support to maintain those levels."

Referring to the weakness in the Winnipeg wheat market W. E. Danley, with Mitchell Hutchins & Co., said, "October declined to within ¾c of 55c level at which it was supported when our market was at the season's lows."

Winnipeg reported that the buying of wheat was by exporters and aggregated almost 1,000,000 bushels. The selling was largely by Chicago houses on spreads.

An estimate on the western Canadian crop of wheat received by Norris & Co., gives Alberta 150,000,000 bushels, Saskatchewan 242,000,000 bushels and Manitoba 49,000,000 bushels, a total of 451,000,000 bushels. Last years' crop was 384,000,000 bushels.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Demand for fresh eggs was less active and the market showed an easy undertone, although prices were little changed. Receipts, 6,893 cases. Butter was steady to ½c lower with receipts, 11,400 tubs. Live hens, springers, and broiler-fryer broilers were ½c lower. Receipts, 3 cars and 29 trucks. Potatoes were about steady. Receipts, 37 cars with 140 cars on team track.
